WAVE OF COLD TAKES HEAVY U. S. TOLL

COMPELLED BY ILL HEALTH TO LEAVE CHILE

General Forced To Give Up Supervision Of Tacna-Arica Plebiscite -- Physician Recommends That He Depart By January 15.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—Because of failing health, Gen. John J. Pershing is expected to return here within the next month from Arica, Chile, where he is representing President Coolidge in the Chilean-Peruvian arbitration over Tacna-Arica.

His physician has recommended he begin the homeward trip not later than January 15, and he may depart from Arica before that date if proper arrangements can be made.

Details of the general's illness are not known here, but reports reaching Washington have somewhat alarmed his friends in the capital. There has been a marked increase in blood pressure, in addition to complications resulting from infected teeth. He is in his sixty-sixth year.

Although Washington officials declined to make any announcement regarding General Pershing's return to the United States, there were evidences that his departure from South America would in no sense be a diplomatic retreat from an international situation which has become embarrassing.

Steps will be taken to continue so far as possible the work he has been doing as head of the Tacna-Arica plebiscitary commission.

Except for minor troubles, the former commander of the American World war army had enjoyed unusually good health for a man of his years up to the time of his departure last July for South America.

As a precaution, however, Maj. Glenn I. Jones of the army medical corps, was detailed to accompany him. Some weeks ago Major Jones reported the general should make a trip to this country to have some dental work done, but his situation was not considered sufficiently serious to make mandatory his withdrawal from the tangled Tacna-Arica controversy which was passing just then through one of its most delicate phases.

All Arrangements Made.

It was decided that he should remain in Arica for the time being, although all arrangements had been made to bring him back to the United States on the cruiser Rochester should the trip be found necessary.

Since then the Rochester has been replaced at Arica by the cruiser Denver, and it is assumed the general will make the homeward voyage on that vessel.

Lincoln Relatives Not Advised.

General Pershing's relatives in Lincoln have had no direct word from him of his reported intention to return to the United States from Chile.

Miss Mae Pershing and Mrs. D. M. Butler received a letter from him Monday morning, but such a decision as the Washington dispatch indicates was probably reached after the letter was written, they believed.

Pershing To Leave Arica

GEN. JOHN J. PERSHING.

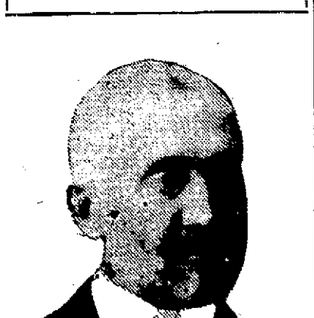

Supervisor of the arbitration efforts in the Tacna-Arica dispute, who is compelled to leave his headquarters in Chile and return to the United States in the near future because of failing health, according to Washington advices.

Three Hurt In Gas Tank Blast

BOSTON, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Three men were injured when an acetylene gas tank exploded on board the U. S. S. Florida, now in drydock at the Charlestown navy yard. The explosion, the cause of which has not been determined, dislodged several pipes and was followed by fire, which was extinguished with slight damage.

Jacob Onsen of Waverly, a rigger, was the most seriously injured, his left ear drum being punctured. Roy Eaton of Dorchester, a ship fitter, and Everett Manty of Quincy, a driller, were burned about the hands and face.

DEATH CLAIMS VICTOR LYFORD

RAN FOR CONGRESS AS A PROGRESSIVE

(Special to The Star.)

FALLS CITY, Neb., Dec. 8.—Victor G. Lyford, 66, former president of the University of Nebraska board of regents, candidate for congress on the progressive ticket in the first district in 1912 and president of the Federation of Nebraska Retailers in 1923 and 1924 dropped dead in his store at 9 a. m. Monday. Death was believed due to heart trouble.

Mr. Lyford was born at Neponset, Ill., on Aug. 16, 1859. He attended Hedding college at Abingdon, Ill., and later at Northwestern university, where he was a classmate of William Jennings Bryan and A. R. Talbot, of Lincoln in the law college. Soon after leaving college he formed a law partnership with Talbot, who later became legally associated with Bryan, but he did not practice law long and returned to Neponset to enter business. He later went to Humphrey, Neb., and in 1899 came to Falls City where he established Lyford's Ladies ready-to-wear store.

The year after his arrival here he was elected to the local school board and two years later was elected member of the state university board of regents, holding that office for 13 years, longer than anyone else, and being elevated to the presidency of the board in his last term. Although a friend of Bryan, he never voted for him and always remained a republican. His chief venture into politics was when he ran for congressman in 1912. Though running on the progressive ticket he polled 2,000 votes. He also served as mayor of Falls City five years ago.

On Sept. 24, 1885, he was married in Illinois to Florence N. Willitts, who with six daughters, all married, survives him.

Two Terms as Regent.

During Mr. Lyford's two terms as regent of the University of Nebraska, from 1906 to 1912 and 1912 to 1918, he was active in furthering the development of the institution in every way, Chancellor S. Avery said. In that period came the controversy over removal of the university to the agricultural campus, the expansion of the present city campus with many new buildings, the development of the agricultural campus and the farm, and expansion at the Omaha medical college.

DEATH COMES TO DR. T. F. BRITT

Medical Practitioner for Forty-one Years Passes Away Sunday.

Dr. Thomas F. Britt, 69, passed away at a local hospital Sunday evening after a six weeks' illness. He had been a medical practitioner for forty-one years and in 1888 when he came to Lincoln, treated the first case received at St. Elizabeth's hospital.

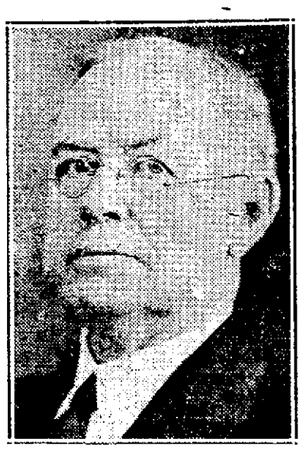

Dr. Britt was graduated from the Lyola medical school at Chicago in 1884 and moved to Robinson, Colo. After living in Lincoln for two years, he went to Burwell until 1919, then returned here. He continued his work until his last illness.

He was a member of the Knights of Columbus and Tribe of Ben Hur.

Besides his widow, Mary, Dr. Britt leaves three daughters, Mrs. Clay E. De Lashmutt of Sterling, Colo., Mrs. Julius R. White of Aurora, and Mrs. George O'Brien of Grafton.

The body is at Splain & Schnell's chapel.

Admirers Say He Would Have Regarded 1925 As Happiest Year Since Armistice, With Progress Toward Real Peace.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—Calling 1925 a "Woodrow Wilson" year because of the progress made toward international peace, his admirers are marking today, which would have been his 69th birthday, as a national event by dinners and other testimonials in his honor.

The postoffice department has joined in the spirit of the day by placing on sale the new 17-cent Wilson memorial stamp here, in Washington, Princeton and Staunton, Va., the war president's birthplace, today for the first time.

At Amherst, a collection of records and personal letters of Wodrow Wilson has been placed on exhibition. Princeton university has compiled information about him which shows that he held more university degrees than any other person of modern times, including eighteen from American and nine from foreign institutios of learning. He was also an honorary citizen of eight European cities and a field marshal in the Brazilian army.

Dinners in Many Cities.

The Woodrow Wilson national commemoration committee has announced dinners in his honor here and in 500 cities. Among those invited to sit at the speaker's table at the New York dinner are Mrs. Wilson, Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, and Franklin D. Roosevelt. Ignace Jan

PROMISES BREAK IN COLD TUESDAY

After a record low mark so far this winter in Lincoln of 6 degrees below zero reached at 7 a. m. Sunday, promise of moderation of the cold wave which has gripped the middlewest for several days was given by the weather bureau Monday morning. Rising temperature Tuesday with generally fair skies in this vicinity was the forecast.

The warmer weather would extend over the state, is was predicted, but there would be some cloudiness in other sections of Nebraska.

Zero was the low mark reached here Monday morning, at 2 and 3 o'clock, and the same minimum was forecast for Monday night. By 7 a. m. Monday the theremeter had reached 3 above and was continuing its rise. The highest point Sunday, in the middle of the afternoon, was 5 above.

Valentine reported the lowest temperature in the state Sunday night, 14 below. Sioux City reported -4, Omaha -2, and North Platte -2. No snow was reported.

The cold area is extending eastward, the weather bureau report said and warmer weather is appearing generally west of the Rockies and in western Canada. On the Gulf coast and in Florida the theremeter has reached the twenties.

A. P. Changes Wire Routings

CHICAGO, Dec. 28. — (AP) — A change in routing of some of the wires of the Associated Press was made effective last night bringing into close contact all the granger states of the northwest.

The leased wires that formerly ran from Chicago to Milwaukee, St. Paul and Minneapolis, were extended to include Des Moines and Omaha with a contact on one circuit with Kansas City. This latter connection was made to allow a free interchange of news between the southwest and the northern Mississippi valley states.

The wire which formerly ran through Des Moines and Omaha to serve the Pacific coast will hereafter be filed from Kansas City, allowing a faster movement to middle western states and the coast.

INQUEST IN BERRY DEATH

DIES AFTER BEING STRUCK BY TAXI

FIXES NO BLAME.

"Albert C. Berry came to his death as the result of an unavoidable accident when he was struck down by a cab driven by H. L. Gordon" was the verdict returned by a coroner's jury Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

An inquest into the death of Albert C. Berry, Lincoln dry-goods man who was knocked down near Eleventh and O streets Saturday night by a taxi-cab, got under way at 1:30 o'clock Monday afternoon at Roberts chapel, in charge of Assistant County Attorney Farley Young.

Members of the coroner's jury were: F. L. Neu, Ray Wagner, Frank Jackson, E. S. Wolfenbarger, Will Anderson and A. E. Adams.

Witnesses to be called were E. Herpolsheimer, who saw the accident, H. L. Gordon, 353 South Twenty-fifth street, the taxi driver, and Dr. J. C. Thompson, who cared for the injured man before he died.

Dr. Oliver Everett stated that Mr. Berry suffered a ruptured liver and other internal injuries.

Mr. Gordon said that he was going north on Eleventh street when he saw Mr. Berry apparently come out from the alley on the west side of the street.

"I was going about 11 or 12 miles an hour and honked my horn," he said. "He seemed to stop and wait. I think he saw me. Just as I got to him he slipped and fell, either forward or backward. The left front wheel of my car passed over him."

The car was stopped so quickly that the back wheel did not pass over the man, according to Gordon.

Mr. Berry, who was 65 years old and a linen buyer for Gold & Co., was going from the store to his home at 1224 K street when the accident occurred. He was crossing the street about the middle of the block it was said, and was knocked underneath the north-bound taxi. The driver and a passenger picked up and took him to the Lincoln Sanitarium, where he died five hours afterwards.

Preparing to Move.

Mr. Berry had resigned from his position at Gold & Co., and was planning to go to California the first of the year.

The accident victim had been a resident of Lincoln for more than eleven years. He came here as a buyer for the Herpolsheimer company in 1914, remaining at that position for nine years. He took a position as buyer of linen and white goods at Gold's more than two years ago.

Mr. Berry was born in Kentucky and lived in Roodhouse, Ill., during his boyhood. He lived in Chicago, Champaign, and Jacksonville, Ill., and from there moved to Lincoln.

Mr. Berry is survived by his wife, Marie and a daughter, Francis Virginia, at home, two sons, Harris of Los Angeles and Parke, of New York, a brother at Roodhouse, Ill.

NORRIS WILL BACK COURT

Nebraskan Advises Senator Curtis He Will Vote for World Tribunal — First Break In Ranks of League of Nations Foes.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28. — (By the Associated Press.) — Senator George W. Norris, republican, Nebraska, one of the senate "irreconcilables" in the League of Nations fight, has advised Senator Curtis, republican leader, that he will vote for American adherence to the World court.

The World court issue, under debate when congress recessed for the holidays will again be before the chamber when it reconvenes on January 4, with the expectation that a vote may be taken before the month ends.

The senator's action in notifying Mr. Curtis was the first indication of a break in the ranks of the remaining senate foes of the League of Nations. Supporters of proposed American participation in the court have contended, however, that a roll call would draw affirmative votes from two-thirds of the chamber without assistance from the irreconcilable group, now led by Senator Borah, republican, Idaho.

Senator Norris, while inclined to approve of the League of Nations, had opposed it because of certain conditions included in the peace treaty of Versailles.

SEES MUCH OF ENCOURAGEMENT IN 1926 OUTLOOK

W. A. Day Declares Tax Reductions Will Stimulate Employment.

BY W. A. DAY.

President Equitable Life Insurance society of United States.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(I. N. S.)—There is much of encouragement in the outlook for 1926. Life insurance never rendered the country more signal service than at present in stabilizing the economic and social fabric. Its response to the manifold commercial and individual needs is an outstanding chapter in present day history.

That service now reaches into factory, office, mine, railroad, school and university as effectively as does its service of the individual home and fireside. And I believe we are on the threshold of significant changes and expansion of that service.

In 1925, by wise distribution of funds in careful investment in all sections of the country, the insurance companies contributed to stability and upbuilding of local communities.

Propose France Be Given Terms Equal To Those of Italy

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Intention to introduce a joint resolution to give France "most favored war debts was announced last night by Representative Andrew, republican, Massachusetts, who said he would present it when congress reconvenes January 4.

Mr. Andrew, who served through the entire European war, first with the French and later with the American Red Cross, proposes in his resolution to assure to France the same terms agreed upon with Italy, or if lower terms are allowed any other nation, those would become the terms of the French settlement.

Grain Exports Show Decrease

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Grain exports from the United States last week amounted to 1,141,000 bushels as compared with 1,238,000 bushels the previous week.

Commerce department reports today gave the following comparisons of last week's exports against those of the week before:

Wheat, 186,000 bushels against 349,000 bushels; rye, 17,000 against 29,000; oats, 34,000 against 302,000; corn, 747,000 against 396,000; barley, 157,000 against 171,000.

Canadian grain exported from United States ports last week amounted to 4,773,000 bushels against 5,737,000 the week before, while last week's exports of North American wheat flour were 140,000 barrels, against 174,000 the week before.

NEARLY THIRTY DEAD AND FIRE DAMAGE LARGE

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—Astronomers, with their eyes on sun spots and other solar phenomena, and weather prophets, who recently warned of bitter cold weather the latter part of December, have seen their predictions come true.

Sweeping out of the northwest like Valkyries bent on destruction, the icy winds of winter time have invaded almost every section of the United States and Canada, leaving death and destruction as a weekend aftermath.

From the Rocky mountains to the Atlantic seaboard freezing and sub-zero temperatures prevailed, with virtually no relief in sight today, but with some moderation promised Tuesday. The cold, sweeping from the northland pushed even into the heart of Dixie and beyond to the northern reaches of Florida.

Nearly thirty deaths were attributed to the cold, accidents were numerous, property valued at several millions was destroyed by fire and great suffering was caused among the poor and homeless. In the east particularly the low temperatures brought home the seriousness of the hard coal strike, now in its seventeenth week. Below zero temperatures were recorded in several parts of Pennsylvania and other anthracite producing regions.

Quakes In Mexico.

While most of the continent was in the grip of the cold wave, elemental manifestations of other kinds were noted in other parts of the world. Lightning incidental to a violent storm set fire to several petroleum tanks at Buenos Aires, causing damage estimated at $1,000,000. Severe earthquakes were felt in several localities in Vera Cruz, Mexico, while storms continued to exact a heavy toll in France. At Larochelle, a fishing boat foundered, drowning seven, and melting snow gorged the streams causing serious floods.

Eskimo Says "It's Cold."

At New York City, where the mercury hovered around 7 above most of Sunday, the weather was biting enough to cause Robert Mayokowk, a visiting Eskimo from Alaska and points north, to say "eet is cold."

Most of Canada shivered with the United States, the northern commonwealth experiencing one of the coldest weekends in years, with the mercury 24 to 25 below in some sections. One note of contrast, however, was provided by West Kootenay, in British Columbia which reported "spring like weather," a green Christmas and growing grass.

The cold weather directly or indirectly cause thirteen deaths in Chicago, while the midwest metropolis saw more than a million dollars worth of property destroyed by fire in two days. Five hundred alarms were answered here since Sunday. The fatalities included four men found frozen to death in the streets.

Many Lives Taken.

Three deaths occurred at various points in Ohio and three in Kentucky, with other casualties distributed as follows New York City, Rensselaer, N. Y., and Baltimore, 2 each; Philadelphia, Worcester, Mass., Yonkers, N. Y., and Toronto, one each.

In Philadelphia an aged lamp lighter, lone survivor of another day, fell from a post in tons of the old fashioned streets. He was carried to a hospital where he died of exposure.

MAKE A STUDY OF POTATO DISEASES

Scientists From all Parts of U. S and Canada Meet Here.

Find Every Producing Section is Facing the Same Problem.

Scientists from every potato district in United States met today at the Agricultural College to get together on their big common problem of controlling the degeneraton diseases of potatoes. They came from Maine to California, from Washington to Florida, from Canada, and Dr. Huss, noted European scientist, came from Budapest in Hungary to discuss together for the first time why the lowly potato "runs out," as the farmers say.

They banquet this evening at the Home Economy building at the college and will leave tonight for Kansas City where the annual meeting of the American Society for the Advancement of Science opens tomorrow morning.

Each of these thirty-seven men had sent seed infected with disease being studied in his district to the Nebraska research men, Mr. Pelteir and Professor Goss last fall. The seed was planted in a green house on the college campus and grown so the men could spend the morning studying the plants and comparing them with those from other sections of the country. "They are finding that every potato section of the country has the same disease problems," Dr. Pelteir said during the morning.

GOL. COOLIDGE IS CONFINED TO BED

Father of President Has Been Unable to Leave Home for Several Days.

PLYMOUTH, Vt., Dec. 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—Col. John C. Coolidge, father of the president, was confined to his bed today because he had lost the use of his right leg due to faulty circulation. Dr. Albert C. Cram of Bridgewater, his personal physician, said his patient's condition was not to be considered serious.

Dr. Cram visited the Coolidge home here twice yesterday and twice today. Shortly after noon today on leaving for his home in Bridgewater the physician said he had found the condition of Colonel Coolidge "about the same."

Colonel Coolidge who was seriously ill several weeks ago from a condition described as "heart block" has had several heart attacks recently, but none of them were of a serious nature, his physician said. The poor circulation from which he now is suffering, the physician said, was caused by the heart affection.

Colonel Coolidge has been confined to his house several days and has been in bed since Saturday.

DEATH CLAIMS VICTOR LYFORD

RAN FOR CONGRESS AS A PROGRESSIVE

(Special to The Star.)

FALLS CITY, Neb., Dec. 8.—Victor G. Lyford, 66, former president of the University of Nebraska board of regents, candidate for congress on the progressive ticket in the first district in 1912 and president of the Federation of Nebraska Retailers in 1923 and 1924 dropped dead in his store at 9 a. m. Monday. Death was believed due to heart trouble.

Mr. Lyford was born at Neponset, Ill., on Aug. 16, 1859. He attended Hedding college at Abingdon. Ill., and later at Northwestern university, where he was a classmate of William Jennings Bryan and A. R. Talbot, of Lincoln in the law college. Soon after leaving college he formed a law partnership with Talbot, who later became legally associated with Bryan, but he did not practice law long and returned to Neponset to enter business. He later went to Humphrey, Neb., and in 1899 came to Falls City where he established Lyford's Ladies ready-to-wear store.

The year after his arrival here he was elected to the local school board and two years later was elected member of the state university board of regents, holding that office for 13 years, longer than anyone else, and being elevated to the presidency of the board in his last term. Although a friend of Bryan, he never voted for him and always remained a republican. His chief venture into politics was when he ran for congressman in 1912. Though running on the progressive ticket he polled 2,000 votes. He also served as mayor of Falls City five years ago.

On Sept. 24, 1885, he was married in Illinois to Florence N. Willitts, who with six daughters, all married, survives him.

Two Terms as Regent.

During Mr. Lyford's two terms as regent of the University of Nebraska, from 1906 to 1912 and 1912 to 1918, he was active in furthering the development of the institution in every waq, Chancellor S. Avery said. In that period came the controversy over removal of the university to the agricultural campus, the expansion of the present city campus with many new buildings, the development of the agricultural campus and the farm, and expansion at the Omaha medical college.

MANY HONORS PAID WILSON

What Would Have Been 69th Birthday of War-Time Head of Nation Observed With Dinner in 500 Cities.

MORE DEGREES THAN ANY OTHER PRESIDENT

Admirers Say He Would Have Regarded 1925 As Happiest Year Since Armistice, With Progress Toward Real Peace.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—Calling 1925 a "Woodrow Wilson" year because of the progress made toward international peace, his admirers are marking today, which would have been his 69th birthday, as a national event by dinners and other testimonials in his honor.

The postoffice department has joined in the spirit of the day by placing on sale the new 17-cent Wilson memorial stamp here, in Washington, Princeton and Staunton, Va., the war president's birthplace, today for the first time.

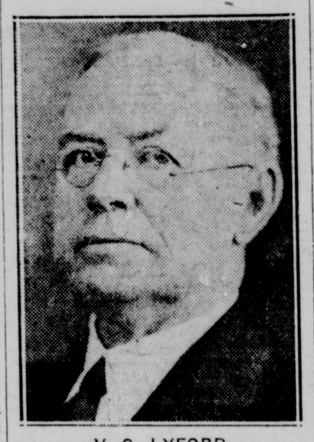

At Amherst, a collection of records and personal letters of Wodrow Wilson has been placed on exhibition. Princeton university has compiled information about him which shows that he held more university degrees than any other person of modern times, including eighteen from American and nine from foreign institutios of learning. He was also an honorary citizen of eight European cities and a field marshal in the Brazilian army.

Dinners in Many Cities.

The Woodrow Wilson national commemoration committee has announced dinners in his honor here and in 500 cities. Among those invited to sit at the speaker's table at the New York dinner are Mrs. Wilson, Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, and Franklin D. Roosevelt. Ignace Jan

PROMISES BREAK IN COLD TUESDAY

After a record low mark so far this winter in Lincoln of 6 degrees below zero reached at 7 a. m. Sunday, promise of moderation of the cold wave which has gripped the middlewest for several days was given by the weather bureau Monday morning. Rising temperature Tuesday with generally fair skies in this vicinity was the forecast.

The warmer weather would extend over the state, is was predicted, but there would be some cloudiness in other sections of Nebraska.

Zero was the low mark reached here Monday morning, at 2 and 3 o'clock, and the same minimum was forecast for Monday night. By 7 a. m. Monday the therometer had reached 3 above and was continuing its rise. The highest point Sunday, in the middle of the afternoon, was 5 above.

Valentine reported the lowest temperature in the state Sunday night, 14 below. Sioux City reported -4, Omaha -2, and North Platte -2. No snow was reported.

The cold area is extending eastward, the weather bureau report said and warmer weather is appearing generally west of the Rockies and in western Canada. On the Gulf coast and in Florida the therometer has reached the twenties.

A. P. Changes Wire Routings

CHICAGO, Dec. 28. — (AP) — A A change in routing of some of the wires of the Associated Press was made effective last night bringing into close contact all the granger states of the northwest.

The leased wires that formerly ran from Chicago to Milwaukee, St. Paul and Minneapolis, were extended to include Des Moines and Omaha with a contact on one circuit with Kansas City. This latter connection was made to allow a free interchange of news between the southwest and the northern Mississippi valley states.

The wire which formerly ran through Des Moines and Omaha to serve the Pacific coast will hereafter be filed from Kansas City, allowing a faster movement to middle western states and the coast.

INQUEST IN BERRY DEATH

DIES AFTER BEING STRUCK BY TAXI

FIXES NO BLAME.

"Albert C. Berry came to his death as the result of an unavoidable accident when he was struck down by a cab driven by H. L. Gordon" was the verdict returned by a coroner's jury Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

An inquest into the death of Albert C. Berry, Lincoln dry-goods man who was knocked down near Eleventh and O streets Saturday night by a taxi-cab, got under way at 1:30 o'clock Monday afternoon at Roberts chapel, in charge of Assistant County Attorney Farley Young.

Members of the coroner's jury were: F. L. Neu, Ray Wagner, Frank Jackson, E. S. Wolfenbarger, Will Anderson and A. E. Adams.

Witnesses to be called were E. Herpolsheimer, who saw the accident, H. L. Gordon, 353 South Twenty-fifth street, the taxi driver, and Dr. J. C. Thompson, who cared for the injured man before he died.

Dr. Oliver Everett stated that Mr. Berry suffered a ruptured liver and other internal injuries.

Mr. Gordon said that he was going north on Eleventh street when he saw Mr. Berry apparently come out from the alley on the west side of the street.

"I was going about 11 or 12 miles an hour and honked my horn," he said. "He seemed to stop and wait, I think he saw me. Just as I got to him he slipped and fell, either forward or backward. The left front wheel of my car passed over him."

The car was stopped so quickly that the back wheel did not pass over the man, according to Gordon.

Mr. Berry, who was 65 years old and a linen buyer for Gold & Co., was going from the store to his home at 1224 K street when the accident occurred. He was crossing the street about the middle of the block it was said, and was knocked underneath the north-bound taxi. The driver and a passenger picked up and took him to the Lincoln Sanitarium, where he died five hours afterwards.

Preparing to Move.

Mr. Berry had resigned from his position at Gold & Co., and was planning to go to California the first of the year.

The accident victim had been a resident of Lincoln for more than eleven years. He came here as a buyer for the Herpolsheimer company in 1914, remaining at that position for nine years. He took a position as buyer of linen and white goods at Gold's more than two years ago.

Mr. Berry was born in Kentucky and lived in Roodhouse, Ill., during his boyhood. He lived in Chicago, Champaign, and Jacksonville, Ill., and from there moved to Lincoln.

Mr. Berry is survived by his wife, Marie and a daughter, Francis Virginia, at home, two sons, Harris of Los Angeles and Parke, of New York, a brother at Roodhouse, Ill.

NORRIS WILL BACK COURT

Nebraskan Advises Senator Curtis He Will Vote for World Tribunal — First Break In Ranks of League of Nations Foes.

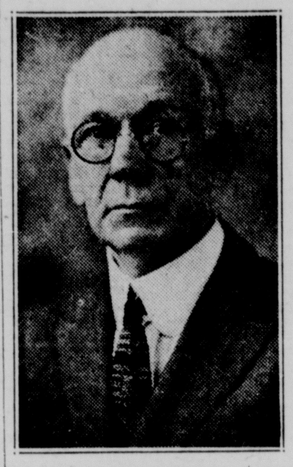

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28. — (By the Associated Press.) — Senator George W. Norris, republican, Nebraska, one of the senate "irreconcilables" in the League of Nations fight, has advised Senator Curtis, republican leader, that he will vote for American adherence to the World court.

The World court issue, under debate when congress recessed for the holidays, will again be before the chamber when it reconvenes on January 4, with the expectation that a vote may be taken before the month ends.

The senator's action in notifying Mr. Curtis was the first indication of a break in the ranks of the remaining senate foes of the League of Nations. Supporters of proposed American participation in the court have contended, however, that a roll call would draw affirmative votes from two-thirds of the chamber without assistance from the irreconcilable group, now led by Senator Borah, republican, Idaho.

Senator Norris, while inclined to approve of the League of Nations, had opposed it because of certain conditions included in the peace treaty of Versailles.

SEES MUCH OF ENCOURAGEMENT IN 1926 OUTLOOK

W. A. Day Declares Tax Reductions Will Stimulate Employment.

President Equitable Life Insurance society of United States

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(I. N. S.)—There is much of encouragement in the outlook for 1926. Life insurance never rendered the country more signal service than at present in stabilizing the economic and social fabric. Its response to the manifold commercial and individual needs is an outstanding chapter in present day history.

That service now reaches into factory, office, mine, railroad, school and university as effectively as does its service of the individual home and fireside. And I believe we are on the threshold of significant changes and expansion of that service.

In 1925, by wise distribution of funds in careful investment in all sections of the country, the insurance companies contriubted to stability and upbuilding of local communities.

Propose France Be Given Terms Equal To Those of Italy

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Intention to introduce a joint resolution to give France "most favored war debts was announced last night by Representative Andrew, republican, Massachusetts, who said he would present it when congress reconvenes January 4.

Mr. Andrew, who served through the entire European war, first with the French and later with the American Red Cross, proposes in his resolution to assure to France the same terms agreed upon with Italy, or if lower terms are allowed any other nation, those would become the terms of the French settlement.

Grain Exports Show Decrease

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Grain exports from the United States last week amounted to 1,141,000 bushels as compared with 1,238,000 bushels the previous week.

Commerce department reports today gave the following comparisons of last week's exports against those of the week before:

Wheat, 186,000 bushels against 349,000 bushels; rye, 17,000 against 29,000; oats, 34,000 against 302,000; corn, 747,000 against 396,000; barley, 157,000 against 171,000.

Canadian grain exported from United States ports last week amounted to 4,773,000 bushels against 5,737,000 the week before, while last week's exports of North American wheat flour were 140,000 barrels, against 174,000 the week before.

NEARLY THIRTY DEAD AND FIRE DAMAGE LARGE

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—Astronomers, with their eyes on sun spots and other solar phenomena, and weather prophets, who recently warned of bitter cold weather the latter part of December, have seen their predictions come true.

Sweeping out of the northwest like Valkyries bent on destruction, the icy winds of winter time have invaded almost every section of the United States and Canada, leaving death and destruction as a weekend aftermath.

From the Rocky mountains to the Atlantic seaboard freezing and sub-zero temperatures prevailed, with virtually no relief in sight today, but with some moderation promised Tuesday. The cold, sweeping from the northland pushed even into the heart of Dixie and beyond to the northern reaches of Florida.

Nearly thirty deaths were attributed to the cold, accidents were numerous, property valued at several millions was destroyed by fire and great suffering was caused among the poor and homeless. In the east particularly the low temperatures brought home the seriousness of the hard coal strike, now in its seventeenth week. Below zero temperatures were recorded in several parts of Pennsylvania and other anthracite producing regions.

Quakes In Mexico.

While most of the continent was in the grip of the cold wave, elemental manifestations of other kinds were noted in other parts of the world. Lightning incidental to a violent storm set fire to several petroleum tanks at Buenos Aires, causing damage estimated at $1,000,000. Severe earthquakes were felt in several localities in Vera Cruz, Mexico, while storms continued to exact a heavy toll in France. At Larochelle, a fishing boat foundered, drowning seven, and melting snow gorged the streams causing serious floods.

Eskimo Says "It's Cold."

At New York City, where the mercury hovered around 7 above most of Sunday, the weather was biting enough to cause Robert Mayokowk, a visiting Eskimo from Alaska and points north, to say "eet is cold."

Most of Canada shivered with the United States, the northern commonwealth experiencing one of the coldest weakends in years, with the mercury 24 to 25 below in some sections. One note of contrast, however, was provided by West Kootenay, in British Columbia which reported "spring like weather," a green Christmas and growing grass.

The cold weather directly or indirectly cause thirteen deaths in Chicago, while the midwest metropolis saw more than a million dollars worth of property destroyed by fire in two days. Five hundred alarms were answered here since Sunday. The fatalities included four men found frozen to death in the streets.

Many Lives Taken.

Three deaths occurred at various points in Ohio and three in Kentucky, with other casualties distribuated as follows New York City, Rensselaer, N. Y., and Baltimore, 2 each; Philadelphia, Worcester, Mass., Yonkers, N. Y., and Toronto, one each.

In Philadelphia an aged lamp lighter, lone survivor of another day, fell from a post in tone of the old fashioned streets. He was carried to a hospital where he died of exposure.

MAKE A STUDY OF POTATO DISEASES

Scientists From all Parts of U. S and Canada Meet Here.

Find Every Producing Section is Facing the Same Problem.

Scientists from every potato district in United States met today at the Agricultural College to get together on their big common problem of controling the degeneraton diseases of potatoes. They came from Maine to California, from Washington to Florida, from Canada, and Dr. Huss, noted European scientist, came from Budapest in Hungary to discuss together for the first time why the lowly potato "runs out," as the farmers say.

They banquet this evening at the Home Economy building at the college and will leave tonight for Kansas City where the annual meeting of the American Society for the Advancement of Science opens tomorrow morning.

Each of these thirty-seven men had sent seed infected with disease being studied in his district to the Nebraska research men, Mr. Pelteir and Professor Goss last fall. The seed was planted in a green house on the college campus and grown so the men could spend the morning studying the plants and comparing them with those from other sections of the country. "They are finding that every potato section of the country has the same disease problems," Dr. Pelteir said during the morning.

COL. COOLIDGE IS CONFINED TO BED

Father of President Has Been Unable to Leave Home for Several Days.

PLYMOUTH, Vt., Dec. 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—Col. John C. Coolidge, father of the president, was confined to his bed today because he had lost the use of his right leg due to faulty circulation. Dr. Albert C. Cram of Bridgewater, his personal physician, said his patient's condition was not to be considered serious.

Dr. Cram visited the Coolidge home here twice yesterday and twice today. Shortly after noon today on leaving for his home in Bridgewater the physician said he had found the condition of Colonel Coolidge "about the same."

Colonel Coolidge who was seriously ill several weeks ago from a condition described as "heart block" has had several heart attacks recently, but none of them were of a serious nature, his physician said. The poor circulation from which he now is suffering, the physician said, was caused by the heart affection.

Colonel Coolidge har been confined to his house several days and has been in bed since Saturday.

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—(By the Associated Press)—The United States constitution has been amended and construed until it "looks like an Egyptian mummy in a China doll factory," Robert M. Breese of Sterling, Ill., today told the Illinois States Attorneys' association of which he is president.

"A close analysis of the situation discloses that the American people are getting away from the idea which stimulated the statesmen of those early days, to solve the problems that the people might be free in speech and conduct, and that all government came from the people. On the contrary, now the statesmen have a notion that the government is all powerful and that the people are mere subjects to do the will of any notion they chose to write upon the statute books and they write plenty of notions into laws, and everybody is presumed to know the law.

"Our legislators and congress seem to have no mercy, but each time they meet they deem it their official obligation to the people or public that so charitably elected them to office to return the compliment by passing all the way from 300 to 3,000 new laws, rules and regulations to guide the conduct of the public and then provide that if the people fail to live up to the letter of the law in every particular they must be punished all the way from one dollar fine to life imprisonment.

"The duty of enforcing these laws falls upon the shoulders of the states attorney. Our job therefore is not an easy one. It is up to us to see that the law is enforced, and when we hear so much about the breaking down of justice, it is interpreted that the law is not enforced and the states attorney is to be blamed."

TO RECEIVE BIDS ON STATE JOBS

Construction Projects at Four Institutions to Cost $300,000.

Open Bids Jan. 19 On Acreage Sites for Children's Home.

Bids will be received by the board of control during January on four construction projects at different state institutions, entailing an aggregate estimated outlay of more than $300,000. All of these were provided for by specific appropriations which the legislature made last winter. The board has a total of $348,000 available for these projects but part of the money will be held in reserve to equip new buildings after they have been erected.

The first letting will be January 15, for steel cells to be installed in the new building put up at the men's reformatory during the last biennium. The sum of $48,000 has been provided for this purpose. Plans and specifications have been made for quarters to accommodate 200 or more inmates.

On the 19th, the board of control will open bids on acreage sites for the dependent children's home, which is to be moved from its present location in South Lincoln to some place on the outskirts of the city. Ten or a dozen tracts have already been offered informally by the owners. It is expected there will be a large list to choose from.

The board does not want to put the institution too far out, as it is desired to secure connections with the water, electric light, and sewage sysems so that no expenditures for independent plants will be required. Reasonable proximity to one or more of the Lincoln public schools is another element which the board will keep in mind.

May Purchase 25 Acres.

From 20 to 25 acres of land may be purchased, if the board can get what it wants at something like $200 to $250 an acre. The appropriation of $75,000 which it has at its disposal for relocating the institution must not only pay for the land but will have to cover the cost of building three or four cottages to house the children, besides providing adminstration quarters, a heating plant, and other auxiliary features.

Bare land would be preferred by the board, as it does not care to pay for buildings that might not be suitable for institution use. However, it will consider all bids submitted, even if there are a few small buildings.

Another construction project on which bids have been called for January 19 is a new ward building at the Hastings insane hospital. The limit of cost will be $105,000 or thereabouts, leaving $20,000 of the appropriation for furniture and other equipment.

Bids for a combination kitchen and employes' building at the Lincoln hospital for insane will be received January 29. The appropriation is $100,000, of which not to exceed $85,000 will be spent on the building itself and the remainder to furnish it.

Fined $400 And Sent to Jail For Liquor Violation

Fines of $200 each and sentences of sixty days in the county jail were imposed upon C. C. Harrington, 229 North Twelfth street, and F. I. Robird, 229 North Twelfth street, in municipal court Monday morning when they pleaded guilty to a charges of illegal sale and possession of liquor.

The men were arrested Saturday by Deputy State Sheriff Frank Yeygyrit who declared that he bought liquor from Harrington and Robird. Each was fined $100 for sale and $100 for possession of liquor, and sentenced to sixty days in the county jail.

Tientsin Situation Is Again Normal

TIENTSIN, Dec. 27.—(AP)—Most of the national peoples' army victorious last Thursday in the fighting around Tientsin, has evacuated this city. It is noteworthy that few of the troops have moved northeastward to Tangshang, most of them proceeding toward Mechang to the south in pursuit of the defeated army of Liching-Ling, former civil governor of the province of Chihli, in the retreat from Tientsin.

The Kuomengchum (national people's army) party ar emost anxious regarding events in Manchuria, but they believe Marshall Chang T'so-Lin, Manchurian dictator, who last week defeated Gen. Kuo Sung-Link, is unlikely to follow up the remanants of Kuo's army inside the walls.

Tientsin is quiet, precautions have been relaxed by the foreigners, the telegraphs to Peking are being restored and the situation is becoming normal.

ENTERTAIN SALESMEN.

Four Lincoln manufacturers or jobbing firms entertained groups of traveling salesmen at luncheon Monday noon at the chamber of commerce. Twenty were guests of Henklo and Joyce Hardware company, the Cushman Motor works had six, the Schwarz Paper company twenty, and the Capital Supply company nine.

The salesmen are in the city for an annual conference with the heads of the companies which they represent, and to make plans for the 1926 campaign.

Heads of these firms stated that their 1925 business exceeded that of the year before, and that their salesmen are optimistic over the prospects for 1926.

"Barbaric Bob" Is Latest Import From Gay Paree

LONDON, Dec. 28.—(AP)—The "barbaric" bob has been imported from Paris by hair dressers who are trying to knock out the shingle.

This is the fuzziest effect which has yet been introduced since women began to bob their hair. And it requires a skillful professional manipulator to produce it; it is far beyond the ordinary barber, who has reaped a fortune out of the boyish effects.

The "barbaric bob" carries with it a parting of the hair on the right side. Two combs are used to raise the hair off the ears and drape it back of them so long and curly locks encircle the ear and hang well forward underneath it. The hair still has a shingled line at the back to give it a smart and modern touch.

THINK TWO MAY BE DOWS THIEVES

Effort Being Made to Identify Men Arrested For Saginaw Job.

CLARION, Ia., Dec. 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—Belief that two men recently arrested in Omaha for a fur robbery in Saginaw, Mich., and returned to the latter city, may have been members of the band of robbers that obtained about $60,000 worth of loot from the state bank of Dows, was expressed here today by county officials.

Sheriff Fred Johnson of Wright county, Marshal Welzine of Dows, who was kidnapped by the gang and taken to the bank while they blew open the safe, have gone to Saginaw, acompanied by State Agent Yackey in an effort to complete the identification. Pictures of the men received from Omaha police were said to resemble two of the bank robber suspects.

Had Little Cash.

OMAHA, Dec. 28. — (AP) — Leo Burke, Harry Mandell and a 19 year old girl who told police she was Mrs. Leo Burke, were arrested by Omaha officials last Monday in connection with a $10,000 fur robbery at Saginaw, Mich., but denied any implication in the robbery of the State Bank of Dows, Ia. The trio has been returned to Saginaw.

When arrested, police said they found a complete set of burglar tools in their room here, together with two half pints of nitroglycerine and a varied asortment of burglar loot. The men, police said, admitted connection with the Saginaw robbery and also admitted they had attempted two burglaries at Galesburg, Ill., and Iowa City, Ia., while enroute to Omaha where they planned to headquarter for a series of burglaries.

The trio's downfall and subsequent arrest came after police had noted an expensive fur coat worn by the woman. Detectives trailed them and found them almost penniless, but owning a large sedan they said.

Score Decision of Regents To Refuse Gifts

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 28.—(AP)—Complete disapproval of the action of the regents of the University of Wisconsin in deciding that no gifts shall be received by the institution from educational endowments was expressed in a report today of a committee representing the University Alumni association.

The report, made public here today by Oscar Hallam of St. Paul, former justice of the Minnesota Supreme court, said that we are "opposed to a sweeping rejection in advance of any and all gifts from educational foundations."

The Wisconsin regents last August adopted a resolution declaring that thereafter no gifts should be received "from any incorporated educational endowments or organizations of like character."

The action followed donation of $12,500 from the general educational endowments or organizations of like character."

The action followed donation of $12,500 from the general education board for medical research work in seeking a cure for a specific disease.

An investigation of the facts was decided on by the alumni association and today's report is the result of the committee's work. The committee recommended that if its views are approved by the general alumni association, a body representing them be appointed to confer with the regents.

R. I. Accepts Rate Suggested by Board

Accepting the suggestion of the state railway commission, which recently denied its request for an increase from 3 cents to 4 cents in the sand and gravel rate from the Duval and Blue Valley pits, near Fairbury, to Lincoln, the Rock Island railroad has applied for permission to put in a rate of 3½ cents. The commission will approve this rate.

The established hauling charge to Lincoln from pits within a radius of 50 miles around is 3 cents per 100 pounds. Those near Fairbury are a few miles outside the zone, but since last spring they have had the 3-cent rate, voluntarily made at that time by the Rock Island.

New Agricultural Credit Corporations Consider Extension Plan.

DES MOINES, Ia., Dec. 28.—(By the Associated Press)—Officials of the newly created National Agricultural Credit corporation will meet here today to consider the extension of their activities to finance livestock feeding operations.

Secretary of Agriculture M. G. Thornburg will recommend to the directors that favorable action be taken on the proposal. He pointed out that 80 per cent of the agricultural land of the state is devoted directly or indirectly to the raising of livestock.

The financing of short time feeding operations rather than long time breeding enterprises is the only phase that will be considered by the directors.

President R. A. Pearson and Dean C. F. Curtiss of Iowa State college, will, it is understood, recommended that the extension of operations will be followed by the corporations.

More than $10,000 has been loaned by the Des Moines corporation alreday and the Fort Dodge bank has also made a number of loans.

The corporations were organized at Chicago several weeks ago with a loaning capacity of $5,000,000, which was originally designed to permit farmers to make short time loans on stored and sealed grain.

Consideration of the corn sugar discriminations, agricultural relief bills that have been introduced in congress and other plans that have been offered to help the farm situation will be considered tomorrow at a statewide conference called by the agricultural committee of the Iowa Bankers' association. It is expected that the conference will adopt a set of resolutions and call a meeting of agricultural, busines and professional leaders of the midd ewest.

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—(By the Associated Press)—The United States constitution has been amended and construed until it "looks like an Egyptian mummy in a China doll factory," Robert M. Breese of Sterling, Ill., today told the Illinois States Attorneys' association of which he is president.

"A close analysis of the situation discloses that the American people are getting away from the idea which stimulated the statesmen of those early days, to solve the problems that the people might be free in speech and conduct, and that all government came from the people. On the contrary, now the statesmen have a notion that the government is all powerful and that the people are mere subjects to do the will of any notion they chose to write upon the statute books and they write plenty of notions into laws, and everybody is presumed to know the law.

"Our legislators and congress seem to have no mercy, but each time they meet they deem it their official obligation to the people or public that so charitably elected them to office to return the compliment by passing all the way from 300 to 3,000 new laws, rules and regulations to guide the conduct of the public and then provide that if the people fail to live up to the letter of the law in every particular they must be punished all the way from one dollar fine to life imprisonment.

"The duty of enforcing these laws falls upon the shoulders of the states attorney. Our job therefore is not an easy one. It is up to us to see that the law is enforced, and when we hear so much about the breaking down of justice, it is interpreted that the law is not enforced and the states attorney is to be blamed."

TO RECEIVE BIDS ON STATE JOBS

Construction Projects at Four Institutions to Cost $300,000.

Open Bids Jan. 19 On Acreage Sites for Children's Home.

Bids will be received by the board of control during January on four construction projects at different state institutions, entailing an aggregate estimated outlay of more than $300,000. All of these were provided for by specific appropriations which the legislature made last winter. The board has a total of $348,000 available for these projects but part of the money will be held in reserve to equip new buildings after they have been erected.

The first letting will be January 15, for steel cells to be installed in the new building put up at the men's reformatory during the last biennium. The sum of $48,000 has been provided for this purpose. Plans and specifications have been made for quarters to accommodate 200 or more inmates.

On the 19th, the board of control will open bids on acreage sites for the dependent children's home, which is to be moved from its present location in South Lincoln to some place on the outskirts of the city. Ten or a dozen tracts have already been offered informally by the owners. It is expected there wil be a large list to choose from.

The board does not want to put the institution too far out, as it is desired to secure connections with the water, electric light, and sewage sysems so that no expenditures for independent plants will be required. Reasonable proximity to one or more of the Lincoln public schools is another element which the board will keep in mind.

May Purchase 25 Acres.

From 20 to 25 acres of land may be purchased, if the board can get what it wants at something like $200 to $250 an acre. The appropriation of $75,000 which it has at its disposal for relocating the institution must not only pay for the land but will have to cover the cost of building three or four cottages to house the children, besides providing adminstration quarters, a heating plant, and other auxiliary features.

Bare land would be preferred by the board, as it does not care to pay for buildings that might not be suitable for institution use. However, it will consider all bids submitted, even if there are a few small buildings.

Another construction project on which bids have been called for January 19 is a new ward building at the Hastings insane hospital The limit of cost will be $105,000 or thereabouts, leaving $20,000 of the appropriation for furniture and other equipment.

Bids for a combination kitchen and employes' building at the Lincoln hospital for insane will be received January 29. The appropriation is $100,000, of which not to exceed $85,000 will be spent on the building itself and the remainder to furnish it.

The wedding of Miss Amy McCarthy, daughter of J. J. McCarthy of Ponca and Frank Dean Williams, son of Mrs. Frank Williams of Lincoln took place on December 26 in Ponca. Both of the young people are well known in Lincoln and their marriage is of interest to a large circle of friends. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. McCarthy. The bride's sister, Miss Mary McCarthy was the bridesmaid and Emerson J. McCarthy was the best man. The bride was gowned in ivory georgette over satin with gold lace trimming and she carried a corsage of orchids and lilies of the valley. Miss McCarthy is a graduate of Georgetown convent in Washington, D. C., and Mr. Williams is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and is a practicing attorney in Lincoln. After a two weeks eastern trip, Mr. and Mrs. Williams will reside at 1318 South Sixteenth street in Lincoln.

Fined $400 And Sent to Jail For Liquor Violation

Fines of $200 each and sentences of sixty days in the county jail were imposed upon C. C. Harrington, 229 North Twelfth street, and F. I. Robird, 229 North Twelfth street, in municipal court Monday morning when they pleaded guilty to a charges of illegal sale and possession of liquor.

The men were arrested Saturday by Deputy State Sheriff Frank Yeygyrit who declared that he bought liquor from Harrington and Robird. Each was fined $100 for sale and $100 for possession of liquor, and sentenced to sixty days in the county jail.

Tientsin Situation Is Again Normal

TIENTSIN, Dec. 27.—(AP)—Most of the national peopies' army victorious last Thursday in the fighting around Tientsin, has evacuated this city. It is noteworthy that few of the troops have moved northeastward to Tangshang, most of them proceeding toward Mechang to the south in pursuit of the defeated army of Liching-Ling, former civil governor of the province of Chihli, in the retreat from Tientsin.

The Kuomengchum (national people's army) party ar emost anxious regarding events in Manchuria, but they believe Marshall Chang Tso-Lin, Manchurian dictator, who last week defeated Gen. Kuo Sung-Link, is unlikely to follow up the remnants of Kuo's army inside the walls.

Tientsin is quiet, precautions have been relaxed by the foreigners, the telegraphs to Peking are being restored and the situation is becoming normal.

ENTERTAIN SALESMEN.

Four Lincoln manufacturers or jobbing firms entertained groups of traveling salesmen at luncheon Monday noon at the chamber of commerce. Twenty were guests of Henkle and Joyce Hardware company, the Cushman Motor works had six, the Schwarz Paper company twenty, and the Capital Supply company nine.

The salesmen are in the city for an annual conference with the heads of the companies which they represent, and to make plans for the 1926 campaign.

Heads of these firms stated that their 1925 business exceeded that of the year before, and that their salesmen are optimistic over the prospects for 1926.

"Barbaric Bob" Is Latest Import From Gay Paree

LONDON, Dec. 28.—(AP)—The "barbaric" bob has been imported from Paris by hair dressers who are trying to knock out the shingle.

This is the fuzziest effect which has yet been introduced since women began to bob their hair. And it requires a skillful professional manipulator to produce it; it is far beyond the ordinary barber, who has reaped a fortune out of the boyish effects.

The "barbaric bob" carries with it a parting of the hair on the right side. Two combs are used to raise the hair off the ears and drape it back of them so long and curly locks encircle the ear and hang well forward underneath it. The hair still has a shingled line at the back to give it a smart and modern touch.

THINK TWO MAY BE DOWS THIEVES

Effort Being Made to Identify Men Arrested For Saginaw Job.

CLARION, Ia., Dec. 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—Belief that two men recently arrested in Omaha for a fur robbery in Saginaw, Mich., and returned to the latter city, may have been members of the band of robbers that obtained about $60,000 worth of loot from the state bank of Dows, was expressed here today by county officials.

Sheriff Fred Johnson of Wright county, Marshal Welzine of Dows, who was kidnapped by the gang and taken to the bank while they blew open the safe, have gone to Saginaw, acompanied by State Agent Yackey in an effort to complete the identification. Pictures of the men received from Omaha police were said to resemble two of the bank robber suspects.

Had Little Cash.

OMAHA, Dec. 28. — (AP) — Leo Burke, Harry Mandell and a 19 year old girl who told police she was Mrs. Leo Burke, were arrested by Omaha officials last Monday in connection with a $10,000 fur robbery at Saginaw, Mich., but denied any implication in the robbery of the State Bank of Dows, Ia. The trio has been returned to Saginaw.

When arrested, police said they found a complete set of burglar tools in their room here, together with two half pints of nitroglycerine and a varied asortment of burglar loot. The men, police said, admitted connection with the Saginaw robbery and also admitted they had attempted two burglaries at Galesburg, Ill., and Iowa City, Ia., while enroute to Omaha where they planned to headquarter for a series of burglaries.

The trio's downfall and subsequent arrest came after police had noted an expensive fur coat worn by the woman. Detectives trailed them and found them almost penniless, but owning a large sedan, they said.

Score Decision of Regents To Refuse Gifts

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 28.—(AP)—Complete disapproval of the action of the regents of the University of Wisconsin in deciding that no gifts shall be received by the institution from educational endowments was expressed in a report today of a committee representing the University Alumni association.

The report, made public here today by Oscar Hallam of St. Paul, former justice of the Minnesota Supreme court, said that we are "opposed to a sweeping rejection in advance of any and all gifts from educational foundations."

The Wisconsin regents last August adopted a resolution declaring that thereafter no gifts should be received "from any incorporated educational endowments or organizations of like character."

The action followed donation of $12,500 from the general educational endowments or organizations of like character."

The action followed donation of $12,500 from the general education board for medical research work in seeking a cure for a specific disease.

An investigation of the facts was decided on by the alumni association and today's report is the result of the committee's work. The committee recommended that if its views are approved by the general alumni association, a body representing them be appointed to confer with the regents.

R. I. Accepts Rate Suggested by Board

Accepting the suggestion of the state railway commission, which recently denied its request for an increase from 3 cents to 4 cents in the sand and gravel rate from the Duval and Blue Valley pits, near Fairbury, to Lincoln, the Rock Island railroad has applied for permission to put in a rate of 3½ cents. The commission will approve this rate.

The established hauling charge to Lincoln from pits within a radius of 50 miles around is 3 cents per 100 pounds. Those near Fairbury are a few miles outside the zone, but since last spring they have had the 3-cent rate, voluntarily made at that time by the Rock Island.

New Agricultural Credit Corporations Consider Extension Plan.

DES MOINES, Ia., Dec. 28.—(By the Associated Press)—Officials of the newly created National Agricultural Credit corporation will meet here today to consider the extension of their activities to finance livestock feeding operations.

Secretary of Agriculture M. G. Thornburg will recommend to the directors that favorable action be taken on the proposal. He pointed out that 80 per cent of the agricultural land of the state is devoted directly or indirectly to the raising of livestock.

The financing of short time feeding operations rather than long time breeding enterprises is the only phase that will be considered by the directors.

President R. A. Pearson and Dean C. F. Curtiss of Iowa State college, will, it is understood, recommended that the extension of operations will be followed by the corporations.

More than $10,000 has been loaned by the Des Moines corporation alreday and the Fort Dodge bank has also made a number of loans.

The corporations were organized at Chicago several weeks ago with a loaning capacity of $5,000,000, which was originally designed to permit farmers to make short time loans on stored and sealed grain.

Consideration of the corn sugar discriminations, agricultural relief bills that have been introduced in congress and other plans that have ben offered to help the farm situation will be considered tomorrow at a statewide conference called by the agricultural committee of the Iowa Bankers' association. It is expected that the conference will adopt a set of resolutions and call a meeting of agricultural, busines and professional leaders of the midd ewest.

Counterfeiter Band Broken; Five Arrested

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Arrest of five alleged members of a counterfeiting band, whose operations included the printing and distribution of fake stock certificates and federal reserve notes, was announced today by federal agents. The gang's operations extended into Canada and the Royal Mounted police assisted in the roundup.

York Water Co. Increases Stock

Amended articles of incorporation filed in the secretary of state's office by the York Water Co. provide for an increase in the amount of authorized capital stock, from $60,000 to $100,000. Those signing the papers are Albert and Emma K. Stafrin, Charles G. and Elizabeth Pfeffer.

Reuler's Inc., is the name of a general mercantile concern at Scottsbluff, whose articles permit it to issue stock up to $20,000. G. C. and Maurice Reuler of Denver and Mrs. A. R. Cheatum of Scottsbluff are the incorporators.

1926 IS LOOMING BRIGHTLY AS NEW ERA IN BUSINESS

Leaders of Industry United in Belief Greater Prosperity Ahead.

Forecasts By Executives Regard Fundamental Conditions As Sound.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—By the Associated Press—Present business prosperity will continue well into 1926 in the opinion of leading bankers and industrial leaders.

Forecasts for the new year prepared by these executives regard fundamental business conditions as sound, lay stress on the administration's business policies, and are hopeful regarding the European outlook.

"The business of the manufacturers of the iron and steel industry of the United States during the year 1925 on the whole may be considered good, so far as the volume is concerned," said Chairman E. H. Gary of the United States Steel corporation. "For a large portion of the year selling prices were lower than they ought to have been, and many manufacturers operated without much profit.

An Important Factor.

"The wise and conservative statements of the president from time to time have been an important factor of encouragement to the general business fraternity.

"The apparent change in attitude of many of the national legislators, particularly with reference to economy in administration and more especially taxation, and the decisions of the Supreme court concerning business, showing a disposition of confidence on the part of investors.

"At present the demand for iron and steel products is large and growing in strength. Selling prices are improving. The prospects of this industry for the year 1926 seem to be very good unless some unforeseen circumstances arise to prevent the general business situation in the United States during the coming year should be satisfactory."

Petroleum Industry Unsatisfactory.

"The petroleum industry has been in a very unsatisfactory condition for more than four years," said Henry L. Doherty, one of the largest independent producers in the country. "Prices have frequently been highly demoralized and none of the [illegible] [illegible] remain to be permanent.

"The outlook at present is more assuring than at any time in this period."

"The petroleum industry [illegible] by government [illegible] is probably more [illegible] than any other industry. When we get ready to develop our markets by co-operative effort we will find no problem we cannot master, and the business will prove safe, stable and profitable."

Many Reasons for Prosperity.

"There are many reasons to believe that the new year will see a continuance of the steady growth and development of the electric industry," declared Sidney Z. Mitchell, president of the Electric Bond & Share Co. "The year just closed has established new records in the amount of electricity generated and used in the United States, in the amount of capital invested and in the diversity of the uses to which electric power may be put.

"Extension of the country's generating plants has kept pace with the increase in the demand. The [illegible] has been increasing, the [illegible] have been provided.

Most Important Factor.

"Most important of all, the public has become convinced of the [illegible] of electric securities under the present state regulation and this public confidence has been reflected in the ability of the industry to secure the capital needed for proper development of the country's power facilities.

"In view of all these facts, there is no legitimate reason why the progress of the country's electric development should not continue during the coming year."

"In view of the optimistic tenor of recent expressions from the White House and the department of commerce, it is reasonable to assume that the whole tone of the nation's business will be good during 1926. This fact supplies an additional basis for my belief that the new year will be a prosperous one for the electric industry."

Expects Good First Half.

"There is ample reason to expect that the first half of 1926 will be a period of general prosperity in which the automobile business should share," asserted Alfred P. Sloan, jr., president of the General Motors corporation. "The latter part of 1926 is still too far away for one to judge with much assurance what it may hold in store.

"The momentum of business recovery since last summer will tend to keep business active during at least the first part of 1926. Conditions are in a healthy balance at present. Employment is large, prices are relatively stable, transportation facilities are ample and efficiently operated.

Big Summer Demand.

"I expect the summer demand for automobiles to continue large while general business remains active. The volume of retail automobile sales for the first half of 1926 is expected to exceed that of the first half of 1925 by a fair margin."

R. L. Agassiz, president of the Calumet & Hecla Consolidated Copper company and the Copper & Brass Research association, said:

"If copper shipments in December prove anywhere near the average maintained during the first eleven months of the year, 1925 will have shown new high levels in copper consumption, both here and abroad. Unfortunately actual figures for December will not be available until well into January, but we know enough to predict with reasonable certainty that shipments of American copper during the year will be upward of 2,800,000,000 pounds, which is 200,000,000 pounds more than in 1924, the best year since the war.

Backbone of Copper.

"America is the backbone of the American copper industry and some idea of the increased popularity of copper and copper alloys at home may be gained from the fact that in November, despite the falling off in European demand, shipments exceeded production by nearly 10,000,000 pounds.

"I feel that we have every right to look hopefully toward 1926.

"I subscribe to the opinion that 1925 has not been an abnormal year but one registering normal growth of a great country," declared Carl R. Gray, president of the Union Pacific system.

Expects No Material Changes.

"So far as can now be seen," he said, "we are not threatened with any material changes in the law governing railroads. The problem of 1926 will be to guard zealously the advances made in the last five years, and to bring about by every persuasive method that just return for all railroads throughout the country which will safeguard their essential credit and insure such circulation throughout the body economic as will preserve and protect the national health.

"Buying power throughout the Union Pacific territory is the best in years as a result of more evenly distributed agricultural prosperity. This leads us to expect 1926, at least until August, to yield greater traffic than the forepart of this year."

P. A. S. Franklin, president of the International Mercantile Marine Corporation, expects the shipping industry to do better in 1926 than it has this year. "Europe is gradually recovering," he said, "and trans-Atlantic traffic, both freight and passenger, should show substantial improvement during the next 12 months."

Railroads Are Stronger.

"The end of the year finds the railroad position stronger than it has been for a long time," said W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad.

"The volume of traffic handled has not the most welcome fact. The greatest cause for confidence in the future is the evidence on every side of the desire on the part of the public to co-operate with railroad management to improve railroad service and to enable railroads to respond to the need for greater and more efficient transportation."

"The sound position of merchants and manufacturers and the improved position of the agricultural interests of the country are ample grounds for confidence in good business in 1926. It is unlikely, however that the year as a whole will show as great a gain over 1925 as did last year over its predecessor and the certainty of stiff competition in many industries will call for high initiative and economy to assure satisfactory profits," in the opinion of James S. Alexander, chairman of the board of the National Bank of Commerce, New York City.

Pay Tribute To R. E. Mattison at Services Sunday

Funeral services for Raymond E. Mattison at the Westminster Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon were attended by several hundred relatives, friends and fellow-officers and employes of the Lincoln Telephone company, of which he was general manager.

The church choir sang "Lead Kindly Light" and "Abide With Me," and Dr. Walter Aitken, who was in charge of the services owing to the illness of the pastor, Rev. Paul C. Johnston, gave the funeral sermon.

Mr. Mattison died in the midst of a busy career and in the performance of public service, declared Dr. Aitken, but he had lived completely, for the real greatness of a man is reckoned rather by his virtues and accomplishments.

The speaker eulogized Mr. Mattison's spirit of friendliness, his faith in God and the courage with which he had faced the year of illness which preceded his death.

The body was taken later in the afternoon to Saline, Mich., where burial will take place.

Quartet Meets Death As Freight Collides With Engine Near Fort Worth.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Dec. 28.—By the Associated Press—Four trainmen, all of Fort Worth, were killed and two others injured yesterday when a switch engine backed into an approaching freight train on the Fort Worth and Denver railway near here.

Andrews Makes New Enforcement Plea At Savannah

SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 28.—(AP)—Supporters of the prohibition laws throughout the United States must put their shoulders to the wheel and compel effective administration of the liquor laws locally before satisfactory enforcement results can be expected, Assistant Secretary Andrews of the treasury declared last night. He addressed a law enforcement meeting.

The treasury department's prohibition field marshal, on a tour of the customs ports of entry, coast guard and prohibition units of the south Atlantic seaboard, asserted the federal government was unable and unwilling to shoulder all of the responsibility or all of the blame.

He said he considered his job to be that of stopping the great sources of supply—smugglers, conspirators and crooked warehouses and distilleries dealing in alcohol and thus leave to the local authorities the work of cleaning up the small "peddler" type of distributors.

Chicago Teachers Are Heavy Losers In Alleged Fraud

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Scores of Chicago school teachers were induced in part with their savings and some of them with their positions through representatives of the Consolidated Realty and Theatre corporations of Chicago and Indianapolis, it was revealed here Sunday as the result of the recent indictment of Frederick H. Gruneberg, president of the $20,000,000 corporation.

Gruneberg and twelve others were indicted by a federal grand jury here on charges of using the mails in a scheme to defraud.

A list of victims, in the hands of federal officials, includes the names of [illegible] school principals and elementary and high school teachers whose losses are believed to total more than $200,000. Included in the list are the names of many bankers, business and professional men in mid-western cities.

Postal inspectors said the concern incurred liabilities of nearly $5,000,000, while its assets are less than $200,000.

For a time the returns from their investments were so satisfactory that several teachers are said to have resigned their positions to become salesmen for the company.

Today

Anyhow, We're Prosperous.
Poison Ivy Bootleg.
Gold in Siberia.
Insull Might.

By Arthur Brisbane.

This country is big, prosperous, and its big men in business are learning to deal with big money. It seemed gigantic when Uncle Sam undertook the Panama canal, that might cost $300,000,000. Such a sum inspired awe. Now it is the small change of really big business.

Any number of concerns would handle a Panama contract.

Standard Oil, in California, absorbs Pacific Oil, the latter cheerfully announces distribution of 100 millions or so of security for its stockholders. And the whole thing amounts to "only 500 millions, maybe a little more or less." That's one day's item, and soon forgotten.

Once it was whispered that Standard Oil was a billion-dollar octopus, and fiercely it was chopped into many tiny-weeny pieces. "Lie there," said Uncle Sam.

Each little piece grew into an octopus on its own account, and now each one talks hundreds of millions only.

Our octopuses are doing better.

Tennessee moonshiners produce a brand of "whisky" that would have prevented the evolution discussion, had that whisky appeared earlier.

It would have killed off all the bigger apes before they had a chance to become men.

If your "genuine pre-war" stuff turns out to be Tennessee's latest, you will know it. It scorches the mucous membrane from the mouth, causing the tongue to swell and protrude.

New Siberian gold fields, to which Russians only are admitted, are enormously rich, and may shift the gold balance from this proud nation to bolshevik Russia. Five hundred million dollars worth of gold, it is expected, will soon be added to Russia's supply.

What effect will it have on haughty Uncle Sam, if Russia equals him as a gold owner? It would be hard for our best minds to resist the persuasive powers of so much gold.

And what effect will the yellow treasure have on Russia and her rulers? Will they become more conservative as they become rich, and join the world chorus of governing high finance? Probably.

Joseph Pulitzer used to say: "Brisbane, if you ever get any money which you never will, you will find that your opinions will change."

The Chicago News sold for 14 millions, not dear for a profitable established newspaper. But don't buy stock in any new newspaper enterprise. If you do you will probably learn something to your disadvantage.

The new owners of the Daily News announce conspicuously that Samuel Insull has no interest in the paper, does not and will not own any stock.

Insull runs the light, power, etc., of Chicago, and the News owners evidently wish it known that he has nothing to do with their paper.

They may be wrong about that. There is only one kind of brain, and Insull has plenty of the one kind. If he had a newspaper, and would take his mind off other things, he would be apt to make a great newspaper success. The fact that he is rich and would fight for his readers, not influenced by other "Insulls," would help. He would surely make more of a success than any committee. A committee cannot run a newspaper, or nurse a baby.

A rich American girl thought she wanted a count, married him, had a baby, found she did not want him.

Count Salm, proud father, wants that baby. The small child plays with too many toys while detectives watch, that it may not be carried away by the loving father.

Many fathers, being primitive barbarians, will say "that father has rights." What would they say if a hen laid an egg, and they saw the rooster walking off with it?

They would say, "Hold on, you didn't lay that egg."

THREE CARS BURN IN SUNDAY FIRES

Two Sedans Destroyed as Garage is Gutted; Three Roof Blazes.

Three motor cars were destroyed in Sunday fires caused by defective wiring and ignition of gasoline, and three small roof fires caused by chimney sparks were extinguished by firemen.

Two sedans, belonging to Captain A. D. Foster, 1606 Washington street, and Captain L. W. Eggers, 1565 South Seventeenth street, were completely destroyed when the garage in which they were kept caught fire from defective wiring Sunday morning. The garage belonged to A. M. Price, 1605 Washington street.

A Ford sedan belonging to J. F. Purbaugh, 2729 Byons, caught fire at 825 South Twenty-seventh street, when a gasoline line which was being thawed with a blow-torch broke. The loss was estimated by the owner at $450.

Firemen answered calls at 3220 W street, the residence of Mrs. E. M. Hogue, 1020 South street, the home of Mrs. S. H. Church, and 2963 Dudley street, the home of C. P. Oyler. Small roof fires were extinguished at each place.

An awning at a grocery store at 1124 O street, owned by C. E. Lawrence, became ablaze from an unknown cause early Sunday afternoon but caused little damage.

Several alarms were turned in to firemen Sunday and investigated. At the Gold and company building early Sunday morning what was thought to be smoke caused an alarm to be turned in. The overheating of wooden insulators on steam conduits caused the alarm, firemen said.

William Giles, 1131 South Twenty-third street, was looking at the oil in his car at 9:30 Monday morning when the match he used to aid him caused a small blaze which damaged the wiring of the car.

Announce Merger of Two Largest Silk Companies

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(AP)—A $20,000,000 silk merger, uniting Belding Brothers & Co., and the Heminway Silk Co., two of the oldest and largest silk thread manufacturers in the United States, was announced last night.

The consolidation involved an outright purchase by the Belding interests of the Heminway company, which have total assets exceeding $5,000,000. The enlarged concern, which will be known as the Belding-Heminway company, will have total assets of more than $20,000,000, estimated annual sales of approximately $15,000,000 and estimated net earnings of $2,000,000 based on the past year's showing.

The Belding company operates thread mills and fabric plants at Rockville and Winsted, Conn.; Northampton, Mass.; Belding, Mich., and Petaluma, Cal. The Heminway company has five mills in New York and Connecticut.

BUTLER CHARGES "GANG POLITICS"

Advises Ropes and Clubs for "Scoundrels in Office" To Enforce Law.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 28. — Brig. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, speaking here Sunday under the auspices of the Adult Bible Class federation of Pennsylvania, told an audience of 3,000 persons his version of how he was "fired" from his position as director of public safety of Philadelphia by Mayor W. Freeland Kendrick.

He denounced "gang politics," declaring that the politicians composing the cliques were "a gang of rats," that they "arranged things" and that he was "framed." His address was filled with criticisms which kept the audience in laughter a large part of the time.

"I hardly know how to come to you," General Butler said, "for this is my first appearance as a dismissed public official. You know how people take those things. If you lambast those who ousted you, you're a poor sport. If you don't lambast them, the crowd is disappointed."

Says Vare "Boss."

He declared that Congressman William Vare was the "boss" who dictated the policy of the city administration of Philadelphia and he said that Charles H. Hadley, treasurer of Philadelphia, was merely "dressed up as a leader."

Speaking of his dismissal, he said: "The mayor gave as his reason for dismissing me the statement that I did not treat him with proper respect. I didn't—I should have pulled his nose."

"He said that it was arranged for me to go out of office in great dignity. They would have probably have given me a lamp and then I was supposed to write the mayor a letter telling him how well we worked, but I was not willing to carry the stigma on my shoulders of not enforcing the law on rich and poor alike."

Taking up law enforcement, the general condemned the "scoundrels in office," and advised all those interested in law enforcement to get ropes and clubs and "knock off their heads" and drag them out."

"I didn't fail. I can still look anybody in the eye. Until people get mad there'll be nothing done."

BIG FOUR UNIONS TO ASK INCREASE

Announce They Seek Re-Establishment of Peak War Time Wages.

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—By the Associated Press. — Negotiations between the "big four" train service brotherhoods and railroads of the country will be started here shortly after the first of the year, union officials here said Sunday. The unions are asking increases to restore the peak scale which was cut by a 12 per cent decrease in 1921 by order of the United States railroad labor board.

All sixteen standard railroad union organizations probably will negotiate for increases, it was said. In most cases, the old contracts expire December 31. More than 2,000,000 railroad workers will be affected by the negotiations.

The railroads granted an increase of about 5 per cent last year and the train service unions are reported to be considering asking for an additional 7 per cent raise at this time.

1926 IS LOOMING BRIGHTLY AS NEW ERA IN BUSINESS

Leaders of Industry United In Belief Greater Prosperity Ahead.

Forecasts By Executives Regard Fundamental Conditions As Sound.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(By the Associated Press)—Present business prosperity will continue well into 1926 in the opinion of leading bankers and industrial leaders.

Forecasts for the new year prepared by these executives regard fundamental business conditions as sound, lay stress on the administration's business policies, and are hopeful regarding the European outlook.

"The business of the manufacturers of the iron and steel industry of the United States during the year 1925 on the whole may be considered good, so far as the volume is concerned," said Chairman E. H. Gary of the United States Steel corporation. "For a large portion of the year selling prices were lower than they ought to have been, and many manufacturers operated without much profit.

An Important Factor.

"The wise and conservative statements of the president from time to time have been an important factor of encouragement to the general business fraternity.

"The apparent change in attitude of many of the national legislators, particularly with reference to economy in administration and more especially taxation, and the decisions of the Supreme court concerning business, showing a disposition of confidence on the part of investors.

"At present the demand for iron and steel products is large and growing in strength. Selling prices are improving. The prospects of this industry for the year 1926 seem to be very good. Unless some unforseen circumstances arise to prevent, the general business situation in the United States during the coming year should be satisfactory."

Petroleum Industry Unsatisfactory.

"The petroleum industry has been in a very unsatisfactory condition for more than four years," said Henry L. Doherty, one of the largest independent producers in the country. "Prices have frequently been highly demoralized and none of the former recoveries have carried any assurance to any thoughtful man that they were certain to be permanent.

"The petroleum industry by nature and by government activities is probably more competitive than any other industry. When we get ready to develop our markets by co-operative effort we will find no problem we cannot master, and the business will prove safe, stable and profitable."

Many Reasons for Prosperity.

"There are many reasons to believe that the next year will see a continuance of the steady growth and development of the electric industry," declared Sidney Z. Mitchell, president of the Electric Bond & Share Co. "The year just ended has established new records in the amount of electricity generated and used in the United States, in the amount of capital invested and in the diversity of the uses to which electric power may be put.

"Extension of the country's generating plants has kept pace with the increase in the demand for electricity, so that, while consumption has been increasing, the facilities for meeting this increase have been provided.

Most Important Factor.

"Most important of all, the public has become convinced of the stability of electric securities under the present state regulation, and this public confidence has been reflected in the ability of the industry to secure the capital needed for proper development of the country's power facilities.

"In view of all these facts, there is no legitimate reason why the progress of the country's electric development should not continue during the coming year."

"In view of the optimistic tenor of recent expressions from the white house and the department of commerce, it is reasonable to assume that the whole tone of the nation's business will be good during 1926. This fact supplies an additional basis for my belief that the new year will be a prosperous one for the electric industry."

Expects Good First Half.

"There is ample reason to expect that the first half of 1926 will per a period of general prosperity in which the automobile business should share," asserted Alfred P. Sloan, jr., president of the General Motors corporation. "The latter part of 1926 is still too far away for one to judge with much assurance what it may hold in store.

"The momentum of business recovery since last summer will tend to keep business active during, at least, the first part of 1926. Conditions are in a healthy balance at present. Employment is large, prices are relatively stable, transportation facilities are ample and efficiently operated.

Big Summer Demand.

"I expect the summer demand for automobiles to continue large while general business remains active. The volume of retail automobile sales for the first half of 1926 is expected to exceed that of the first half of 1925 by a fair margin."

R. L. Agassiz, president of the Calumet & Hecla Consolidate Copper company and the Copper & Brass Research association, said:

"If copper shipments in December prove anywhere near the average maintained during the first eleven months of the year, 1925 will have shown new high levels in copper consumption, both here and abroad. Unfortunately actual figures for December will not be available until well into January, but we know enough to predict with reasonable certainty that shipments of American copper during the year will be upward of 2,800,000,000 pounds, which is 200,000,000 pounds more than in 1924, the best year since the war.

Backbone of Copper.

"America is the backbone of the American copper industry and some idea of the increased popularity of copper and copper alloys at home may be gained from the fact that in November, despite the falling off in European demand, shipments exceeded production by nearly 10,000,000 pounds.

"I feel that we have every right to look hopefully toward 1926.

"I subscribe to the opinion that 1925 has not been an abnormal year, but one registering normal growth of a great country," declared Carl R. Gray, president of the Union Pacific system.

Expects No Material Changes.

"So far as can now be seen," he said, "we are not threatened with any material chfinges in the law governing railroads. The problem of 1926 will be to guard zealously the advances made in the last five years, and to bring about by every persuasive method that just return for all railroads throughout the country which will safeguard their essential credit and insure such circulation throughout the body economic as will preserve and protect the national health.

"Buying power throughout the Union Pacific territory is the best in years as a result of more evenly distributed agricultural prosperity. This lends us to expect 1926, at least, until August, to yield greater traffic than the forepart of this year."

P. A. S. Franklin, president of the International Mercantile Corporation, expects the shipping industry to do better in 1926 than it has this year. "Europe is gradually recovering," he said, "and trans-Atlantic traffic, both freight and passenger, should show substantial improvement during the next 12 months."

Railroads Are Stronger.

"The end of the year finds the railroad position stronger than it has been for a long time," said W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad.

"The volume of traffic handled has not the most welcome fact. The greatest cause for confidence in the future is the evidence on every side of the desire on the part of the public to co-operate with railroad management to improve railroad service and to enable railroads to respond to the need for greater and more efficient transportation."

"The sound position of merchants and manufacturers and the improved position of the agricultural interests of the country are ample grounds for confidence in good business in 1926. It is unlikely, however that the year as a whole will show as great a gain over 1925 as did last year over its predecessor and the certainty of stiff competition in many industries will call for high initiative and economy to assure satisfactory profits," in the opinion of James S. Alexander, chairman of the board of the National Bank of Commerce, New York City.

Funeral services for Raymond E. Mattison at the Westminster Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon were attended by several hundred relatives, friends and fellow-officers and employes of the Lincoln Telephone company, of which he was general manager.

The church choir sang "Lead Kindly Light" and "Abide With Me." and Dr. Walter Aitken, who was in charge of the services owing to the illness of the pastor, Rev. Paul C. Johnston, gave the funeral sermon.

Mr. Mattison died in the midst of a busy career and in the performance of public service, declared Dr. Aitken, but he had lived completely, for the real greatness of a man is reckoned rather by his virtues, and accomplishments.

The speaker eulogized Mr. Mattison's spirit of friendliness, his faith in God and the courage with which he had faced the year of illness which preceded his death.

The body was taken later in the afternoon to Saline, Mich., where burial will take place.

Andrews Makes New Enforcement Plea At Savannah

SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 28.—(AP)—Supporters of the prohibition laws throughout the United States must put their shoulders to the wheel and compel effective administration of the liquor laws locally before satisfactory enforcement results can be expected, Assistant Secretary Andrews of the treasury declared last night. He addressed a law enforcement meeting.

The treasury department's prohibition field marshal, on a tour of the customs ports of entry, coast guard and prohibition units of the south Atlantic seaboard, asserted the federal government was unable and unwilling to shoulder all of the responsibility or all of the blame.

He said he considered his job to be that of stopping the great sources of supply—smugglers, conspirators and crooked warehouses and distilleries dealing in alcohol and thus leave to the local authorities the work of cleaning up the small "peddler" type of distributors.

Chicago Teachers Are Heavy Losers In Alleged Fraud

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Scores of Chicago school teachers were induced to part with their savings and some of them with their positions through representatives of the Consolidated Realty and Theaters corporations of Chicago and Indianapolis, it was revealed here Sunday as the result of the recent indictment of Frederick H. Gruneberg, president of the $20,000,000 corporation.

Gruneberg and twelve others were indicted by a federal grand jury here on charges of using the mails in a scheme to defraud.

A list of victims, in the hands of federal officials, includes the names of Chicago school principals and elementary and high school teachers, whose losses are believed to total more than $200,000. Included in the list are the names of many bankers, business and p rofessional men in mid-western cities.

Postal inspectors said the concern incurred liabilities of nearly $5,000,000, while its assets are less than $200,000.

For a time the returns from their investments were so satisfactory that several teachers are said to have resigned their positions to become salesmen for the company.

Anyhow, We're Prosperous
Poison Ivy Bootleg.
Gold in Siberia.
Insull Might.

By Arthur Brisbane.

This country is big, prosperous, and its big men in business are learning to deal with big money. It seemed gigantic, when Uncle Sam undertook the Panama canal, that might cost $300,000,000. Such a sum inspired awe. Now it is the small change of really big business.

Any number of concerns would handle a Panama contract.

Standard Oil, in California, absorbs Pacific Oil, the latter casually announces distribution of 100 millions or so of security for its stockholders. And the whole thing amounts to "only 500 millions, maybe a little more or less." That's one day's item, and soon forgotten.

Once it was whispered that Standard Oil was a billion-dollar octupus, and fiercely it was chopped into many tiny-weeny pieces. "Lie there," said Uncle Sam.

Each little piece grew into an octupus on its own account, and now each one talks hundreds of millions only.

Our octopuses are doing better.

Tennessee moonshiners produce a brand of "whisky" that would have prevented the evolution discussion, had that whiskey appeared earlier.

It would have killed off all the higher apes before they had a chance to become men.

If your "genuine pre-war" stuff turns out to be Tennessee's latest, you will know it. It scorches the mucous membrane from the mouth, causing the tongue to swell and protrude.

New Siberian gold fields, to which Russians only are admitted, are enormously rich, and may shift the gold balance from this proud nation to bolshevik Russia. Five hundred million dollars worth of gold, it is expected, will soon be added to Russia's supply.

What effect will it have on haughty Uncle Sam, if Russia equals him as a gold owner? It would be hard for our best minds to resist the persuasive powers of so much gold.

And what effect will the yellow treasure have on Russia and her rulers? Will they become more conservative as they become rich, and join the world chorus of governing high finance? Probably.

Joseph Pulitzer used to say, "Brisbane, if you ever get any money, which you never will, you will find that your opinions will change."

The Chicago News sold for 14 millions, not dear for a profitable established newspaper. But don't buy stock in any new newspaper enterprise. If you do you will probably learn something to your disadvantage.

The new owners of the Daily News announce conspicuously that Samuel Insull has no interest in the paper, does not and will not own any stock.

Insull runs the light, power, etc., of Chicago, and the News owners evidently wish it known that he has nothing to do with their paper.

They may be wrong about that. There is only one kind of brain, and Insull has plenty of the one kind. If he had a newspaper, and would take his mind off other things, he would be apt to make a great newspaper succss. The fact that he is rich, and would fight for his readers, not influenced by other "Insulls," would help. He would surely make more of a success than any committee. A committee cannot run a newspaper, or nurse a baby.

A rich American girl thought she wanted a count, married him, had a baby, found she did not want him.

Count Salm, proud father, wants that baby. The small child plays with too many toys while detectives watch, that it may not be carried away by the loving father.

Many fathers, being primitive barbarians, will say "that father has rights." What would they say if a hen laid an egg, and they saw the rooster walking off with it?

They would say, "Hold on, you didn't lay that egg."

IT has come to pass that the woman or child who does not wear overshoes of this type seems peculiar and out of place on slushy streets and on cold, snowy, blowy days. The protection afforded is so great and the resulting comfort so satisfying that no woman who has worn them will be without them.

A BREAK IN THE RANKS.

Announcement that United States Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska would vote for American membership in the court of international justice is indication of the split in the ranks of the desperate band of "irreconcilables" who flouted the League of Nations.

Coming as it does on the heels of a statement by Senator Borah, another of that group, that he was in complete accord with President Coolidge, there is every reason to expect a speedy and successful conclusion of the fight to bring America into the world court.

Senator Norris has not seen fit to explain the reasons for his change in position. The public is little interested in that phase of it. It is enough that he has altered his view and is finally ready to accede to what must be recognized as an overwhelming public sentiment in favor of America taking her place in the world court.

The news will be cheering to Europe, and to the rest of the world. In the brief period that the world court has been functioning, it has accomplished some notable results for the cause of international peace. In a half dozen instances, its good offices have been sufficient to avert armed strife between some of the smaller nations. The missionary features of its labors have been even more valuable. It was the spirit of amity and good will flowing from the court and the league of nations which made possible the security pact drawn up at Locarno. As a result of its efforts there is the growing conviction in Europe and elsewhere in the world that a new order has dawned. Justice through peaceful methods is to prevail. The sword has been retired in favor of the pen. The essential fairness of world opinion is to replace the brute force of armies. And as a result of this growing confidence in the faith of the people of the world that there shall be no recurrence of that bloody tragedy of recent years, disarmament is occupying the attention of the men who administer the affairs of governments. There are fewer men under arms in Europe today than at the outset of the world war. A second disarmament conference has been called at which even more drastic reductions in the forces on land and sea and in the air, is contemplated.

It will be years before the full fruits of this remarkable victory over the ancient doctrine of militarism will be observable. But in Europe, in America and in all other lands where evidences of modern civilization prevail, the overwhelming burden of government is directly chargeable to war. A preponderance of the tax burden of this country has arisen out of war or preparation for war. Europe is reeling under its war burden. When the time arrives that nations have reduced their costly military establishments, then the staggering sums of money necessary for their maintenance can be devoted to improving the standards of living of the various peoples of these countries. Trade and commerce will thrive under the stimulus of the converted wealth which formerly was destroyed upon the battlefield.

The most important act in Senator Norris' long career is his announcement that he will cast his ballot for American membership in the world court. It is difficult to understand, in view of the sentiment in this state, how he maintained his unwavering opposition for so long.

With Norris removed from the ranks of the irreconcilables, it is possible to foresee an easy victory in the world court fight. He was one of the two ablest men in the ranks of opponents. He commanded more attention, and held the lines intact better than any of the remaining critics. His conversion to the program of American membership is a stunning blow to the irreconcilables.

FRIEND HUSBAND'S FAILURE.

Governor Vic Donahey of Ohio belongs to another generation than that most in evidence in this country now. Witness the fact that on Christmas day, Mr. Donahey allowed the gubernatorial cook to depart in full glory while the governor prepared the Christmas dinner with his own hands.

There are not many of the younger generation of married or single men in this country who would attempt that trick. Most of them hardly poke their heads inside the kitchen, let alone getting acquainted with the mysteries of the various dishes which are most frequently seen on the table. As for tackling the intricacies of pie and cake-making, please excuse them.

Possibly these modern wives, concerning whom so much has been written and said, have a grievance of their own. There was a time when friend husband knew how to make himself very useful around the house. He could pinch hit at taking care of the children, washing and dressing and entertaining them. In case of dire extremity he could take his place in the kitchen and it was frequently the fact that he could prepare no "mean" meal. He could cook meat and prepare potatoes at least two or three ways, make appetizing coffee and once in a while he attempted biscuits. Those days are gone forever. Now friend husband cares even less about the kitchen than friend wife and as a result the delicatessen business is good.

AN ENGLISH GRAND OPERA HIT.

Chicago music lovers were so enthusiastic over the first production of a grand opera rendered in the English language, the Associated Press reports, that they swarmed all over the orchestra director, who was also the composer, and showered him with kisses to mark their appreciation. Men and women joined in the demonstration in the lobby of the theatre.

That seems to be going it rather strong, but there is no gainsaying the fact that most Americans would enjoy grand opera more if they could hear it in their own tongue. The old time Italian and German productions are all right in their way, and anyone with the proper taste for good music can relish the harmonic effects without knowing very much about the theme or being able to follow the conversation. Most of us, however, would like to know what it is all about.

For years and years, people in this country have been turning out and paying high prices to see and hear such productions as "Faust," "Il Trovatore," "Carmen," and "Lucia de Lammermoor" for the sake of the music alone. But none of them ever attained as great popularity as the less pretentious "Bohemian Girl," commonly sung in English, from which such airs as "The Heart Bowed Down," "I Dreamt I Dwelt in marble halls," and "Then you'll remember me" have been adopted by the American people and are cherished for the sentiment conveyed by their words no less than for the sweetness of the melodies.

The present offering of English opera at Chicago is by no means the first of its kind. Twenty years ago Henry W. Savage brought out an Anglicized version of "Parsifal" which had a very successful run, not only in New York and Chicago but throughout the country. In those days operatic and theatrical companies made tours covering the whole United States. Instead of confining themselves, as nowadays, to half a dozen big cities. There have been some other renditions in English also.

It has been demonstrated pretty conclusively that the American public will respond to good opera in the language they speak and know. The reason why more productions of the kind have not been forthcoming appears to lie in the scarcity of American compositions suitable for such presentation and the indifference of the commercialized stage, rather than in the lack of a popular demand for them.

W. Franke Harling of Boston, whose musical effort has just had its initial performance at Chicago, under his own direction, is making a valuable contribution to the artistic life and development of this country. It is distinctively an American work, as evidenced by the fact that saxophones and banjos were used in the orchestra. Mrs. Minnie Maddern Fiske, the American actress, collaborated with Harling in the opera's preparation, the libretto having been written by her.

Out here in the theatrical wilds, where grand opera seldom comes, we can only hope that compositions based on American life and rendered intelligible to American audiences through the English language may multiply until enough of them are in existence to meet the unquestionable demand for them.

PUNISHING MR. DAWES.

Another bit of evidence that the ways of a business man are not acceptable to the politicians is seen in the well-defined move now underway to head off a possible renomination of Vice-President Dawes in 1928.

Mr. Dawes is pre-eminently a business man. He cares nothing for the finesse of politics. He has none of its suaveness and diplomacy. He is blunt and plain-spoken. He never beats about the bush but says what he has to say without any effort to soften its harshness. Now politicians don't like that. They are generally given to soft speaking. Mr. Dawes has little respect for tradition or precedent. When he finds methods are cumbersome and unfitted to present-day conditions, he believes that they should be discarded and the machinery of state made to conform to the needs of the hour. That is the explanation of his fight on the senate rules. It cannot be successfully denied that certain practices in senatorial procedure are the heritage of a day when the senate was a much smaller body. The addition of state after state and the subsequent growth in its membership mean that some of the rules are not adapted to the expeditious handling of business.

For directing public attention to this situation and demanding its reform, Mr. Dawes has incurred the wrath of the politicians of the republican party. He has invaded their sacred precincts and threatened to abolish some of their time-honored rights. And so some of the leaders within the senate have set themselves for revenge. Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon is being groomed as a potential candidate for vice-president in 1928. That is on the supposition that Calvin Coolidge will again be a candidate to succeed himself. The plan may succeed but there is the lurking suspicion that the voters may have something to say about this.

A RESEARCH REWARD.

The first award to the scientist adjudged of having done more to promote human enjoyment of life than any other American goes to Dr. John J. Abel, professor of pharmacology at Johns Hopkins university. He has been given the annual prize of the Research Corporation of America, amounting to $2,500 a year. It is one of the stipulations of the award that the prize shall go only to those scientists who make their contribution to knowledge freely and without the hope of reaping a monetary reward for their efforts.

Dr. Abel has been working in a field little known to the layman.

Most of his contributions have been in that branch of chemistry that has to do with reactions within living bodies. Most particularly helpful has been his investigations in connection with the ductless glands and their functions. It is significant to the layman that in the face of the very remarkable progress made in combatting so many of the well-known diseases which cause so much suffering and distress to the human race, that the jury of award should choose a field which has been vaguely suggested until recent years.

The research prize was made possible through the efforts of another scientist, Dr. Frederick C. Cottrell, who was working as a chemist in the United States bureau fo mines. He patented certain processes used very largely in manufacturing. It was his desire that science should get the benefit of his labors and so he offered his patents to the Smithsonian institute with the understanding that the returns from them should be employed to reward the scientists for their efforts. A research corporation was formed for the exploitation of these patents, and stock sold, but with the unusual provision that the profits should be used "to supply means for the advancement and extension of scientific and technical investigation."

More Truth Than Poetry.

What was the name of that hero
Whose deeds in the war were so great?
Was it Wallace or Jones or Shapiro
Or Masters or Shepherd or Waite?
The papers had columns about him,
He made the war sizzle and blaze,
And we couldn't have won it without him—
Oh, what is he doing, these days?

Forty Germans he captured, bare-handed.
Or something like that, was it not?
He was lustily cheered when he landed,
His notice was eagerly sought.
They gave him nice medals, and told him
That nothing could tarnish his fame:
We hastened in crowds to behold him—
But do you remember his name?

New heroes have come to succeed him,
He smiles in the pictures no more:
Perhaps there are others who need him,
And are cheered by his steps at the door,
But the public has turned its attention
To others whose spirits are proud
And who listen with fine condescension
To the flattering praise of the crowd.

Promoters are busy pursuing
The boy to whom luck has been kind;
But they soon will forget what he's doing,
And permit him to pass out of mind;
So, whether it's fighting or kicking,
Cash in while you're good at your game.
For next year may bring you poor picking;
Few men will remember your name.

A Bit of Homely Philosophy

IF YOU FOLLOW THE LINE OF LEAST RESISTANCE, YOU WILL NEVER CLIMB VERY HIGH.

Are you drifting or have you a purpose in life?

It is so much easier to let one day follow another enjoying all you can without a thought of tomorrow.

But where will you be at the end of say ten or twenty years at the rate you waste time now?

If you had an object to spur you on, a goal to reach, an ambition to be satisfied, you would lead a very different life.

It is pleasant to be with a congenial group every day when your work is done, resting, relaxing, telling stories or joining in some pastime or sport, in fact it just satisfies your idea of life.

But if you would think a bit deeper you would know that these ideal friendly relations cannot be permanent and one by one the glad friends will leave you. Then w here will you be?

When you seek to hold the joyous conditions with no thought for the future, you invite the very thing you want to avoid.

Have a purpose in life. Work for it. Let it be you who steps out upon the way to achievement.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health" and "Diet for Children"

YOU NEED NOT HAVE DANDRUFF NOR BE BALD

A certain amount of dandruff is normal. The dandruff scales consist of the dead skin from the scalp, with a few scales composed of the hardened secretions of oil (sebum) from the oil glands connected with each hair.

If the scalp is thoroughly and vigorously brushed every day, and each day's accumulation is shaken out, the scalp will be kept in good condition, and the scales will not accumulate and go on to the stage we speak of as dandruff. (If two brushes are used you can get some pretty vigorous exercise of the arms and chest muscles at the same time.) If the scalp is not kept clean by daily cleaning then it becomes irritated, itches, the oil glands become overactive and more oil scales, as well as the skin scales, accumulate on the scalp.

After you brush your scalp very thoroughly, run your fingers through it and then close the fists. This will give a gentle pull on the roots and strengthen them. Any hairs that are loose enough to come out as a result of this treatment, should come out.

Seborrhea

There are two general forms of dandruff: the dry form and the oily form. The oily type is known as seborrhea. It may extend over the scalp and go beyond the borderlines of the hair. After a time the hair begins to fall.

There are certain types of germs which are always present in cases of dandruff, and in seborrhea there is no doubt that germs can be the inciting cause. This is the reason it is unwise to go to barbers who are not scrupulously careful about the cleansing of their brushes and combs, or to use the brushes and combs of others.

Treatment: The order of treatment in both types of dandruff is first, to remove the scales; second, to destroy the germs; and third, to bring the scalp to its normal healthy condition. The removal of the scales is best effected by brushing, but if dandruff is very thick a fine comb may be used, if used gently enough not to injure the scalp. After the removal of the scales, the hair should be washed, the frequency of the washing depending upon the stage of the disease. If the condition is severe, it may at first need a daily shampoo and then later once a week or once in two weeks, depending upon the case.

Any mild soap may be used for the shampoo. If you cannot get soft or distilled water, a little lemon juice or vinegar in the last rinsing water will keep the hair from being sticky. After the hair has dried, medication to kill the germs is applied with the fingers to the scalp (not the hair). It should be used daily for three days, and every other day for the next ten days. This may have to be kept up for three months or so. After the diseaseis controlled, then once a week or less often is sufficient, if the daily care of the scalp is kept up.

Some skin specialists believe that sulphur is the most reliable remedy, and an ointment known as sulphur cream is a good form to use. Your druggist will put this up for you, as the prescription is in their textbooks.

Sometimes an alcoholic compound of 3 percent resorcin is recommended for the oily form of dandruff.

Baldness.

One of my books on skin diseases states that 80 percent of baldness is due to dandruff, so you can see that the prevention of dandruff means the prevention of baldness in a large percentage of the cases.

Now a word about the diet—yes, even for the hair! It is found in the nutritional laborities that diet has a decided effect on animals used for experimental purposes. On an unbalanced or insufficient diet, especially one lacking in vitamins or mineral elements, the fur becomes rough and sparse. There is no doubt that the fur on human heads is also affected by improper diet as is every other structure of the body.

(We have an article which covers dandruff, greying hair and the different forms of baldness. You may have this upon request accompanied by a self-addressed, stamped envelope.)

My dear Followers:

When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a STAMPED, SELF-ADDRESSED envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose TEN cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, NOT OVER 200 WORDS, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the STAMPED, SELF-ADDRESSED ENVELOPE if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Can Matter Be Destroyed?

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS.

"Is the statement that matter can be destroyed, which I have lately read, true? While in high school a few years ago we were taught that matter cannot be destroyed. Another statement, that an electron exists, 1,700 years, then disappears, is new to me.—W. A. H., Oak Park, Ill."

It is just as true today as it ever was to say that matter is indestructible. That, however, is only the human mind's view of the subject, and nobody can prove that it is absolutely true. All that the statement means is that it is conceivable to us that matter should be destroyed. We are unable to destroy matter, and we cannot think of nature destroying matter, or suffering it to be destroyed. If matter could go out of existence the whole universe could go out of existence, leaving nothing behind. It is contrary to our fundamental being.

But even we can change the forms of matter, and nature is continually changing its forms without, however, affecting the essence or fundamental basis. If we ask ourselves what is the final essence of matter we immediately perceive our limitations. The tendency today is to say that matter is electrical in its nature, or that it is made up of electrical units, viz., the negative electrons and the positive nuclei which together constitute the atoms.

The atoms can be disintegrated by separation of their electrical units, but that is a change, not a destruction, of matter. If matter be a form, or a condition, of electricity, it is not destroyed when the atoms are torn asunder. It is also affirmed, as the result of modern theory and experimentation, that electricity itself is atomic in constitution, and that what we call electrons are the atoms of electricity. This is generally accepted, largely on the strength of Millikan's experiments in weighing the electric charge corresponding to electrons. There are at present supposed to be the ultimate units of matter, and it is held that they are indivisible. But, even if it should turn out that there are "sub-electrons," we should be no closer to the actual destruction of matter than we were when it was found out that the atom can be taken apart, or disintegrated. The division of ordinary atoms is not the destruction of matter, and no more could be the division of the electrons, or atoms of electricity.

Some say. Everything is at bottom electricity, and there is nothing else. Matter is electrical Energy is electrical. The one thing is electricity, and that is indestructible. At least we cannot conceive any way in which it could be destroyed.

It is not the electron which is supposed to exist 1,700 years, but the atom of radium. The rate at which the radium atoms decay by ejection of electrons is such that a given quantity of radium will evidently be reduced one-half in 1,700 years, and then what remains will be reduced one-half in the next corresponding period and so on. But the decay of the radium is not a destruction of matter, but only a transformation. Various products follow one another, called Radium B, etc., each changing into the next, and the half period of transformation of these is exceedingly short, amounting to less than three years for Radium Emanation and only three minutes for Radium A, 26 minutes for Radium B, 19 minutes for Radium C, then jumping back to 17 years for Radium D, and so on.

In all this chain of changes it is transformation, not destruction of matter that goes on. The forms of matter are shifting; its essential existence, as far as we know, is endless. But these considerations are based entirely on the data of material science. From another, hyper-physical, viewpoint, the whole aspect of the subject changes, and the philosopher may affirm that there is no difficulty whatever in conceiving the entire destruction of matter.

Briefly Told News From The Wires

LONDON—(AP)—The Westminster Gazette's Angora correspondent, J. A. Spender, is most pessimistic over the Anglo-Turkish controversy arising from the Mosul decision. In a dispatch dated Sunday, he says the critical period will begin with the arrival there of Tewfik Rushdi Bey, the Turkish foreign minister, who headed the Turkish delegation at Geneva. He is expected to reach Angora Tuesday.

WAYNESBURG, Pa.—(AP)—Two are dead and two others are not expected to live, as a result, authorities believe, of eating poisoned food. The dead are Charles Thompson, 60, local business man, and Miss Mabel Ward, 27, his housekeeper, while those in the hospital at Charles Pickins, 17, and Elmer Ward, 17, half brothers of Miss Ward.

NEWPORT, Ky.—(AP)—Fire in the commissary building of the Newport Rolling Mills, Sunday resulted in loss estimated at $25,000. Fanned by a high wind, the flames for a time threatened the large plant of the rolling mill, until controlled by the combined fire fighting forces of Newport and Covington.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Unset diamonds valued at $100,000 were stolen Sunday when four men invaded the lower east side jewelry store of Henry Goldberg. The robbers beat the proprietor unconscious, intimidated four prospective customers and escaped in an automobile.

PEKING—(AP)—The battles which led to the defeat of the Chihli army of Gen. Li Ching-Ling and the occupation of Tientsin by Marshal Feng Yu-Hsiang, were the most sanguinary ever fought in modern China, in the opinion of observers. Twenty-three hundred wounded in the Nanyuan hospital alone, represent only a small proportion of the Kuominchun (Feng's army) casualties, whose total probably will never be known.

SHANGHAI —(AP) — Details received here of the collapse of Kuo-Sung-Ling's army in Manchuria, indicate that, finding his troops losing their spirit and because of the bitter cold, shortage of ammunition and medical and other supplies, he decided to stake all oon a powerful offensive. His scouting and reconnaissance work was poor, while Marshal Chang's cavalry and aircraft kept the Manchurian chieftain informed of his adversary's every move.

DES MOINES, Ia.—(AP)— Father F. J. Nugent, 83 years old, for the last forty-two years pastor of Visitation parish here, died late Saturday. He was one of the most widely known Catholic priests and chautauqua lecturers in the middle-west and was an intimate friend of William Jennings Bryan.

WASHINGTON — (AP)— The national board of farm organizations announced last night that its annual mid-winter meeting would be held here February 1, 2 and 3. The board, which was formed in 1917, comprises various agricultural organizations having membership lists totalling 700,000.

NEW YORK—(A.P.)—Replying to the charge of the governor general of Algeria that he carried off four mummies unearthed at Hoggar, despite the rigid regulations of the Algerian government, Count Byron Khun de Prorok declared last night that these objects were in Paris at the disposal of the minister of public instructions and had not been brought to the United States.

SPARKHILL, N. Y.—(A.P.)—Mrs. Ellen Peck, 95 years old, known at one time as "queen of confidence women," was overcome by smoke yesterday in a fire which damaged the small cottage in which she lives alone. A neighbor took her into her home while firemen saved two of her prized possessions, a chair in which Samuel F. B. Morse, inventor of the telegraph, sat when he received word of the success of the first telegraph message and a Bible of the Morses and Noah Webster, bearing signatures from 1,600. Mrs. Peck is a descendant of the Morses and Websters.

WASHINGTON—(A.P.)—A new federal law becoming effective January 1, which will permit establishment tribunals in both domestic and foreign trade to settle business disputes by agreement between the parties concerned and keep many disagreements out of the courts, may, in the opinion of Secretary Hoover and others interested, affect far reaching changes in methods of interstate business.

WHEELING, W. Va.—(A.P.)—Fire of undetermined origin late yesterday destroyed four stores and for a time threatened to wipe out an entire block in Wheeling's business district. Firemen were handicapped in fighting the blaze because of the extremely cold weather. The loss was estimated at about $400,000.

WILLISTON, N. D.—(A.P.)—Fire destroyed an entire business block and threatened most of the business section of the city before it was overcome after a desperate fight in 20 degrees below zero weather Sunday. Loss $150,000. Three people were injured while occupants of five apartments barely escaped the flames.

Even a mild COUGH may be dangerous

A cough is often a warning signal that dangerous germs are present in your throat, and that the tissues are inflamed.

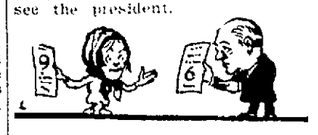

PERTUSSIN will check that cough, help to clear out excessive mucus—and in so harmless a way that even little children and those weakened by illness can take it safely. PERTUSSIN contains no narcotics or any injurious drugs—yet it is considered by many physicians the most effective remedy for stubborn coughs, whooping cough and gives grateful relief in asthma and bronchitis.

Safe for Every Cough

The worst story I heard was told me today by Earl S. Gwin of Louisville Ky. He is president of the Lincoln Bank and Trust company. Not vice president but president. You know there is a hundred vice presidents of every bank. There is more vice presidents than there is bookkeepers. They have that many so it makes it that much harder to see the president.

Well this Gwin came to call on me with the chief of police of Louisville, who was an old friend of mine. We both, the president of the bank and myself, seemed to have realized the advantage of cultivating friendship with the law. I intended to "lecture" in the town; that's why I wanted the chief as a friend. I don't know what Mr Gwin intended trying to get away with. Perhaps the entire bank. They generally do. I had just met a lot of his confederates a few days before down in Atalanta.

Well, we all had a nice chat in my rooms. No, I will take that back; in my room, at the wonderful Brown hotel in Louisville. It's a hotel that would be a credit to Claremore, Okla., a town with twice the natural resources of Louisville. The Brown also harbors one of the most genial of managers, which after all is all there is to any hotel. Well, Gwin had a story. Otherwise he was charming.

During the great flood in the Ohio river, a woman called for aid, saying she was destitute and had six children. They helped her, and she came back again in a week saying she had nine children. When the man in charge of the charity called her attention to the discrepancy, she begged his pardon and said that everything was so upset by the flood that the six must have been turned upside down.

Murders, Suicides and Auto Deaths Increase in 1924

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—(AP)—The national death rate in the United States was placed by the commerce department Sunday at 11.9 per 1,000 of population, on the basis of figures for 1924 as compared with 12.3 in 1923, 11.8 in 1922, and 11.6 in 1921.

The figures covered the entire death registration area of the country, which accounts for about 88 per cent of the population. The number of deaths registered in this territory was 1,173,990 out of 99,030,494 population.

In another statistical study made public yesterday the department reported further increase in the number of deaths due to automobile accidents in the principal cities of the United States.

The total for the four weeks ending December 5 was 624, compared with 612 in the preceding four weeks, 524 in the period ending October 10, and 521 in the one ending September 12, while in the period ending May 23, the total was only 421.

The daily average of automobile fatalities had been 14.7, while last year for the same period, it was 14.5, but for the four weeks ending December 5 this year it jumped to 16.8.

Both suicides and murders increased, suicides totalling 12,061 in 1924 against 11,287 in 1923 and murders 8,420 against 7,873.

Substitute for Egg From Beef Being Developed

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 28.—(AP)—A new protein food made from beef serum, which has the characteristics of and can be used as a substitute for the white of egg, has been developed by Prof. J. M. M. Bunker in the biological laboratory of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The food, which is made from the globulin and albumin content of beef serum, is produced in the form of a powder. Golden in color, it is odorless and has excellent keeping qualities, it is announced. The discovery was made by vitamin tests and Professor Bunker demonstrated is nutritive value by making it the sole protein in the basal diet of guinea pigs and white rats, which thrived on the food.

Claim "Java Man" A Link In Evolution

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(AP)—The achievements of science in 1925 are increased by three discoveries announced as the year enters its last week.

At Princeton university, Dr. W. B. Scott, paleontologist and geologist, claims to have settled a question that has divided scientists since 1891 by proving that the "Java man" found thirty-four years ago, is a true link in the chain of man's evolution from the lowest forms of life.

Massachusetts Institute of Technology announces one of its professors has discovered a means of making from beef serum a protein food which can be used as a substitute for the white of egg and also provide a cheap waterproofing and adhesive material.

Harvard announces the solution of the ancient mystery of the Mayan calendar. It has been found that the central American Indians of the Sixth century before Christ were excellent astronomers and calculated time by the movements of thep lanet Venus.

One of the discoveries at least was developed from the slightest of clues. Dr. Eugene DuBois, a Dutch army surgeon, found part of a skull, a thighbone and two teeth on the banks of the Begwan river in Java in 1891. Diesion as to whether the bone fragments were those of an ape or a true man was begun immediately but for years Dr. Dubois threw a veil of secrecy around his discoveries. A plaster cast of the skull was sent to Princeton recently.

Denounces Plan of Sending Committee Workmen to Russia

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—(A.P.)—President Green of the American federation of labor, in a circular warning to unions throughout the country, made public last night, took note of requests being made public last night, took note of requests being made to local and central organizations to contribute to a fund to be used to send a committee of alleged labor representatives to Russia.

Creation of this committee, he asserted, is being sponsored by "members of the communist organization and those who are in sympathy with communism" for the same purpose "that a committee of communists from Great Britain visited Russia and sought to make the world believe that the soviet government was representative of the people."

"While this agitation is under way," he said, "representatives from the Russian government have banqueted with American bankers and are now sowing the seed of their pernicious doctrine in the capital of our nation. x x x.

"The plan of sending a committee to Russia is not in the interest of the wage earners of the United States or of the people generally; it is in the interest of the few communists who are endeavoring to hold power in Russia, to strengthen that power and to extend its influence throughout the other nations of the world. x x x No loyal trade unionists will give his aid or support to this nefarious scheme."

A BREAK IN THE RANKS.

Announcement that United States Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska would vote for American membership in the court of international justice is indication of the split in the ranks of the desperate band of "irreconcilables" who flouted the League of Nations.

Coming as it does on the heels of a statement by Senator Borah, another of that group, that he was in complete accord with President Coolidge, there is every reason to expect a speedy and successful conclusion of the fight to bring America into the world court.

Senator Norris has not seen fit to explain the reasons for his change in position. The public is little interested in that phase of it. It is enough that he has altered his view and is finally ready to accede to what must be recognized as an overwhelming public sentiment in favor of America taking her place in the world court.

The news will be cheering to Europe, and to the rest of the world. In the brief period that the world court has been functioning, it has accomplished some notable results for the cause of international peace. In a half dozen instances, its good offices have been sufficient to avert armed strife between some of the smaller nations. The missionary features of its labors have been even more valuable. It was the spirit of amity and good will flowing from the court and the league of nations which made possible the security pact drawn up at Locarno. As a result of its efforts there is the growing conviction in Europe and elsewhere in the world that a new order has dawned. Justice through peaceful methods is to prevail. The sword has been retired in favor of the pen. The essential fairness of world opinion is to replace the brute force of armies. And as a result of this growing confidence in the faith of the people of the world that there shall be no recurrence of that bloody tragedy of recent years, disarmament is occupying the attention of the men who administer the affairs of governments. There are fewer men under arms in Europe today than at the outset of the world war. A second disarmament conference has been called at which even more drastic reductions in the forces on land and sea and in the air, is contemplated.

It will be years before the full fruits of this remarkable victory over the ancient doctrine of militarism will be observable. But in Europe, in America and in all other lands where evidences of modern civilization prevail, the overwhelming burden of government is directly chargeable to war. A preponderance of the tax burden of this country has arisen out of war or preparation for war. Europe is reeling under its war burden. When the time arrives that nations have reduced their costly military establishments, then the staggering sums of money necessary for their maintenance can be devoted to improving the standards of living of the various peoples of these countries. Trade and commerce will thrive under the stimulus of the converted wealth which formerly was destroyed upon the battlefield.

The most important act in Senator Norris' long career is his announcement that he will cast his ballot for American membership in the world court. It is difficult to understand, in view of the sentiment in this state, how he maintained his unwavering opposition for so long.

With Norris removed from the ranks of the irreconcilables, it is possible to foresee an easy victory in the world court fight. He was one of the two ablest men in the ranks of opponents. He commanded more attention, and held the lines intact better than any of the remaining critics. His conversion to the program of American membership is a stunning blow to the irreconcilables.

FRIEND HUSBAND'S FAILURE.

Governor Vic Donahey of Ohio belongs to another generation than that most in evidence in this country now. Witness the fact that on Chrisntas day, Mr. Donahey allowed the gubernatorial cook to depart in full glory while the governor prepared the Christmas dinner with his own hands.

There are not many of the younger generation of married or single men in this country who would attempt that trick. Most of them hardly poke their heads inside the kitchen, let alone getting acquainted with the mysteries of the various dishes which are most frequently seen on the table. As for tackling the intricacies of pie and cake-making, please excuse them.

Possibly these modern wives, concerning whom so much has been written and said, have a grievance of their own. There was a time when friend husband knew how to make himself very useful around the house. He could pinch hit at taking care of the children, washing and dressing and entertaining them. In case of dire extremity he could take his place in the kitchen and it was frequently the fact that he could prepare no "mean" meal. He could cook meat and prepare potatoes at least two or three ways, make appetizing coffee and once in a while he attempted biscuits. Those days are gone forever. Now friend husband cares even less about the kitchen than friend wife and as a result the delicatessen business is good.

AN ENGLISH GRAND OPERA HIT.

Chicago music lovers were so enthusiastic over the first production of a grand opera rendered in the English language, the Associated Press reports, that they swarmed all over the orchestra director, who was also the composer, and showered him with kisses to mark their appreciation. Men and women joined in the demonstration in the lobby of the theatre.

That seems to be going it rather strong, but there is no gainsaying the fact that most Americans would enjoy grand opera more if they could hear it in their own tongue. The old time Italian and German productions are all right in their way, and anyone with the proper taste for good music can relish the harmonic effects without knowing very much about the theme or being able to follow the conversation. Most of us, however, would like to know what it is all about.

For years and years, people in this country have been turning out and paying high prices to see and hear such productions as "Faust," "Il Trovatore," "Carmen," and "Lucia de Lammermoor" for the sake of the music alone. But none of them ever attained as great popularity as the less pretentious "Bohemian Girl," commonly sung in English, from which such airs as "The Heart Bowed Down," "I Dreamt I Dwelt in marble halls," and "Then you'll remember me" have been adopted by the American people and are cherished for the sentiment conveyed by their words no less than for the sweetness of the melodies.

The present offering of English opera at Chicago is by no means the first of its kind. Twenty years ago Henry W. Savage brought out an Anglicized version of "Parsifal" which had a very successful run, not only in New York and Chicago but throughout the country. In those days operatic and theatrical companies made tours covering the whole United States, instead of confining themselves, as nowadays, to half a dozen big cities. There have been some other renditions in English also.

It has been demonstrated pretty conclusively that the American public will respond to good opera in the language they speak and know. The reason why more productions of the kind have not been forthcoming appears to lie in the scarcity of American compositions suitable for such presentation and the indifference of the commercialized stage, rather than in the lack of a popular demand for them.

W. Franke Harling of Boston, whose musical effort has just had its initial performance at Chicago, under his own direction, is making a valuable contribution to the artistic life and development of this country. It is distinctively an American work, as evidenced by the fact that saxophones and banjos were used in the orchestra. Mrs. Minnie Maddern Fiske, the American actress, collaborated with Harling in the opera's preparation, the libretto having been written by her.

Out here in the theatrical wilds, where grand opera seldom comes, we can only hope that compositions based on American life and rendered intelligible to American audiences through the English language may multiply until enough of them are in existence to meet the unquestionable demand for them.

PUNISHING MR. DAWES.

Another bit of evidence that the ways of a business man are not acceptable to the politicians is seen in the well-defined move now underway to head off a possible renomination of Vice-President Dawes in 1928.

Mr. Dawes is pre-eminently a business man. He cares nothing fo rthe finesse of politics. He has none of its suaveness and diplomacy. He is blunt and plain-spoken. He never beats about the bush but says what he has to say without any effort to soften its harshness. Now politicians don't like that. They are generally given to soft speaking. Mr. Dawes has little respect for tradition or precedent. When he finds methods are cumbersome and unfitted to present-day conditions, he believes that they should be discarded and the machinery of state made to conform to the needs of the hour. That is the explanation of his fight on the senate rules. It cannot be successfully denied that certain practices in senatorial procedure are the heritage of a day when the senate was a much smaller body. The addition of state after state and the subsequent growth in its membership mean that some of the rules are not adapted to the expeditious handling of business.

For directing public attention to this situation and demanding its reform, Mr. Dawes has incurred the wrath of the politicians of the republican party. He has invaded their sacred precincts and threatened to abolish some of their time-honored rights. And so some of the leaders within the senate have set themselves for revenge. Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon is being groomed as a potential candidate for vice-president in 1928. That is on the supposition that Calvin Cooldge will again be a candidate to succeed himself. The plan may succeed but there is the lurking suspicion that the voters may have something to say about this.

A RESEARCH REWARD.

The first award to the scientist adjudged of having done more to promote human enjoyment of life than any other American goes to Dr. John J. Abel, professor of pharmacology at Johns Hopkins university. He has been given the annual prize of the Research Corporation of America, amounting to $2,500 a year. It is one of the stipulations of the award that the prize shall go only to those scientists who make their contribution to knowledge freely and without the hope of reaping a monetary reward for their efforts.

Dr. Abel has been working in a field little known to the layman.

Most of his contributions have been in that branch of chemistry that has to do with reactions within living bodies. Most particularly helpful has been his investigations in connection with the ductless glands and their functions. It is significant to the layman that in the face of the very remarkable progress made in combatting so many of the well-known diseases which cause so much suffering and distress to the human race, that the jury of award should choose a field which has been vaguely suggested until recent years.

The research prize was made possible through the efforts of another scientist, Dr. Frederick C. Cuttrell, who was working as a chemist in the United States bureau fo mines. He patented certain processes used very largely in manufacturing. It was his desire that science should get the benefit of his labors and so he offered his patents to the Smithsonian institute with the understanding that the returns from them should be employed to reward the scientists for their efforts. A research corporation was formed for the exploitation of these patents, and stock sold, but with the unusual provision that the profits should be used "to supply means for the advancement and extension of scientific and technical investigation."

More Truth Than Poetry.

What was the name of that hero
Whose deeds in the war were so great?
Was it Wallace or Jones or Shapiro
Or Masters or Shepherd or Waite?
The papers had columns about him,
He made the war sizzle and blaze,
And we couldn't have won it without him—
Oh, what is he doing, these days?

Forty Germans he captured, bare-handed,
Or something like that, was it not?
He was lustily cheered when he landed,
His notice was eagerly sought.
They gave him nice medals, and told him
That nothing could tarnish his fame;
We hastened in crowds to behold him—
But do you remember his name?

New heroes have come to succeed him,
He smiles in the pictures no more;
Perhaps there are others who need him,
But the public has turned its attention
To others whose spirits are proud
And who listen with fine condescension
To the flattering praise of the crowd.

Promoters are busy pursuing
The boy to whom luck has been kind;
But they soon will forget what he's doing,
And permit him to pass out of mind;
So, whether it's fighting or kicking,
For next year may bring you poor picking;

IF YOU FOLLOW THE LINE OF LEAST RESISTANCE YOU WILL NEVER CLIMB VERY HIGH.

Are you drifting or have you a purpose in life?

It is so much easier to let one day follow another enjoying all you can without a thought of tomrrow.

But where will you be at the end of say ten or twenty years at the rate you waste time now?

If you had an object to spur you on, a goal to reach, an ambition to be satisfied, you would lead a very different life.

It is pleasant to be with a congenial group every day when your work is done, resting, relaxing, telling stories or joining in some pastime or sport, in fact it just satisfies your idea of life.

But if you would think a bit deeper you would know that these ideal friendly relations cannot be permanent and one by one the glad friends will leave you. Then w here will you be?

When you seek to hold the joyous conditions with no thought for the future, you invite the very thing you want to avoid.

Have a purpose in life. Work for it. Let it be you who steps out upon the way to achievement.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health" and "Diet for Children"

YOU NEED NOT HAVE DANDRUFF NOR BE BALD

A certain amount of dandruff is normal. The dandruff scales consist of the dead skin from the scalp, with a few scales composed of the hardened secretions of oil (sebum) from the oil glands connected with each hair.

If the scalp is thoroughly and vigorously brushed every day, and each day's accumulation is shaken out, the scalp will be kept in good condition, and the scales will not accumulate and go on to the stage we speak of as dandruff. (If two brushes are used you can get some pretty vigorous exercise of the arms and chest muscles at the same time.) If the scalp is not kept clean by daily cleaning then it becomes irritated, itches, the oil glands become overactive and more oil scales, as well as the skin scales, accumulate on the scalp.

After you brush your scalp very thoroughly, run your fingers through it and then close the fists. This will give a gentle pull on the roots and strengthen them. Any hairs that are loose enough to come out as a result of this treatment, should come out.

Seborrhea

There are two general forms of dandruff: the dry form and the oily form. The oily type is known as seborrhea. It may extend over the scalp and go beyond the borderlines of the hair. After a time the hair begins to fall.

There are certain types of germs which are always present in cases of dandruff, and in seborrhea there is no doubt that germs can be the inciting cause. This is the reason it is unwise to go to barbers who are not scrupulously careful about the cleansing of their brushes and combs, or to use the brushes and combs of others.

Treatment: The order of treatment in both types of dandruff is first, to remove the scales; second, to destroy the germs; and third, to bring the scalp to its normal healthy condition. The removal of the scales is best effected by brushing, but if dandruff is very thick a fine comb may be used, if used gently enough not to injure the scalp. After the removal of the scales, the hair should be washed, the frequency of the washing depending upon the stage of the disease. If the condition is severe, it may at first need a daily shampoo and then later once a week or once in two weeks, depending upon the case.

Any mild soap may be used for the shampoo. If you cannot get soft or distilled water, a little lemon juice or vinegar in the last rinsing water will keep the hair from being sticky. After the hair has dried, medication to kill the germs is applied with the fingers to the scalp (not the hair). It should be used daily for three days, and every other day for the next ten days. This may have to be kept up for three months or so. After the diseaseis controlled, then once a week or less often is sufficient, if the daily care of the scalp is kept up.

Some skin specialists believe that sulphur is the most reliable remedy, and an ointment known as sulphur cream is a good form to use. Your druggist will put this up for you, as the prescription is in their textbooks.

Sometimes an alcoholic compound of 3 percent resorcin is recommended for the oily form of dandruff.

Baldness.

One of my books on skin diseases states that 80 percent of baldness is due to dandruff, so you can see that the prevention of dandruff means the prevention of baldness in a large percentage of the cases.

Now a word about the diet—yes, even for the hair! It is found in the nutritional laborities that diet has a decided effect on animals used for experimental purposes. On an unbalanced or insufficient diet, especially one lacking in vitamins or mineral elements, the fur becomes rough and sparse. There is no doubt that the fur on human heads is also affected by improper diet as is every other structure of the body.

(We have an article which covers dandruff, greying hair and the different forms of baldness. You may have this upon request accompanied by a self-addressed, stamped envelope.)

My dear Followers:

When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a STAMPED, SELF-ADDRESSED envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose TEN cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, NOT OVER 200 WORDS, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the STAMPED, SELF-ADDRESSED ENVELOPE if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Can Matter Be Destroyed?

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS.

"Is the statement that matter can be destroyed, which I have ately read, true? While in high school a few years ago we were taught that matter cannot be destroyed. Another statement, that an electron exists, 1,700 years, then disappears, is new to me.—W. A. H., Oak Park, Ill."

It is just as true today as it ever was to say that matter is indestructible. That, however, is only the human mind's view of the subject, and nobody can prove that it is absolutely true. All that the statement means is that it is conceivable to us that matter should be destroyed. We are unable to destroy matter, and we cannot think of nature destroying matter, or suffering it to be destroyed. If matter could go out of existence the whole universe could go out of existence, leaving nothing behind It is contrary to our fundamental being.

But even we can change the forms of matter, and nature is continually changing its forms without, however, affecting the essence or fundamental basis. If we ask ourselves what is the final essence of matter we immediately perceive our limitations. The tendency today is to say that matter is electrical in its nature, or that it is made up of electrical units, viz., the negative electrons and the positive nucleI which together constitute the atoms.

The atoms can be disintegrated by separation of their electrical units, but that is a change, not a destruction, of matter. If matter be a form, or a condition, of electricity, it is not destroyed when the atoms are torasunder It is also affirmed, as the result of modern theory and experientation, that electricity itself is atomic in constitution, and that what we call electrons are the atoms of electricity. This is generally accepted, largely on the strength of Millikan's experiments in weighing the electric charge corresponding to electrons. There are at present supposed to be the ultimate units of matter, and it is held that they are indivisible. But, even if it should turn out that there are "sub-electrons," we should be no closer to the actual destruction of matter than we were when it was found out that the atom can be taken apart, or disintegrated. The division of ordinary atoms is not the destruction of matter, and no more could be the division of the electrons, or atoms of electricity.

Some say. Everything is at bottom electricity, and there is nothing else. Matter is electrical Energy is electrical. The one thing is electricity, and that is indestructible. At least we cannot conceive any way in which it could be destroyed.

It is not the electron which is supposed to exist 1,700 years, but the atom of radium. The rate at which the radium atoms decay by ejection of electrons is such that a given quantity of radium will evidently be reduced one-half in 1,700 years, and then what remains will be reduced one-half in the next corresponding period and so on. But the decay of the radium is not a destruction of matter, but only a transformation. Various products follow one another, called Radium B, etc., each changing into the next, and the half period of transformation of these is exceedingly short, amounting to less than three years for Radium Emanation and only three minutes for Radium A, 26 minutes for Radium B, 19 minutes for Radium C, then jumping back to 17 years for Radium D, and so on.

In all this chain of changes it is transformation, not destruction of matter that goes on. The forms of matter are shifting; its essential existence, as far as we know, is endless. But these considerations are based entirely on the data of material science. From another, hyper-physical, viewpoint, the whole aspect of the subject changes, and the philosopher may affirm that there is no difficulty whatever in conceiving the entire destruction of matter.

Briefly Told News From The Wires

LONDON—(AP)—The Westminster Gazette's Angora correspondent, J. A. Spender, is most pessimistic over the Anglo-Turkish controversy arising from the Mosul decision. In a dispatch dated Sunday, he says the critical period will begin with the arrival there of Tewfik Rushdi Bey, the Turkish foreign minister, who headed the Turkish delegation at Geneva. He is expected to reach Angora Tuesday.

WAYNESBURG, Pa.—(AP)— Two are dead and two others are not expected to live, as a result, authorities believe, of eating poisoned food. The dead are Charles Thompson, 60, local business man, and Miss Mabel Ward, 27, his housekeeper, while those in the hospital at Charles Pickins, 17, and Elmer Ward, 17, half brothers of Miss Ward.

NEWPORT, Ky.—(AP)—Fire in the commissary building of the Newport Rolling Mills, Sunday resulted in loss estimated at $25,000. Fanned by a high wind, the flames for a time threatened the large plant of the rolling mill, until controlled by the combined fire fighting forces of Newport and Covington.

NEW YORK—(AP)— Unset diamonds valued at $100,000 were stolen Sunday when four men invaded the lower east side jewelry store of Henry Goldberg. The robbers beat the proprietor unconscious, intimidated four prospective customers and escaped in an automobile.

PEKING—(AP)—The battles which led to the defeat of the Chihli army of Gen. Li Ching-Ling and the occupation of Tientsin by Marshal Feng Yu-Hsiang, were the most sanguinary ever fought in modern China, in the opinion of observers. Twenty-three hundred wounded in the Nanyuan hospital alone, represent only a small proportion of the Kuominchun (Feng's army) casualties, whose total probably will never be known.

SHANGHAI —(AP) — Details received here of the collapse of Kuo-Sung-Ling's army in Manchuria, indicate that, finding his troops losing their spirit and because of the bitter cold, shortage of ammunition and medical and other supplies, he decided to stake all oon a powerful offensive. His scouting and reconnaissance work was poor, while Marshal Chang's cavalry and aircraft kept the Manchurian chieftain informed of his adversary's every move .

DES MOINES, Ia.—(AP)— Father F. J. Nugent, 83 years old, for the last forty-two years pastor of Visitation parish here, died late Saturday. He was one of the most widely known Catholic priests and chautauqua lecturers in the middle-west and was an intimate friend of William Jennings Bryan.

WASHINGTON — (AP)— The national board of farm organizations announced last night that its annual mid-winter meeting would be held here February 1, 2 and 3. The board, which was formed in 1917, comprises various agricultural organizations having membership lists totalling 700,000.

NEW YORK—(A.P.)—Replying to the charge of the governor general of Algeria that he carried off four mummies unearthed at Hoggar, despite the rigid regulations of the Algerian government, Count Byron Khun de Prorok declared last night that these objects were in Paris at the disposal of the minister of public instructions and had not been brought to the United States.

SPARKHILL, N. Y.—(A.P.)— Mrs. Ellen Peck, 95 years old, known at one time as "queen of confidence women," was overcome by smoke yesterday in a fire which damaged the small cottage in which she lives alone. A neighbor took her into her home while firemen saved two of her prized possessions, a chair in which Samuel F. B. Morse, inventor of the telegraph, sat when he received word of the success of the first telegraph message and a Bible of the Morses and Noah Webster, bearing signatures from 1,600. Mrs. Peck is a descendant of the Morses and Websters.

WASHINGTON—(A.P.)—A new federal law becoming effective January 1, which will permit establishment tribunals in both domestic and foreign trade to settle business disputes by agreement between the parties concerned and keep many disagreements out of the courts, may, in the opinion of Secretary Hoover and others interested, affect far reaching changes in methods of interstate business.

WHEELING, W. Va.—(A.P.)— Fire of undetermined origin late yesterday destroyed four stores and for a time threatened to wipe out an entire block in Wheeling's business district. Firemen were handicapped in fighting the blaze because of the extremely cold weather. The loss was estimated at about $400,000.

WILLISTON, N. D.—(A.P.)—Fire destroyed an entire business block and threatened most of the business section of the city before it was overcome after a desperate fight in 20 degrees below zero weather Sunday. Loss $150,000. Three people were injured while occupants of five apartments barely escaped the flames.

The worst story I heard was told me today by Earl S. Gwin of Louisville Ky. He is president of the Lincoln Bank and Trust company. Not vice president but president. You know there is a hundred vice presidents of every bank. There is more vice presidents than there is bookkeepers. They have that many so it makes it that much harder to see the president.

Well this Gwin came to call on me with the chief of police of Louisville, who was an old friend of mine. We both, the president of the bank and myself, seemed to have realized the advantage of cultivating friendship with the law. I intended to "lecture" in the town; that's why I wanted the chief as a friend. I don't know what Mr. Gwin intended trying to get away with. Perhaps the entire bank. They generally do. I had just met a lot of his confederates a few days before down in Atalanta.

Well, we all had a nice chat in my rooms. No, I will take that back; in my room, at the wonderful Brown hotel in Louisville. It's a hotel that would be a credit to Claremore, Okla., a town with twice the natural resources of Louisville. The Brown also harbors one of the most genial of managers, which after all is all there is to any hotel. Well, Gwin had a story. Otherwise he was charming.

During the great flood in the Ohio river, a woman called for aid, saying she was destitute and had six children. They helped her, and she came back again in a week saying she had nine children. When the man in charge of the charity called her attention to the discrepancy, she begged his pardon and said that everything was so upset by the flood that the six must have been turned upside down.

Murders, Suicides and Auto Deaths Increase in 1924

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—(AP)—The national death rate in the United States was placed by the commerce department Sunday at 11.9 per 1,000 of population, on the basis of figures for 1924 as compared with 12.3 in 1923, 11.8 in 1922, and 11.6 in 1921.

The figures covered the entire death registration area ofthe country, which accounts for about 88 per cent of the population. The number of deaths registered in this territory was 1,173,990 out of 99,030,494 population.

In another statistical study made public yesterday the department reported further increase in the number of deaths due to automobile accidents in the principal cities of the United States.

The total for the four weeks ending December 5 was 624, compared with 612 in the preceding four weeks, 524 in the period ending October 10, and 521 in the one ending September 12, while in the period ending May 23, the total was only 421.

The daily average of automobile fatalities had been 14.7, while last year for the same period, it was 14.5, but for the four weeks ending December 5 this year it jumped to 16.8.

Both suicides and murders increased, suicides totalling 12,061 in 1924 against 11,287 in 1923 and murders 8,420 against 7,873.

Substitute for Egg From Beef Being Developed

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 28.—(AP)—A new protein food made from beef serum, which has the characteristics of and can be used as a substitute for the white of egg, has been developed by Prof. J. M. M. Bunker in the biological laboratory of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The food, which is made from the globulin and albumin content of beef serum, is produced in the form of a powder. Golden in color, it is odorless and has excellent keeping qualities, it is announced. The discovery was made by vitamin tests and Professor Bunker demonstrated is nutritive value by making it the sole protein in the basal diet of guinea pigs and white rats, which thrived on the food.

Claim "Java Man" A Link In Evolution

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(AP)—The achievements of science in 1925 are increased by three discoveries announced as the year enters its last week.

At Princeton university, Dr. W. B. Scott, paleontologist and geologist, claims to have settled a question that has divided scientists since 1891 by proving that the "Java man" found thirty-four years ago, is a true link in the chain of man's evolution from the lowest forms of life.

Massachusetts Institute of Technology announces one of its professors has discovered a means of making from beef serem a protein food which can be used as a substitute for the white of egg and also provide a cheap waterproofing and adhesive material.

Harvard announces the solution of the ancient mystery of the Mayan calendar. It has been found that the central American Indians of the Sixth century before Christ were excellent astronomers and calculated time by the movements of thep lanet venus.

One of the discoveries at least was developed from the slightest of clues. Dr. Eugene DuBois, a Dutch army surgeon, found part of a skull, a thighbone and two teeth on the banks of the Begwan river in Java in 1891. Discsion as to whether the bone fragments were those of an ape or a true man was begun immediately but for years Dr. Dubois threw a veil of secrecy around his discoveries. A plaster cast of the skull was sent to Princeton recently.

Denounces Plan of Sending Committee Workmen to Russia

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—(A.P.)—President Green of the American federation of labor, in a circular warning to unions throughout the country, made public last night, took note of requests being made public last night, took note of requests being made to local and central organizations to contribute to a fund to be used to send a committee of alleged labor representatives to Russia.

Creation of this committee, he asserted, is being sponsored by "members of the communist organization and those who are in sympathy with communism" for the same purpose "that a committee of communists from Great Britain visited Russia and sought to make the world believe that the soviet government was representative of the people."

"While this agitation is under way," he said, "representatives from the Russian government have banqueted with American bankers and are now sowing the seed of their pernicious doctrine in the capital of our nation. x x x.

"The plan of sending a committee to Russia is not in the interest of the wage earners of the United States or of the people generally; it is in the interest of the few communists who are endeavoring to hold power in Russia, to strengthen that power and to extend its influence throughout the other nations of the world. x x x No loyal trade unionists will give his aid or support to this nefarious scheme."

TWO HURT WHEN CAR GOES OVER

Young Woman Has Both Arms Broken In Accident Near Upland

(Special to The Star.)

UPLAND, Neb., Dec. 28.—Miss Mildred Larson, Upland young woman, received a fracture of both arms, and her father, Walter Larson, Upland business man, sustained bruises and cuts, when the auto in which they were riding from Upland to Minden went into the ditch and tipped over.

The cause of the accident is said to have been a locked steering wheel or some other defect in the steering gear. The front wheels of the car went into the ditch and the winter top on the auto was smashed to pieces. The accident occurred about three miles north of Upland. The auto was driven by W. Peters, of Upland, who was driving the Larsons to Minden to meet a train.

Dragged By Steer And Leg Is Broken

(Special to The Star.)

DILLER, Neb., Dec. 28.—Charles Fisher, farmer living about five miles southwest of Diller, received a broken leg Saturday while trying to rope a steer at his farm. He had succeeded in making the rope fast to the animal, which ran and his feet became entangled in the dangling end of the rope and he was thrown and dragged. The steer passed close to a tree and he was thrown against it and struck his leg. The steer was stopped before the man was dragged to death.

Alliance Man is Robbery Victim

(Special to The Star.)

ALLIANCE, Neb., Dec. 28.—Charles Lingfelt, railroad employe, was held up and robbed of $16 late Saturday night by two men who accosted him just south of the Burlington yards. The men were unmasked. One held a gun on Lingfelt while the other went through his pockets.

Former Resident of Wymore Called

(Special to The Star.)

WYMORE, Neb., Dec. 28.—Word received here announces the death at her home at Greenfield, Iowa, of Mrs. Katherine Miller, on Christmas eve. She was 73 years old and the wife of L. N. Miller, former business man of Wymore. They lived here for ten years prior to 1911, and were former residents of Holdrege and Beatrice. The Millers operated the Franklin, now Van Dorne hotel at Wymore. She was a member of the Wymore chapter P. E. O. and was prominent in the town. Only two days before her death the couple celebrated their fifty-second wedding anniversary, having been married in New York, Dec. 22, 1873.

Pioneer Resident of Wymore Called

(Special to The Star.)

WYMORE, Neb., Dec. 28.—F. M. Fletcher, 80, Civil war veteran, resident of Wymore and vicinity for the past forty-eight years, died at his home here Saturday. He with the wife and seven grown children just last month celebrated the fifty-first wedding anniversary of the couple at the home here, and a year ago celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in the Wymore Community club rooms at a banquet where covers were laid for 150 relatives and guests. Mr. Fletcher was married in Iowa and came to land near the edge of the Otoe Indian reservation, south of what is now Wymore in the early 70s. Lived for a short time near Hebron, and then returned to Gage county, and retired to Wymore 25 years ago, living here continually since.

E. J. Overton, 2306 South Eighth street, was fined $1 and costs Monday morning on a charge of allowing a ladder to extend beyond the rear of his car without carrying a flag. K. Rodmore, 1232 P street, was fined $10 and costs for violating an arterial stop signal.

NEBRASKA TRAIN TO GO TO SOUTH

(Special to The Star.)

ALLIANCE, Neb., Dec. 28.—A large train loaded with products of northwestern Nebraska to go into the south will be assembled by the Burlington at Alliance early in January, it was definitely decided Saturday. The train will consist of one hundred cars. Forty of these will contain seed potatoes of this county, which are much in demand by the southern planters.

The idea of sending such a train south has been under consideration for several weeks. F. L. Taylor, of Denver, assistant agricultural agent, and F. S. Gurley, of Alliance, general superintendent for the Burlington, are making plans for the assembling of the train.

Forty cars will contain sugar from the Platte valley. Box Butte county has enjoyed a banner year in the production of high-grade seed potatoes and the growers have obtained heavy profits.

BRINGS SUIT FOR LARGE DAMAGES

Owner of Building Says That Fire Was Due to Negligence.

(Special to The Star.)

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Dec. 28.—The American Beet Sugar company and Albert Denman, local manager of that corporation, are made defendants in a suit for $100,000 damages which has been instituted in District court here by Richard Goehring. The suit grows out of the fire which occurred here on December 15, 1924, destroying the wholesale house of the Dolan Fruit company and the Ury-Talbert company and badly damaging the Koehler hotel.

The building which was occupied by the wholesale houses was the property of the plaintiff in this action and had been leased by him to the Ury-Talbert company. The latter had subleased a portion to the sugar company, through its local manager.

It is alleged by the plaintiff that the fire resulted from spontaneous combustion in the fresh sugar which had been stored in the basement of the building by the defendants and that the latter, well knowing that new sugar was apt to fire, piled the 30,000 bags so that there was no chance for ventilation. There were no passageways nor sprinkling system, this negligence upon the part of the defendants being directly responsible for the fire.

Oil Dealers At Franklin Suffer Loss From Fire

(Special to The Star.)

FRANKLIN, Neb., Dec. 28.—Fire which started from the backfire of a gasoline engine, caused a loss estimated at $4,000 to the Continental Oil Co., and a loss of about $1,000 to the Franklin Oil and Gas Co. One drum of cylinder oil exploded and blew the can to a height of 200 feet. Onlookers moved back quickly and made way for the Franklin firemen after the explosion. Two supply tanks caught fire but were extinguished after a terrific fight by the firemen.

Farm Hand Sues For Damages For Lost Affection

COLUMBUS, Neb., Dec. 28.—Page Allen, Creston, Neb., farm hand, has brought a $10,000 alienation of affections suit against Budge Clark, 55, hotelman and for many years a leading citizen of Creston. Allen claims Clark gave Mrs. Allen attentions which resulted in their separation two years ago. Clark, who is married and has grown children, denies the allegations.

Block Plans For Drainage System At Grand Island

GRAND ISLAND, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Faced with an injunction proceeding in the district court against further maintaining the present ditch in connection with the drainage system, the city council set about to acquire land for another ditch to Wood river.

The lands were appraised and at a recent session of the council it was voted 6 to 2 to pay the appraised price and acquire the lands. Leo B. Stuhr, Kathrina Windolph and Herman Sass now refused to accept the warrants and file notice of appeal to the district court. The new ditch project was estimated to cost over $100,000.

MINERS, OWNERS MAKE READY FOR NEW CONFERENCE

Both Groups Silent, But Observers Believe Will Reach Agreement.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—Representatives of Anthracite operators and miners were quartered in separate hotels today, preparing programs for a joint meeting tomorrow when another effort will be made to reach a settlement of the controversy which has stopped the output of hard coal since September 1.

While spokesmen for both groups maintained silence as to the basis of the discussion, experienced observers professed optimism as to the outcome. Chief among these was William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, who predicted the strike would be ended in ten days.

Some reports say the miners are prepared to insist that the Pinchot plan be made the basis of negotiations. This plan, to which the operators have objected strenuously heretofore, involves the checkoff, individual workers agree, and an inquiry to determine whether wages can be raised without increasing the cost of coal.

Operators' Plan.

The operators are expected to lay before the conference substantially the proposal outlined in advertisements throughout the mining region: Immediate resumption of work at the wage scale in force when the men laid down their tools and a resumption of conferences on a new contract at the point where they were broken off at Atlantic City.

Miners spokesmen have criticised these advertisements as attempts to prejudice the conference. The miners' spokesmen insist the men will not be stampeded back to work.

Roman Catholic priests who last week sent letters urging settlement to President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers, and Maj. W. W. Inglis, chairman of the operators' committee, yesterday cancelled a meeting proposed for Wednesday at which priests of the non-English speaking congregations of the anthracite region were to "take drastic action."

They issued another letter to the two leaders, reiterating the assertion that the large majority of miners hoped for an early settlement.

Pinchot Gratified.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—Governor Pinchot, in a statement today expressed gratification at the resumption of negotiations between the anthracite operators and miners and declared the negotiations should produce a settlement not only just to the operators and miners, but one which will give the public coal without an increased price.

DOUBT VALUE ARMS MEETING

ROME, Dec. 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—Italy's realistic policy in foreign affairs is being again thrown into relief by a long and apparently inspired article published by the Messagero on the forthcoming arms conference. Casting grave doubts upon the practical value of such a meeting, the article declares it is impossible to accept a reduction or limitation of armaments which "definitely sanctions the superiority of one nation over others."

"If it is desired seriously to guarantee world peace," the paper continues, "the basis of the problem must be changed, substituting for limitation and equality of armaments. This does not mean that China or Uruguay should have navies equal to that of Great Britain, but simply that the latter should not be superior to that of Italy or France."

The Messagero places in significant juxtaposition the news of America's participation in the conference and the recent recommendations of the United States war department to congress for a notable increase in the armed forces of the United States.

Emphasis on U. S. Plans.

It places particular emphasis upon the program calling for increased fortification of the Panama canal and the establishment of a naval base of Pearl Harbor.

After outlining the recommendations, the paper says that what would warrant such a program is incomprehensible and adds:

"Nobody thinks of attacking the United States or bringing into the discussion the principles of the Monroe Doctrine; certainly not Japan, which after the earthquake and other calamities has been forced to reduce, at least for many years, her naval program."

Firm Distributes Toy Trucks — Several of the married men in State Engineer Cochran's office were helped out on the cost of Christmas toys for their youngsters by receiving small rubber-tired and disc-wheeled models of trucks and trailers from the company which manufactures those vehicles. The models were just the right size for playthings, and the men did the obvious thing by taking them home and giving them to the children.

Trade Conditions During November Show Improvement

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Production, prices and trade affecting most commodities in November were declared by the federal reserve board Sunday to have been satisfactory.

Wholesale and retail trade, while less voluminous than during October, was shown to have been better than during November last year while output of basic industries moved in a like direction.

Outstanding volume of bank credits showed a tendency to increase toward the end of the month bringing firmer interest rates. Prices changed only negligibly in most lines.

ELGIN CRASH MAY TOTAL A MILLION

Hundreds Said to Have Lost Savings in Scheme of Rippberger.

ELGIN, Ill., Dec. 28.—I. N. S.—New revelations were expected today in the Charles Rippberger crash of Elgin, in which $675,000 is be accounted for, with the total perhaps going over $1,000,000.

Hundreds, most of them in moderate circumstances, are said to have lost their savings in what investigators term one of the most amazing financial schemes since the days of Ponzi. Rippberger, it is charged, kept books in his cuffs, in scraps of paper and, at times, none at all. Hundreds of notes, termed by officials the most clumsy of forgeries, are being unearthed. The firm was an old one and for years had the confidence of the community.

Many of the alleged victims are from Elgin and that section of Illinois, but there are many investors in both the Dakotas and Iowa, so the lists officers have discovered.

While Kane county auditors were checking the accounts of the defunct company of which Walter Rippberger, youthful head of the concern, is in jail charged with forgery, a search was being made for an unidentified woman in whom Rippberger was said to have been interested.

Rippberger is in jail at Geneva in default of $25,000 and he has announced his intentions of remaining there until February rather than face the people of his community who made investments with him.

The sudden failure of the apparently solid and conservative company had thrown hundreds of investors and property owners into a panic, and the populace of Elgin is regarding the crash as a community tragedy.

Of the many specific cases, a typical one is two notes bearing the names of L. E. Cripp and Lucile Bowmann. Mrs. Ella Watson, a close friend of the Rippberger family and a leading prohibition worker, said she bought the notes from Walter and that they were pronounced forgeries when she tried to discount them at the Union National bank.

Rippberger himself was a leader in prohibition circles in his section. In addition to Mrs. Watson, his dry associate, several employes of the firm declared they had bought notes which later were termed forgeries by banks.

M'CLINTOCK CASE CALLED IN COURT

W. D. Shepherd, Once Accused of "Germ" Murder, Fights for Estate.

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—I. N. S.—William Darling Shepherd, acquitted of the "germ murder" of his millionaire orphan ward, "Billy" McClintock, came back into the spotlight today as his fight for McClintock's estate was called in Circuit court.

Shepherd's claim is based upon a will made by young McClintock when he came of age a few month's before he died of typhoid fever, which the estate charged in Shepherd's trial had resulted from the inoculation of germs with murderous intent.

Cousins of McClintock are seeking to break the will which left them nothing but provided an $8,000 annuity for the young millionaire's fiancee, Miss Isabelle Pope. In previous skirmishes, Miss Pope has been aligned with the cousins, who charged "undue" influence on Shepherd's part.

Pinch of Strike Felt in East as Cold Spell Hits

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Temperatures near zero throughout the east yesterday brought hard coal consumers, particularly those with empty bins to a realization of the seriousness of the anthracite strike, now in its seventeenth week, while various substitutes were being used.

Reports of suffering among the poorer classes were numerous. Temperatures ranging from 5 above zero to 5 below were recorded in many sections of Pennsylvania.

In some cases the idle miners themselves were forced to scurry around for wood, kerosene and gas stoves to keep themselves and their families warm.

CHICAGO—(A.P.)—By an outlay averaging approximately $1,000,000 a day, Chicago erected enough new residences and apartment buildings in 1925 to house 250,000 persons. The city building commissioner said last night that it was a record year in construction of residences.

BUTLER RECALLS RESIGNATION AS MARINE OFFICER

Brigadier, Ousted as Philadelphia Safety Director, Back in Fold.

Although the leave under which he had been serving as director of public safety of Philadelphia would not expire until December 31, General Butler immediately reported for duty.

He will return to Philadelphia for a few days to arrange his private affairs and then come back to Washington. Late in January he will go to San Diego to take command of the marine base there.

Says Didn't Bluff Him.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—Brig. General Smedley D. Butler, in his own words, has issued his "last blast" and this morning was in Washington trying to get back into the marines from which he resigned shortly before being dismissed last Wednesday by Mayor W. Freeland Kendrick as safety director of Philadelphia.

He left Pittsburgh late last night after delivering an address in which he "flayed" the political "bosses" of Philadelphia, gave his version of why he was "fired," described the Quaker city as a cesspool and declared that "because the gang got me fired, they didn't bluff me."

The general, in his address delivered before a law enforcement rally, declared that Mayor Kendrick was "all right."

"He is just in a jam, that's all. I've hard feelings toward him or anybody else. It is just a war and unfortunately it came to the stage where I was not willing any longer to carry on my shoulders the stigma of not enforcing the law on rich and poor, big and little, all alike. I was determined not to get out of Philadelphia until some of the big fellows were hit. It is easy to go around and grab the little former saloon keeper but there is a big difference between him and sitting at a $5,000,000 hotel.

City a "Cesspool."

"What are you going to do about it?" the general said was probably the natural question of his audience. "I say to you in Philadelphia you have a cesspool, and if necessary you should pass laws to take the city government away from them until they know how to use it.

"On one side you have five or six million dollars for corruption in Philadelphia and on the other side to fight it you have 200,000 begrudgingly given by council."

He said his staff was not so much interested in trying to save the people, but in trying to get a square deal for the police, because the people did not want to be saved, and "the people in a republican form of government either get what they want or get what they deserve, and these people in Philadelphia are either getting what they want or what they deserve."

Briefly Told News From The Wires

MENTONE, France.—(A.P.)—Jules Patenotre, former French ambassador at Washington, died Sunday.

CHICAGO.—(A.P.)—Robert Henderson, one of the youngest drummer boys to serve in the Civil war, died here Sunday at the age of 76. He enlisted with the Ninth Michigan infantry when ten years old and served throughout the war.

DES MOINES, Ia.—(A.P.)—An agricultural marketing plan, such as the one advocated by the Coolidge administration, will never help the present intolerable situation on the farm until discriminating laws governing the credit system, transportation rates and government subsidies are amended, declared Senator Smith W. Brookhart, on his arrival from Washington here last night to attend the farm conference of Iowa bankers, business men, farm organization leaders and legislators, which is called for Tuesday.

BREWERIES FAR BEST.

BERLIN, Dec. 28.—(AP)—The breweries fared the best financially among Germany's industrial enterprises during the year just coming to a close, according to an analysis of the dividends declared thus far. The brewery dividends averaged 12 per cent, with a maximum of 20, which is unusual in an admittedly poor business year. The average dividend for the banks was 5 per cent and for the street railways 6.

Resignation Of Wise Becomes Foremost Topic

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(AP)—The controversy among Jewish leaders over the speech of Rabbi Stephen S. Wise last Sunday in which he said that Jesus of Nazareth was not a myth but a man, and that the Jews must embrace his teachings, was the foremost topic Sunday in Jewish religious circles.

While Dr. Nathan Krass of Temple Emmanuel in a sermon before his congregation upheld the right of Dr. Wise to his personal opinions concerning Jesus, the national headquarters of the United Palestine Appeal announced that scores of telegrams were being received from all parts of the country in protest against the resignation of Dr. Wise as chairman of the $5,000,000 campaign which is being conducted.

The announcement said that the rabbis of the orthodox synagogues joined with other Zionists leaders in urging the executive committee of the campaign to refuse to accept Dr. Wise's resignation, which he tendered on the ground that it might be to the interest of the appeal if he withdrew. The messages also criticised the resolution of the Union of Orthodox Rabbis urging the chairman's resignation, the announcement said.

Samuel Untermyer, president of the Palestine foundation fund, one of the bodies engaged in the campaign, came out in support of Dr. Wise in a letter containing assurances that he would "vote and use whatever influence I may possess against accepting your resignation."

FEAR RUSSIA IS MOVING ON INDIA

LONDON, Dec. 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—A report from Afghanistan that Russian troops have made an unprovoked attack upon and captured the Afghan post of Darkhod, or Drakud, has aroused concern here.

In official circles it is believed if the report proves true the action of the Russians will be regarded as a significant step toward realization of a movement which Russia is alleged to be secretly making toward India.

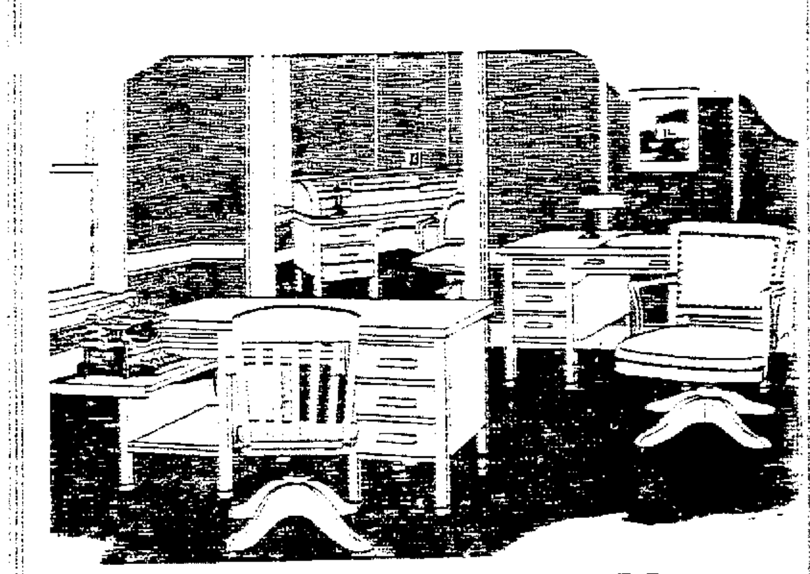

Stories of attempts by Russia to gain possession of Afghanistan, with a view to advancing through that country to India, once caused excitement. Diplomatic arrangements, however, brought the scares to an end in 1907, after which, until the bolshevik revolution in 1917, the bogey of a Russian menace to Afghanistan and India had not reared its head.

Since the revolution Russia's central Asiatic provinces which adjoin Afghanistan have become soviet republics within the Russian federation. Reports have been constantly received of Moscow's intention to carry through these territories communistic propaganda to the masses in India, with a view to creating that revolution which Russian public men declare is the ambition of the great soviet republic.

TWO HURT WHEN CAR GOES OVER

Young Woman Has Both Arms Broken In Accident Near Upland

(Special to The Star.)

UPLAND, Neb., Dec. 28.—Miss Mildred Larson, Upland young woman, received a fracture of both arms, and her father, Walter Larson, Upland business man, sustained bruises and cuts, when the auto in which they were riding from Upland to Minden went into the ditch and tipped over.

The cause of the accident is said to have been a locked steering wheel, or some other defect in the steering gear. The front wheels of the car went into the ditch and the winter top on the auto was smashed to pieces. The accident occurred about three miles north of Upland. The auto was driven by W. Patero, of Upland, who was driving the Larsons to Minden to meet a train.

Dragged By Steer And Leg Is Broken

(Special to The Star.)

DILLER, Neb., Dec. 28.—Charles Fisher, farmer living about five miles southwest of Diller, received a broken leg Saturday while trying to rope a steer at his farm. He had succeeded in making the rope fast to the animal, which ran and his feet became entangled in the dangling end of the rope and he was thrown and dragged. The steer passed close to a tree and he was thrown against it and struck his leg. The steer was stopped before the man was dragged to death.

NEBRASKA TRAIN TO GO TO SOUTH

(Special to The Star.)

ALLIANCE, Neb., Dec. 28.—A large train loaded with products of northwestern Nebraska to go into the south will be assembled by the Burlington at Alliance early in January, it was definitely decided Saturday. The train will consist of one hundred cars. Forty of these will contain seed potatoes of this county, which are much in demand by the southern planters.

The idea of sending such a train south has been under consideration for several weeks. F. L. Taylor, of Denver, assistant agricultural agent, and F. G. Gurley, of Alliance. General superintendent for the Burlington, are making plans for the assembling of the train.

Forty cars will contain sugar from the Platte valley. Box Butte county has enjoyed a banner year in the production of high-grade seed potatoes and the growers have obtained heavy profits.

BRINGS SUIT FOR LARGE DAMAGES

Owner of Building Says That Fire Was Due to Negligence.

(Special to The Star.)

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Dec. 28.—The American Beet Sugar company and Albert Denman, local manager of that corporation, are made defendants in a suit for $100,000 damages which has been instituted in District court here by Richard Goehring. The suit grows out of the fire which occurred here on December 15, 1924, destroying the wholesale house of the Dolan Fruit company and the Ulry-Talbert company and badly damaging the Koehler hotel.

The building which was occupied by the wholesale houses was the property of the plaintiff in this action and had been leased by him to the Ulry-Talbert company. The latter had subleased a portion to the sugar company, through its local manager.

It is alleged by the plaintiff that the fire resulted from spontaneous combustion in the fresh sugar which had been stored in the basement of the building by the defendants and that the latter, well knowing that new sugar was apt to fire, piled the 30,000 bags so that there was no chance for ventilation. There were no passageways nor sprinkling system, this negligence upon the part of the defendants being directly responsible for the fire.

Oil Dealers At Franklin Suffer Loss From Fire

(Special to The Star.)

FRANKLIN, Neb., Dec. 28.—Fire which started from the backfire of a gasoline engine, caused a loss estimated at $4,000 to the Continental Oil Co., and a loss of about $1,000 to the Franklin Oil and Gas Co. MINERS, OWNERS MAKE READY FOR NEW CONFERENCE

Both Groups Silent, But Observers Believe Will Reach Agreement.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—Representatives of Anthracite operators and miners were quartered in separate hotels today, preparing programs for a joint meeting tomorrow when another effort will be made to reach a settlement of the controversy which has stopped the output of hard coal since September 1.

While spokesmen for both groups maintained silence as to the basis of the discussion, experienced observers professed optimism as to the outcome. Chief among these was William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, who predicted the strike would be ended in ten days.

Some reports say the miners are prepared to insist that the Pinchot plan be made the basis of negotiations. This plan, to which the operators have objected strenuously heretofore, involves the checkoff of individual workers agree, and an inquiry to determine whether wages can be raised without increasing the cost of coal.

Operators' Plan.

The operators are expected to lay before the conference substantially the proposal outlined in advertisements throughout the mining region: Immediate resumption of work at the wage scale in force when the men laid down their tolls and a resumption of conferences on a new contract at the point where they were broken off at Atlantic City.

Miners spokesmen have criticised these advertisements as attempts to prejudice the conference. The miners' spokesmen insist the men will not be stampeded back to work.

Roman Catholic priests who last week sent letters urging settlement to President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers, and Maj. W. W. Inglis, chairman of the operator's committee, yesterday cancelled a meeting proposed for Wednesday at which priests of the non-English speaking congregations of the anthracite region were to "take drastic action."

They issued another letter to the two leaders, reiterating the assertion that the large majority of miners hoped for an early settlement.

Pinchot Gratified.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—Governor Pinchot, in a statement today expressed gratification at the resumption of negotiations between the anthracite operators and miners and declared the negotiations should produce a settlement not only just to the operators and miners, but one which will give the public coal without an increased price.

DOUBT VALUE ARMS MEETING

ROME, Dec. 28.—((By the Associated Press.)—Italy's realistic policy in foreign affairs is being again thrown into relief by a long and apparently inspired article published by the Messagaro on the forthcoming arms conference. Casting grave doubts upon the practical value of such a meeting, the article declares it is impossible to acept a reduction or limitation of armaments, which "definitely sanctions the superiority of one nation over others."

"If it is desired seriously to guarantee world peace," the paper confinues, "the basis of the problem must be changed, substituting for limitation and equality of armaments. This does not mean that China or Uruguay should have navies equal to that of Great Britain, but simply that the latter should not be superior to that of Italy or France.

The Messagaro places in significant juxtaposition the news of America's participation in the conference and the recent recommendations of the United States war department to congress for a notable increase in the armed forces of the United States.

Emphasis on U. S. Plans.

It places particular emphasis upon the program calling for increased fortification of the Panama canal and the establishment of a naval base of Pearl Harbor.

After outlining the recommendations, the paper says that what would warrant such a progress is incomprehensible and adds:

"Nobody thinks of attacking the United States or bringing into the discusion the principles of the Monroe Doctrine; certainly not Japan, which after the earthquake and other calamities has been forced to reduce, at least for many years, her naval program."

Trade Conditions During November Show Improvement

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Production, prices and trade affecting most commodities in November were declared by the federal reserve board Sunday to have been satisfactory.

Wholesale and retail trade, while less voluminous than during October, was shown to have been better than during November last year, while output of basic industries moved in a like direction.

Outstanding volume of bank credits showed a tendency to increase toward the end of the month, bringing firmer interest rates. Prices changed only negligibly in most lines.

ELGIN CRASH MAY TOTAL A MILLION

Hundreds Said to Have Lost Savings in Scheme of Rippberger.

ELGIN, Ill., Dec. 28.—(I. N. S.)—New revelatione were expected today in the Charles Rippberger Co., crash of Elgin, in which $675,000 is be accounted for, with the total perhaps going over $1,000,000.

Hundreds, most of them in moderate circumstances, are said to have lost their savings in what investigators term one of the most amazing financial schemes since the days of Ponzi. Rippberger, it is charged, kept books on his cuffs, on scraps of paper and, at times, none at all. Hundreds of notes, termed by officials the most clumsy of forgeries, are being unearthed. The firm was an old one and for years had the confidence of the entire community.

Many of the alleged victims are from Elgin and that section of Illinois, but there are many investors in both the Dakotas and Iowa on the lists officers have discovered.

While Kane county auditors were checking the accounts of the defunct companly of which Walter Rippberger, youthful head of the concern, is in jail charged with forgery, a search was being made for an unidentified woman in whom Rippberger was said to have been interested.

Rippberger is in jail at Geneva in default of $10,000 and he has announced his intentitons of remaining there until February rather than face the people of his community who made investments with him.

The sudden failure of the apparently solid and conservative company had thrown hundreds of investors and property owners into a panic, and the populace of Elgin is regarding the crash as a community tragedy.

Of the many specific cases, a typical one is two notes bearing the names of L. E. Cropp and Cecile Bowmann. Mrs. Ella Watson, a close friend of the Rippgerger family and a leading prohibition worker, said she bought the notes from Walter and that they were pronounced forgeries when she tried to discount them at the Union National bank.

Rippberger himself was a leader in prohibition circles in his section. In addition to Mrs. Watson, his dry associate, several employes of the firm declared they had bought notes which later were termed forgeries by banks.

M'CLINTOCK CASE CALLED IN COURT

W. D. Shepherd, Once Accused of "Germ" Murder, Fights for Estate.

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—(I. N. S.)—William Darling Shepherd, acquitted of the "germ murder" of his millionaire ophan ward, "Billy" McClintock, came back into the spotlight today as his fight for McClintock's estate was called in Circuit court.

Shepherd's claim is based upon a will made by young McClintock when he came of age a few month's before he died of typhoid fever, which the estate charged in Shepherd's trial had resulted from the inoculation of germs with murderous intent.

Cousins of McClintock are seeking to break the will which left them nothing but provided an $8,000 annuity for the young millionaire's fiancee, Miss Isabelle Pope. In previous skirmishes, Miss Pope has been aligned with the cousins, who charged "undue" influence on Shepherd's part.

Pinch of Strike Felt in East as Cold Spell Hits

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Temperaturess near zero throughout the east yesterday brought hard coal consumers, particularly those with empty bins to a realization of the seriousness of the anthracite strike, now in its seventeenth week, while various substitutes were being used.

Reports of suffering among the poorer classes were numerous. Temperatures ranging from 5 above zero to 5 below were recorded in many sections of Pennsylvania.

In some cases the idle miners themselves were forced to scurry around for wood, kerosene and gas stoves to keep themselves and their families warm.

CHICAGO—(A.P.)—By an outlay averaging approximately $1,000,000 a day, Chicago erected enough new residences and apartment buildings in 1925 to house 200,000 persons. The city building commissioner said last night that it was a record year in construction of residences.

BUTLER RECALLS RESIGNATION AS MARINE OFFICER

Brigadier, Ousted as Philadelphia Safety Director, Back in Fold.

Although the leave under which he had been serving as director of public safety of Philadelphia would not expire until December 31, General Butler immediately reported for duty.

He will return to Philadelphia for a few days to arrange his private affairs and then come back to Washington. Late in January he will go to San Diego to take command of the marine base there.

Says Didn't Bluff Him.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—Brig. General Smedley D. Butler, in his own words, has issued his "last blast" and this morning was in Washington trying to get back into the marines from which he resigned shortly before being dismissed last Wednesday by Mayor W. Freeland Kendrick as safety director of Philadelphia.

He left Pittsburgh late last night after delivering an address in which he "flayed" the political "bosses" of Philadelphia, gave his version of why he was "fired," described the Quaker city as a cesspool and declared that "because the gang got me fired, they didn't bluff me."

The general, in his address delivered before a law enforcement rally, declared that Mayor Kendrick was "all right."

"He is just in a jam, that's all. No hard feelings toward him or anybody else. It is just a war and unfortunately it came to the stage where I was not willing any longer to carry on my shoulders the stigma of not enforcing the law on rich and poor, big and little, all alike. I was determined not to get out of Philadelphia until some of the big fellows were hit. It is easy to go around and grab the little corner saloon keeper, but there is a big difference between him and hitting at a $5,000,000 hotel.

City a "Cesspool."

"What are you going to do about it?" the general said was probably he natural question of his audience.

"I say to you in Philadelphia you have a cesspool and if necessary you should pass laws to take the city government away from them until they know how to use it.

"On one side you have five or six million dollars for corruption in Philadelphia and on the other side to fight it you have $20,000 begrudgingly given by council."

He said his staff was not so much interested in trying to save the people, but in trying to get a square deal for the police, because the people did not want to be saved, and "the people in a republican form of government either get what they want or get what they deserve, and these people in Philadelphia are either getting what they want or what they deserve."

Briefly Told News From The Wires

CHICAGO—(A.P.)—Robert Hendershot, one of the youngest drummer boys to serve in the Civil war, died here Sunday at the age of 76. He enlisted with the Ninth Michigan volunteers when ten years old and served throughout the war.

DES MOINES, Ia.—(A.P.)—An agricultural marketing plan, such as the one advocated by the Coolidge administration, will never help the present intolerable situation on the farm until discriminating laws governing the credit system, transportation rates and government subsidies, are amended, declared Senator Smith W. Brookhart, on his arrival from Washington here last night to attend the farm conference of Iowa bankers, business men, farm organization leaders and legislators, which is called for Tuesday.

BREWERIES FAR BEST.

BERLIN, Dec. 28.—(AP)—The breweries fared the best financially among Germany's industrial enterprises during the year just coming to a close, according to an analysis of the dividends declared thus far. The brewery dividends averaged 12 per cent, with a maximum of 20, which is unusual in an amittedly poor business year. The average dividend for the banks was 8 per cent and for the street railways 6.

It certainly does heal eczema

The speed with which Resinol Ointment usually stops itching and burning and heals eczema and similar eruptions is a revelation to skin sufferers. When they find that the first application of this soothing ointment relieves the discomfort and makes the skin look clearer and healthier, it seems too good to be true.

If you have some tormenting, unsightly eruption why not get rid of it by giving your skin a few treatments with

Resignation Of Wise Becomes Foremost Topic

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(AP) — The controversy among Jewish leaders over the speech of Rabbi Stephen S. Wise last Sunday in which he said that Jesus of Nazareth was not a myth, but a man, and that the Jews must embrace his teachings, was the foremost topic Sunday in Jewish religious circles.

While Dr. Nathan Krass of Temple Emmanuel in a sermon before his congregation upheld the right of Dr. Wise to his personal opinions concerning Jesus, the national headquarters of the United Palestine Appeal announced that scores of telegrams were bing received from all parts of the country in protest against the resignation of Dr. Wise as chairman of the $5,000,000 campaign which is being conducted.

The announcement said that the rabbis of the orthodox synagogues joined with other Zionists leaders in urging the executive committee of the campaign to refuse to accept Dr. Wise's resignation, which he tendered on the ground that it might be to the interest of the appeal if he withdrew. The messages also criticized the resolution of the Union of Orthodox Rabbis urging the chairman's resignation, the announcement said.

Samuel Untermyer, president of the Palestine foundation fund, one of the bodies engaged in the campaign, came out in support of Dr. Wise in a letter containing assurances that he would "vote and use whatever influence I may possess against accepting your resignation."

FEAR RUSSIA IS MOVING ON INDIA

LONDON, Dec. 28.—(By the Associated Press)—A report from Afghanistan that Russian troops have made an unprovoked attack upon and captured the Afghan post of Darkbod, or Drakad, has aroused concern here.

In offical circles it is believed if the report proves true the action of the Russians will be regarded as a significant step toward realization of a movement which Russia is alleged to be secretly making toward India.

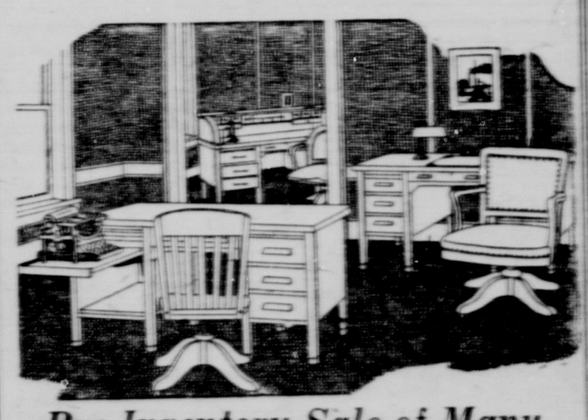

Stories of attempts by Russia to gain possession of Afghanistan, with a view to advancing through that country to India, once caused excitment. Diplomatic arrangements, however, brought the scares to an end in 1907, after which, until the bolshevik revolution in 1917, the bogey of a Russian menace to Afghanistan and India had not reared its head.

Since the revolution Russia's central Asiatic provinces which adjoin Afghanistan have become soviet republics within the Russian federation. Reports have been constantly received of Moscow's intention to carry through these territories communistic propaganda to the masses in India, with a view to creating that revolution which Russia public men declare is the ambition of the great soviet republic.

Coaches Deplore Grange Case, But Red Gets Coin

COACHES GATHER TO SAY REGRETS

Intend to State Their Case, Although Stating It May Bring No Change.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(I. N. S.)—In the rather superfluous hope that the Grange incident never will be repeated, intercollegiate football will spend the next sixty hours declaring itself on the subject of professionalism and attempting to draft punitive measures against money players and the game that supports them. The first step will be taken today at the annual meeting of the football coaches' association at the Hotel Pennsylvania. It won't amount to anything.

Subsequently, the national collegiate athletic association, which really can stimulate action, will take up the subject at its annual meeting Wednesday and a debate has been scheduled. Maj. J. L. Griffith of the Western conference, will advocate his program of chastisement for the pro, just for the sake of argument, so to speak. Professor Folsom of the University of Colorado is down on the books to take the negative side.

"PRO" MAGNATE HAS PLAN.

However, when the last voice is stilled, it will remain for the "pros" themselves to alter conditions, if at all. Tim Mara, one of the owners of the New York Giants franchise, has advocated that the professional league decline to do business with any college player until his class has graduated.

Like breathing and wife-beating, it seems to be something that a man has to do for himself. The "pros" can change the conditions. The colleges merely can pass resolutions and issue threats of reprisals.

The coaches, being a type of professional and having no legislative standing, can only offer suggestions. These are listened to with bland tolerance by the association, which then proceeds to go ahead and do what it pleases.

SOUR ON GRANGE INCIDENT.

However, some interesting conversations may be expected today. The president of the coaches' association is Bob Zuppke of Illinois and it is known that he feels very bitterly over the decision of Red Grange, his self-made star, to go over to professional football without completing his college course. He and the other coaches declare they are determined that it shall not happen again. They probably have exercised themselves unduly.

There is not likely to be another Grange for twenty years. Advertised beyond reason, he enjoyed a complex for making himself sensational and, in consequence, his box office value was too good to keep until the following fall.

SOON BACK TO NORMAL.

When the excitement dies down, professional football will return to normal. So will professional salaries, which Grange unwittingly inflated all along the line.

When that happens, the colleges can forget the incident. Collegiate football occupies one niche, professional football another, and there seems to be room at the box office for both.

East-West Game Made Neat Profit

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—(I. N. S.)—Receipts of the benefit football game between all-star teams representing the east and west, played here Saturday, amounted to $55,000, it was announced today by Hugh L. McKewitt, imperial potentate of Islam temple Shriners. Of this amount, $30,000 will be given to the Shriners' crippled children's hospital.

Finland's Champ Plans Attack On Skating Records

NEWSBURGH, N. Y., Dec. 28.—(I. N. S.)—World's records are expected to fall New Year's day when Clas Thunberg of Finland, the Olympic distance skating champion, will make his first start against the American field in the middle Atlantic championships. Thunberg announced today that he hoped to better the existing records at intermediate distance between two and four miles. Among his most dangerous opponents will be Joe Moore and Paul Forsman of New York, respective champions in 1925 and 1924; Valentine Bialis, member of the American Olympic team, and Charles Gorman, the speed demon who represented Canada in the last Olympic games.

DRAKE BIDS FOR ONE MORE GAME

Bulldogs' 1926 Grid Slate Has Open Date; Coach Seeks Contest.

DES MOINES, Ia., Dec 28.—It was learned here today that one of the objects in Coach Ossie Solem's going to attend the annual football coaches' meeting in New York City this week was to secure a formidable gridiron foe for the Bulldogs next year on the only date left open on the local card.

Meet Huskers in Lincoln.

So far the Bulldogs have scheduled games with Notre Dame at South Bend, Nebraska at Lincoln, and Iowa State at Ames, while in the Drake stadium the Blue and White will oppose Mississippi university, Oklahoma university, Kansas university and Grinnell.

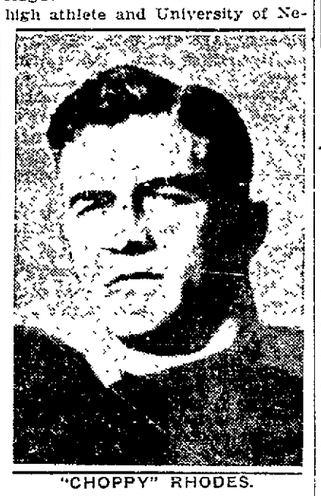

The encounter with the Pioneers will be the first home game on Thanksgiving day that the Bulldogs have played in a number of years.

MASKED PLAY BY NEBRASKA STAR

"Choppy" Rhodes Tricked His Friends by Secret Marriage Aug. 18.

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 28.—John "Choppy" Rhodes pulled a trick play on his friends and admirers August 18 when the former Ainsley high athlete and University of Nebraska football hero was married to Miss Majorie Crichton of Omaha.

"CHOPPY" RHODES.

Miss Crichton was visiting friends in Auburn, Neb., while "Choppy" was pitching hay, carrying ice and otherwise getting in trim for the football season. One bright afternoon "Choppy" faked a plunge at an alfalfa stack and then sneaked around end to obtain a marriage license—it was a masked play, so well masked in fact, that none knew of it until Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes decided to announce the fact to friends here yesterday.

"Choppy" and his bride are visiting with Mrs. Rhodes' parents in Omaha during the holidays. It is understood in Omaha that "Choppy" is to be a member of the Cornhusker coaching staff in Lincoln next fall, cooperating with Owen Frank in tutoring the backfield.

Top-Notchers Of Glove Sport Due To Show Tonight

NEW YORK, Dec. 28—(I. N. S.)—Two bouts that may have an effect upon the championship situation in as many divisions will be decided at the Broadway arena, Brooklyn, tonight.

In the first of these, Joe Glick, who halted the sensational career of Honey Boy Finnegan of Boston will meet Billy Kennedy of New Orleans over the twelve-round distance. Glick is shooting at a bout with Tod Morgan, the new junior lightweight champion.

Stribling Invades New York.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(I. N. S.)—W. L. "Young" Stribling, Georgia contender for the light-heavyweight title, was expected to arrive in town today, accompanied by his bride. The Striblings are on their honeymoon.

Stribling met Paul Berlenbach, the present holder of the light heavyweight title, several months ago, the bout resulting in a draw after six rounds. The Georgia flash, however, has attained his majority in the meantime and can box at the championship limit of fifteen rounds in this state.

Nebraska Squad To Kansas City

Coach Ernest E. Bearg and twelve members of the University of Nebraska basketball squad left Sunday night for Kansas City where they will stage a week's practice on the K. C. A. C. court and wind up the week in a Saturday game with the Kansas City Athletic club team.

BRIGHT OUTLOOK FOR DOANE TEAM

CRETE, Neb., Dec. 28.—Doane college basketball athletes are expecting to cut considerable figure in the Nebraska college cage race this season. The decisive victory of the Doane collegians over the University of South Dakota in the opening game of the season has whetted the basketball appetite of Crete fans and the locals are awaiting the start of the cage season with keen interest.

Coach Ward Havlett has six letter men on the Doane squad. C. E. Bayer of Crete, forward, is a three-year veteran. Two-year men are Captain Kubicek, Wilber, and F. W. Weitzel, forwards; G. E. Parker, Crete, and E. J. Ablott, Clay Center, centers; C. L. Sanderson, Clay Center, guard.

Water Meet At "Y" New Year's

The annual New Year's Y. M. C. A. swimming meet will be held at the Lincoln association Friday at 10 a. m. Medals will be awarded swimmers breaking 1925 New Year's records and ribbons will be awarded first and second place winners.

Earl Johnson will be official starter. Judges will be F. Madgett, Frank Adkins, Floyd Gaulsch.

Junior events are four-man relay, 40-yard free style, 100-yard breast stroke, 220-yard free style, 10-yard back stroke, 100-yard free style. Senior events are 4-man relay, 40-yard free style, 220-yard breast stroke, 220-yard free style, 100-yard breast stroke, 100-yard free style.

Russian Grappler On Stecher's Trail

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Ivan Poddubny, Russian wrestler, hopes to take another step tonight towards a world's championship meeting with Joe Stecher of Nebraska, present holder of the title. He will meet Angelo Taramaschi of Italy in a finish bout.

Lincoln Getting Ready For Clash With Clay Center

The Lincoln high basketball five will complete preparations during the week for the cage contest with Clay Center next Saturday and Coach W. H. Browne's squad will enter the game in excellent condition. The game will be played on the Whittier junior high court on Twenty-second and Vine streets, and will get under way at 7.30.

The Red and Black lineup for the affair will include Witte, Sawyer, and Morrison, forwards; Fisher and Karnes, centers; Speidell, Koster and McCarthy, guards. These men are the same that handed the Benedict high quintet a 26 to 15 defeat last Wednesday on the Benedict floor.

Between thirty and forty candidates for the first team have been reporting for practice at the Whittier gym the past week, but it is expected that this number will decrease this week, as Coach Browne plans to choose his regular lineup in the next five days.

Seven Teams In Industrial Loop

The Y. M. C. A. Industrial basketball league will feature some wast competition this season. Seven teams have already enrolled and eigth squad is expected to be signed before the season opens. The teams rosters:

Lincoln Telephones—Alfred Odell, Everald Dempsey, H. F. McCulla, R. E. Mattison, jr., Ted Brown, C. W. Keester, Lloyd E. Jenkins, Frank A. Byrum, Melvin Lahr, R. G. Nehe, W. P. Shuck, Ralph R. Fowler, Frank P. Lutz, Joe Miller, Jr.

DEMPSEY IN CONDITION TO DO HIS STUFF AS CHAMPION

Gus Wilson, Trainer for Title-Holder, Declares Jack in Better Physical Trim Today Than at Any Previous Time in His Career; Absence From Ring Not a Handicap to Heavyweight King.

BY FRANK G. MENKE.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 28.—An iron pipe, loaded with sand, deprived the boxing game of a probable champion—and then made of him one of the greatest trainers in the world.

The story concerns Gus Wilson. Along about the age of 14, Gus, of French descent, but a resident of Alsace, then a German state, tired of life in the old home town, "hocked" his watch and used the proceeds in a runaway to London. Arriving there, he found that there were more applicants than jobs that he could fill and discarded the notion of becoming a king of finance, an emperor of commerce or the high potentate of politics.

Hit With Iron Pipe.

"But I did notice a sign that said something about a boxing contest and so I hunted up the promoter," relates Gus. "He agreed to give me a chance that night if one or another of the bantams who were carded didn't show up. One of them didn't. I went on in his place. I didn't know much about the technique of boxing, but I could hit.

"So I hit the other fellow in the first round—and that fight was over. My reward was 10 shillings."

Through the next two months Gus fought nine fights, mostly in clubs in the Whitechapel district. He knocked out nine men in a row. The eighth fellow didn't like it very much. So as Gus was coming out of the building after his ninth victory, the victim of the eighth knockout, having hidden behind a door, swung an iron pipe and fractured the skull of Gus Wilson.

LANDED JOB AS TRAINER.

It was months before Gus recovered. The skull knitted together, but the dent has remained through all the years. Gus thought that his fracture wouldn't be harmful and he went back to ring warfare. But after three fellows, having hit him on the head at the old fracture point, knocked him out, Gus decided to hang up his mittens.

He jaunted into Paris. Along about that time Bobby Dobbs, an American negro, was doing a bit of fighting in the Parisian capital. Gus hunted up Dobbs and sold him the idea of serving him as trainer. Gus made good with a hurrah and sometime later, when Dan McKetrick cast anchor in Paris with a string of fighters and browsed around for a trainer, he was told that Gus was the heaven-sent gift.

WORKED FOR JACK JOHNSON.

So Gus trained the McKetrick string, which included Joe Jeanette. He also trained Willie Lewis and Jack Johnson when Jack was in Paris and world's champion. He handled Frank Moran, Jake Ahearn and a score of lesser lights.

Then Francois Deschamps sent a hurry call for him and in 1919 Gus Wilson became the trainer for Georges Carpentier. He was conditioning pilot for the Frenchman nearly five years. But when Georges became inactive he quickly recommended Gus to Jack Dempsey. And so Gus is now the trainer for the second heavyweight champion of his career.

"What's the secret of your success," I asked Gus.

STUDY YOUR MAN.

"Study your man—and then it's easy," he answered. "No two men are alike. What's good for one man in training, is all wrong for another. You just can't train all men in the same way. Some must be driven, while others would be ruined if you tried to drive them. The only general rules that apply to all fighters is to restore them to a plain, simple way of living while they are in training.

Practically all fighters, out of training, are likely to live a bit artificially and have a bit of a fling. They may keep late hours, eat foods that are not strength building and do other little things like that. So when they go into training, the first thing is to give them homelike surroundings, keep 'em quiet, give them wholesome food and see to it that they get plenty of sleep. After that, your individual knowledge of the man must guide you as to how much work he should do each day—and what kind.

EASY TO HANDLE.

"Dempsey and Carpentier are the easiest men to handle that I've ever known—and yet both are hard to handle for the simple reason that they are inclined to overwork. Most fighters shirk. But Georges and Jack throw everything they have into their efforts and if they aren't watched closely they'll overtrain and go stale. If any trainer tried to drive either of them, with their own zeal carrying them along, too, those fellows would work themselves into lightweights.

"Jack hasn't fought for more than two years. Part of the public has the idea he is out of condition, yet Dempsey has been in training almost through all that period of time and if he were called upon to go into the ring on 72 hours' notice he could go in and win his fight with any man in the world.

JACK IN FINE CONDITION.

"So much will I say, not because I owe allegiance to Dempsey but because it is the truth. And that is that I consider Jack Dempsey in better condition today and a far more finished fighter and harder hitter than he was in 1921 when I saw him whip Georges Carpentier. Could any more be said about a champion at the age of 30, after two years of fighting idleness?"

Outstanding Plays Of 1925.

(Editor's Note: William W. "Bill" Roper, who tells about Jack Slagle's run for Princeton against Yale this fall, is one of the outstanding figures in the football world. Roper is an old Princeton player who has coached successfully at Swarthmore Missouri and Princeton. This past season he produced one of the greatest teams Princeton has ever boasted.)

BY "BILL" ROPER.
Princeton University Coach.

I have seen one thrilling run after another in my long coaching career, both at Swarthmore and Princeton, but the 84-yard sprint that Jake Slagle, our star back, made against Yale in the 25-12 victory the past season, was the greatest of them all.

We had been held scoreless by Tad Jones' Bulldogs in the first period. Early in the second period we had the ball on our own 16-yard line. Yale had repulsed us without gain on a line play and on the second down Slagle dropped back as though to punt.

Gill Out of Position.

Quarterback Caulkins of our team and Slagle had noticed that Gill, the left end of the Yale team, had a habit of blocking the runner, who was going down the field to cover Slagle's punts. Gill was out of position to defend on a run around his position and the signal was called for an end run.

Slagle, with a little interference, brushed by Gill, Gilligan and Dignan, taking out the Yale end and Captain Joss, although the latter had one hand on Jake and almost brought him down when the Tiger star cut in sharply.

Reversed Field Twice.

Jake jumped over two men, reversed his field twice before getting through the thick of the Yale secondary defense, and after going about 30 yards, Captain McMillen and Gates, two of my most aggressive linemen, got up with Slagle and gave him protecaion. The only Yale man in the way of Slagle from that time on was Quarterback Bunnell. He was powerless to take out McMillen and Gates and then get the elusive Slagle, but he did the best he could. He dived into the inteferference, but was toppled hard and Slagle kept going right ahead for Princeton's first touchdown.

I was told after the game that Slagle slowed up in the last 15 or 20 rounds. It did not look that way to me. He might have been a trifle winded, but I don't believe he slowed up any.

Did Some Side-Stepping.

The most remarkable part of that run was that Slagle, after getting loose and warding off several men behind the Yale line, seemed to sense what his followers were doing. Several times he side-stepped this way and that just in time to get out of the clutches of the Yale men.

I actually believe that was the turning-point of the game. Yale had been causing us a lot of trouble before Slagle got loose. The Bulldogs were the overwhelming favorites to win and Jake's touchdown put the needed punch in the Tiger machine. We failed to kick the extra point, following Slagle's touchdown, but a little later in the second period, Joe Prendergast went over for our second touchdown, following a steady march. The half ended, 12 to 0. Slagle's sensational run carried Princeton to lofty heights in the second half and we secred two more touchdowns.

Perfectly Executed Play.

I do not say that Slagle could duplicate a run like that again, even if it were rehearsed a thousand times, but it certainly went over big against the Bulldogs. Had Gill, the Yale left end, been playing his position as most wingmen do on defense against a punt, I thoroughly believe Caulkins would have given a signal for a kick, instead of springing the Slagle run from punt formation.

There was nothing tricky about the play; but the manipulation was perfect, and Slagle's individual ability in zig-zagging, turning in and cutting out just at the proper time, enabled us to put it across.

Comment By Referee.

Referee Wilmer Crowell, who officiated in the Yale-Princeton game, in which Slagle made his stirring run, said recently:

"It was not a tricky play by any means. It started like thousands of other plays, but it took a man like Slagle to go through with it. Several times it appeared as though he was sure to be tackled on his mad dash to the goal, but he always got out of the clutches of his pursuing rivals."

Slagle, to my mind, is one of the greatest backs of the 1925 season. The Baltimore lad did all and a lot more than I expected. In carrying the ball, passing, punting or on defense, he was always reliable. His all-around playing not only helped us in beating Princeton, but he was also a power in our 26-0 victory over Harvard.

Basketball Secrets.

BY SOL METZGER.

IN POSSESSION OF BALL.

Frequently, basketball players make the mistake when in possession of the ball and not closely guarded of juggling it in their hands while awaiting for a teammate to feed it to. This is a foul. When standing still and in possession of the ball, hold it in your hands as in the illustration on the left. The illustration on the right shows a player juggling it. A foul will immediately be called.

GRIDIRON RULES UP FOR DEBATE

Czars of College Athletics Get Together to Discuss Football Statutes.

Legislative Changes Come To Vote at the National Collegiate Session.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(AP)—College football has two faults, in the opinion of the eastern association of intercollegiate football officials, which has made four recommendations for changes to the rules committee.

Three of the proposals have to do with unnecessary roughness. It is recommended that tackles above the shoulders be placed in that category in the future. If this measure is accepted, a high tackle will result in a penalty of 15 yards.

TACKLING INJURIES.

Years ago high tackling contributed so many injuries to the game that many officials and coaches contended that rules should prevent tackling above the waist. There was much argument and finally the majority of leaders in the gridiron sport was convinced that a lineman, lifted by a charge of prying in himself, could not be expected to fall flat on his face in time to grasp a runner about the knees. The lineman had to tackle, when, where and how he could. It was his duty to stop the play.

The same sort of line play maintains today and there comes a time in every lineman's life when he must topple a ball carrier. If an opponent's head rests on his stomach, lifting him a few feet into the air, he will have a poor chance of tackling below the shoulders. If it different matter, of course, in the open.

ROUGHNG THE RECEVER.

The second proposal would permit the field judge to use a whistle and declare the ball dead on kicks across the line of scrimmage to prevent roughing the catcher of kicks.

The third is designed to eliminate piling, a trick which in the old days produced broken noses and sometimes much more serious injuries. For it was in the pile-ups, many times unnecessary, that slugging occured.

ELIMINATE CRAWLING.

It is proposed that the ball be declared dead the moment the man carrying it touches the ground with any part of his body other than hands and feet, which would eliminate crawling and make piling to stop the carriers progress unnecessary and inexcusable.

Shift plays and the huddle system were atacked in the fourth recommendation, which urges that no moving of the feet or swaying of the body be permitted as the ball is put in play. The huddle, developed greatly this year in the west by several teams and in the east, especially by Princton, calls for the gathering of all players behind the scrimmage line in a closely interlocking circle to receive signals. From the circle the players jump to their positions and the ball is passed.

CONFUSION OVER MOTION.

The eastern officials say that a rule now in effect, that no player shall be in motion when the ball is snapped back, has brought disagreement among officials as to just what the word "motion signifies. They feel that adoption of their recommendation will clarify the situation.

For three days football and other sports of interest to the colleges will be discussed here, the Football Coaches' association meeting in New York today and the National Collegiate Athletic association Tuesday and Wednesday.

One of the principal discussions before the coaches will be that of professionalism from the playing viewpoint.

Propose Ban on All Teams.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(AP.)—Members of the American Football Coaches' association, in annual session today, launched an attack upon the professional game and also approved measures designed to curb the "over-emphasis" of college football.

Upon the recommendation of Hugo Bezdek of Penn State, as chairman of the trustees committee, the association voted to refuse membership after September 1, 1926, to any individual actively engaged in any capacity with professional footbal, adopted a resolution preventing coaches hereafter from selecting All-American or other all-star teams for any agency and also went on record as favoring restriction of football practice during the college year to two hours daily, starting not earlier than September 15.

Coast Grid Star Quits Amateurs; Joins Pro Ranks

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—(I. N. S.)—"Buck" Bailey, the Olympic club war horse, who has been playing football for years and years—and very well, too, has deserted amateur ranks and will from now on cash in on his ability as a football player.

Bailey will captain and coach the San Francisco team which will meet "Red" Grange and his Chicago Bears here January 24. Bailey will be found at his customary position, guard, when the two teams clash.

While Bailey is close to forty, the years have not slowed him up to any great extent. If so, it was not obvious when he was one of the outstanding stars of the east-west game.

It was Bailey who opened many of the holes in the east's line Saturday and it was Bailey who intercepted a number of passes which didn't do the easterners much good.

With Bailey under contract, the rumor persists that other famous coast football players are getting ready to sign on the perforated line. Marvin S. Cowan, who will promote the "Red" Grange game, said that he would do some offering within the next few days and he intimated that there would be some accepting.

LaBarba Knocked Down, But Wins

Although the flyweight champion was flattened in the first round by Lew Perfetti in New York, he won in a canter from his more experienced opponent. La Barba, in the six-round bout, showed the New York fans he is a real champion. The blow that felled him caught him off balance.

Last Night's Fights.

Ingram's Gridders Head for South to Play at San Diego

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—(I. N. S.)—"Navy Bill" Ingram's football team, which was defeated here Saturday by a score of 6 to 0 by an all-star aggregation of western players, will meet a picked navy team at San Diego New Year's day, it was learned today. The proceeds of the game will go to the navy relief fund.

Gonzaga Easy Winner.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 28—(I. N. S.)—Gonzaga university's football team was enroute home today after defeating the Los Angeles A. C. team, 29 to 0. Featuring the game was a run the length of the field from the kickoff for a touchdown by Bross, Gonzaga quarterback.

Huskies Due Tuesday.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 28.—(I. N. S.)—Light scrimmage today featured the workout of the University of Alabama eleven, which meets the University of Washington team in the annual east-west classic here New Year's.

Syracuse Quint Wins Two Games

SYRACUSE, Neb., Dec. 28.—The Hughes' Store basketball team of Syracuse won two basketball games last week, winning a 32 to 21 game at Douglas and defeating Stella, 27 to 17.

Pugh and W. Metzger each collected twelve points against Douglas. W. Metzger featured the Stella game with fifteen points.

IZZY GETS BUSY SIGNING PLAYERS

WICHITA, Kas., Dec 28.—Frank Isbell, owner of the Wichita baseball team, who was made the goat of a "bunko" sale of his club to two other Western league magnates at the winter meeting a short time ago, has decided that the only way to get even with the bluffers who made the offer and then backed down is to give them a good trimming during the 1926 season.

So Isbell and his club manager, Howard Gregory, are watching very closely all the winter leagues in California for promising material. It was only a few weeks ago that Isbell obtained Shortstop O'Shea from a coast club. O'Shea is one of the most sensational young fielders seen on the coast in several years. He comes to Wichita as the property of the local club and not under any optional agreement.

Two Catchers Signed.

During the past week Isbell signed up one other player and Manager Howard Gregory signed one. Gregory's find is Catcher John Zanie who found out with Vernon last spring and was sent to a smaller league for more experience. Greg says that he is a fast, hard-hitting young receiver and he believes that he will be able to fill Hugh McMullen's shoes very acceptably. Zanie is a husky boy and has a good arm. He is playing winter ball with one of the fastest clubs in California on which several major league stars are playing.

The other player, the one signed this week by Isbell, is Lester Berry, also a catcher. Berry is a young catcher who was with Los Angeles in the Coast league part of last season. He comes highly recommended by Penner. Wichita's star hurler. Penner liked Berry so well that he made a special trip from Los Angeles up to northern California to help Isbell get the youngster signed.

Along with the two contracts a letter came from Isbell sending the fans all the holiday greetings and promising them a real baseball team this next season whether the team plays in a new park or an old one.

Will You SELL Your Business?

Many people think selling a business—especially when no one seems to want it—is a hard job.

It is—if you try to do it alone.

It isn't—if you take the method that is successfully used by people in all parts of Nebraska—to dispose of almost every known kind of business.

That method is—

COACHES GATHER TO SAY REGRETS

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(I. N. S.)—In the rather superfluous hope that the Grange incident never will be repeated, intercollegiate football will spend the next sixty hours declaring itself on the subject of professionalism and attempting to draft punitive measures against money players and the game that supports them. The first step will be taken today at the annual meeting of the football coaches' association at the Hotel Pennsylvania. It won't amount to anything.

Subsequently, the national collegiate athletic association, which really can stimulate action, will take up the subject at its annual meeting Wednesday and a debate has been scheduled. Maj. J. L. Griffith of the Western conference, will advocate his program of chastisement for the pro, just for the sake of argument, so to speak. Professor Folsom of the University of Colorado is down on the books to take the negative side.

"PRO" MAGNATE HAS PLAN.

However, when the last voice is stilled, it will remain for the "pros" themselves to alter conditions, if at all. Tim Mara, one of the owners of the New York Giants franchise, has advocated that the professional league decline to do business with any college player until his class has graduated.

Like breathing and wife-beating, it seems to be something that a man has to do for himself. The "pros" can change the conditions. The colleges merely can pass resolutions and issue threats of reprisals.

The coaches, being a type of professional and having no legislative standing, can only offer suggestions. These are listened to with bland tolerance by the association, which then proceeds to go ahead and do what it pleases.

SOUR ON GRANGE INCIDENT.

However, some interesting conversations may be expected today. The president of the coaches' association is Bob Zuppke of Illinois and it is known that he feels very bitterly over the decision of Red Grange, his self-made star, to go over to professional football without completing his college course. He and the other coaches declare they are determined that it shall not happen again. They probably have exercised themselves unduly.

There is not likely to be another Grange for twenty years. Advertised beyond reason, he enjoyed a complex for making himself sensational and, in consequence, his box office value was too good to keep until the following fall.

SOON BACK TO NORMAL.

When the excitement dies down, professional football will return to normal. So will professional salaries, which Grange unwittingly inflated all along the line.

When that happens, the colleges can forget the incident. Collegiate football occupies one niche, professional football another, and there seems to be room at the box office for both.

East-West Game Made Neat Profit

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—(I. N. S.)—Receipts of the benefit football game between all-tar teams representing the east and west, played here Saturday, amounted to $55,000, it was announced today by Hugh L. McKewitt, imperial potentate of Islam temple Shriners. Of this amount, $30,000 will be given to the Shriners' crippled children's hospital.

Finland's Champ Plans Attack On Skating Records

NEWSBURGH, N. Y., Dec. 28.—(I. N. S.)—World's records are expected to fall New Year's day when Clas Thunberg of Finland, the Olympic distance skating champion, will make his first start against the American field in the middle Atlantic championships. Thunberg announced today that he hoped to better the existing records at intermediate distance between two and four miles. Among his most dangerous opponents will be Joe Moore and Paci Forsman of New York, respective champions in 1925 and 1924; Valentine Bialis, member of the American Olympic team, and Charles Gorman, the speed demon who represented Canada in the last Olympic games.

DRAKE BIDS FOR ONE MORE GAME

Bulldogs' 1926 Grid Slate Has Open Date; Coach Seeks Contest.

DES MOINES, Ia., Dec. 28.—It was learned here today that one of the objects in Coach Ossie Solem's going to attend the annual football coaches' meeting in New York City this week was to secure a formidable gridiron foe for the Bulldogs next year on the only date left open on the local card.

Meet Huskers in Lincoln.

So far the Bulldogs have scheduled games with Notre Dame at South Bend, Nebraska at Lincoln, and Iowa State at Ames, while in the Drake stadium the Blue and White will oppose Mississippi university, Oklahoma university, Kansas university and Grinnell.

The encounter with the Pioneers will be the first home game on Thanksgiving day that the Bulldogs have played in a number of years.

MASKED PLAY BY NEBRASKA STAR

"Choppy" Rhodes Tricked His Friends by Secret Marriage Aug. 18.

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 28.—John "Choppy" Rhodes pulled a trick play on his friends and admirers August 18 when the former Ansley high athlete and University of Nebraska football hero was married to Miss Majorie Crichton of Omaha.

"CHOPPY" RHODES.

Miss Crichton was visiting friends in Auburn, Neb., while "Choppy" was pitching hay, carrying ice and otherwise getting in trim for the football season. One bright afternoon "Choppy" faked a plunge at an alfalfa stack and then sneaked around end to obtain a marriage license—it was a masked play, so well masked in fact, that none knew of it until Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes decided to announce the fact to friends here yesterday.

"Choppy" and his bride are visiting with Mrs. Rhodes' parents in Omaha during the holidays. t is understood in Omaha that "Choppy" is to be a member of the Cornhusker coaching staff in Lincoln next fall, cooperating with Owen Frank in tutoring the backfield.

Top-Notchers Of Glove Sport Due To Show Tonight

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(I. N. S.)—Two bouts that may have an effect upon the championship situation in as many divisions will be decided at the Broadway arena, Brooklyn, tonight.

In the first of these, Joe Glick, who halted the sensational career of Honey Boy Finnegan of Boston, will meet Billy Kennedy of New Orleans over the twelve-round distanee. Glick is shooting at a bout with Tod Morgan, the new junior lightweight champion.

Stribling Invades New York.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(I. N. S.)—W. L. "Young" Stribling, Georgia contender for the light-heavyweight title, was expected to arrive in town today, accompanied by his bride. The Striblings are on their honeymoon.

Stribling met Paul Berlenbach, the present holder of the light heavyweight title, several months ago, the bout resulting in a draw after six rounds. The Georgia flash, however, has attained his majority in the meantime and can box at the championship limit of fifteen rounds in this state.

Nebraska Squad To Kansas City

Coach Ernest E. Bearg and twelve members of the University of Nebraska basketball squad left Sunday night for Kansas City where they will stage a week's practice on the K. C. A. C. court and wind up the week in a Saturday game with the Kansas City Athletic club team.

CRETE, Neb., Dec. 28.—Doane college basketball athletes are expecting to cut considerable figure in the Nebraska college cage race this season. The decisive victory of the Doane collegians over the University of South Dakota in the opening game of the season has whetted the basketball appetite of Crete fans and the locals are awaiting the start of the cage season with keen interest.

Coach Ward Haylett has six letter men on the Doane squad. C. E. Bayer of Crete, forward, is a three-year veteran. Two-year men are Captain Kubicek, Wilber, and F. W. Weitzel, forwards; G. E. Parker, Crete, and E. J. Ablott, Clay Center, centers; C. L. Sanderson, Clay Center, guard.

Water Meet At "Y" New Year's

The annual New Year's Y. M. C. A. swimming meet will be held at the Lincoln association Friday at 10 a. m. Medals will be awarded swimmers breaking 1925 New Year's records and ribbons will be awarded first and second place winners.

Earl Johnson will be official starter. Judges will be F. Maggett, Frank Adkins, Floyd Gautsch.

Junior events are four-man relay, 40-yard free style, 100-yard breast stroke, 220-yard free style, 10-yard back stroke, 100-yard free style. Senior events are 4-man relay, 40-yard free style, 220-yard breast stroke, 220-yard free style, 100-yard breast stroke, 100-yard free style.

Russian Grappler On Stecher's Trail

Lincoln Getting Ready For Clash With Clay Center

The Lincoln high basketball five will complete preparations during the week for the cage contest with Clay Center next Saturday and Coach W. H. Browne's squad will enter the game in excellent condition. The game will be played on the Whittier junior high court on Twenty-second and Vine streets, and will get under way at 7.30.

The Red and Black lineup for the affair will include Witte, Sawyer and Morrison, forwards; Fisher and Karnes, centers; Speidell, Koster and McCarthy, guards. These men are the same that handed the Benedict high quintet a 26 to 15 defeat last Wednesday on the Benedict floor.

Between thirty and forty candidates for the first team have been reporting for practice at the Whittier gym the past week, but it is expected that this number will decrease this week, as Coach Browne plans to choose his regular lineup in the next five days.

Seven Teams In Industrial Loop

The Y. M. C. A. Industrial basketball league will feature some wast competition this season. Seven teams have already enrolled and eigth squad is expected to be signed before the season opens. The teams rosters:

Lincoln Telephones—Alfred Odell, Everald Dempsey, H. F. McCulla, R. E. Mattison, jr., Ted Brown, C. W. Keester, Lloyd E. Jenkins, Frank A. Byrum, Melvin Lahr, R. G. Nehe, W. P. Shuck, Ralph R. Fowler, Frank P. Lutz, Joe Miller, Jr.

GRIDIRON RULES UP FOR DEBATE

Czars of College Athletics Get Together to Discuss Football Statutes.

Legislative Changes Come To Vote at the National Collegiate Session.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(AP)—College football has two faults, in the opinion of the eastern association of intercollegiate football officials, which has made four recommendations for changes to the rules committee.

Three of the proposals have to do with unnecessary roughness. It is recommended that tackles above the shoulders be placed in that category in the future. If this measure is accepted, a high tackle will result in a penalty of 15 yards.

TACKLING INJURIES.

Years ago high tackling contributed so many injuries to the game that many officials and coaches contended that rules should prevent tackling above the waist. There was much argument and finally the majority of leaders in the gridiron sport was convinced that a lineman, lifted by a charge of prying in himself, could not be expected to fall flat on his face in time to grasp a runner about the knees. The lineman had to tackle, when, where and how he could. It was his duty to stop the play.

The same sort of line play maintains today and there comes a time in every lineman's life when he must topple a ball carrier. If an opponent's head rests on his stomach, lifting him a few feet into the air, he will have a poor chance of tackling below the shoulders. If it different matter, of course, in the open.

ROUGHNG THE RECEVER.

The second proposal would permit the field judge to use a whistle and declare the ball dead on kicks across the line of scrimmage to prevent roughing the catcher of kicks.

The third is designed to eliminate piling, a trick which in the old days produced broken noses and sometimes much more serious injuries. For it was in the pile-ups, many times unnecessary, that slugging occured.

ELIMINATE CRAWLING.

It is proposed that the ball be declared dead the moment the man carrying it touches the ground with any part of his body other than hands and feet, which would eliminate crawling and make piling to stop the carriers progress unnecessary and inexcusable.

Shift plays and the huddle system were atacked in the fourth recommendation, which urges that no moving of the feet or swaying of the body be permitted as the ball is put in play. The huddle, developed greatly this year in the west by several teams and in the east, especially by Princton, calls for the gathering of all players behind the scrimmage line in a closely interlocking circle to receive signals. Outstanding Plays Of 1925.

(Editor's Note: William W. "Bill" Roper, who tells about Jack Slagle's run for Princeton against Yale this fall, is one of the outstanding figures in the football world. Roper is an old Princeton player who has coached successfully at Swarthmore Missouri and Princeton. This past season he produced one of the greatest teams Princeton has ever boasted.)

BY "BILL" ROPER.
Princeton University Coach.

I have seen one thrilling run after another in my long coaching career, both at Swarthmore and Princeton, but the 84-yard sprint that Jake Slagle, our star back, made against Yale in the 25-12 victory the past season, was the greatest of them all.

We had been held scoreless by Tad Jones' Bulldogs in the first period. Early in the second period we had the ball on our own 16-yard line. Yale had repulsed us without gain on a line play and on the second down Slagle dropped back as though to punt

Gill Out of Position.

Quarterback Caulkins of our team and Slagle had noticed that Gill, the left end of the Yale team, had a habit of blocking the runner, who was going down the field to cover Slagle's punts. Gill was out of position to defend on a run around his position and the signal was called for an end run.

Slagle, with a little interference, brushed by Gill, Gilligan and Dignan, taking out the Yale end and Captain Joss, although the latter had one hand on Jake and almost brought him down when the Tiger star cut in sharply.

Reversed Field Twice.

Jake jumped over two men, reversed his field twice before getting through the thick of the Yale secondary defense, and after going about 30 yards, Captain McMillen and Gates, two of my most aggressive linemen, got up with Slagle and gave him protecaion. The only Yale man in the way of Slagle from that time on was Quarterback Bunnell. He was powerless to take out McMillen and Gates and then get the elusive Slagle, but he did the best he could. He dived into the inteferference, but was toppled hard and Slagle kept going right ahead for Princeton's first touchdown.

I was told after the game that Slagle slowed up in the last 15 or 20 rounds. It did not look that way to me. He might have been a trifle winded, but I don't believe he slowed up any.

Did Some Side-Stepping.

The most remarkable part of that run was that Slagle, after getting loose and warding off several men behind the Yale line, seemed to sense what his followers were doing. Several times he side-stepped this way and that just in time to get out of the clutches of the Yale men.

I actually believe that was the turning-point of the game. Yale had been causing us a lot of trouble before Slagle got loose. The Bulldogs were the overwhelming favorites to win and Jake's touchdown put the needed punch in the Tiger machine. We failed to kick the extra point following Slagle's touchdown, but a little later in the second period, Joe Prendergast went over for our second touchdown, following a steady march. The half ended, 12 to 0. Slagle's sensational run carried Princeton to lofty heights in the second half and we scored two more touchdowns.

Perfectly Executed Play.

I do not say that Slagle could duplicate a run like that again, even if it were rehearsed a thousand times, but it certainly went over big against the Bulldogs. Had Gill, the Yale left end, been playing his position as most wingmen do on defense against a punt, I thoroughly believe Caulkins would have given a signal for a kick, instead of springing the Slagle run from punt formation.

There was nothing tricky about the play; but the manipulation was perfect, and Slagle's individual ability in zig-zagging, turning in and cutting out just at the proper time, enabled us to put it across.

Comment By Referee.

Referee Wilmer Crowell, who officiated in the Yale-Princeton game, in which Slagle made his stirring run, said recently:

"It was not a tricky play by any means. It started like thousands of other plays, but it took a man like Slagle to go through with it. Several times it appeared as though he was sure to be tackled on his mad dash to the goal, but he always got out of the clutches of his pursuing rivals."

Slagle, to my mind, is one of the greatest backs of the 1925 season. The Baltimore lad did all and a lot more than I expected. In carrying the ball, passing, punting or on defense, he was always reliable. His all-around playing not only helped us in beating Princeton, but he was also a power in our 36-0 victory over Harvard.

Basketball Secrets.

BY SOL METZGER.

IN POSSESSION OF BALL.

Frequently, basketball players make the mistake when in possession of the ball and not closely guarded of juggling it in their hands while awaiting for a teammate to feed it to. This is a foul. When standing still and in possession of the ball, hold it in your hands as in the illustration on the left. The illustration on the right shows a player juggling it. A foul will immediately be called.

Gus Wilson, Trainer for Title-Holder, Declares Jack in Better Physical Trim Today Than at Any Previous Time in His Career; Absence From Ring Not a Handicap to Heavyweight King.

BY FRANK G. MENKE.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 28.—An iron pipe, loaded with sand, deprived the boxing game of a probable champion—and then made of him one of the greatest trainers in the world.

The story concerns Gus Wilson. Along about the age of 14, Gus, of French descent, but a resident of Alsace, then a German state, tired of life in the old home town, "hocked" his watch and used the proceeds in a runaway to London. Arriving there, he found that there were more applicants than jobs that he could fill and discarded the notion of becoming a king of finance, an emperor of commerce or the high potentate of politics.

Hit With Iron Pipe.

"But I did notice a sign that said something about a boxing contest and so I hunted up the promoter," relates Gus. "He agreed to give me a chance that night if one or another of the bantams who were carded didn't show up. One of them didn't. I went on in his place I didn't know much about the technique of boxing, but I could hit.

"So I hit the other fellow in the first round—and that fight was over. My reward was 10 shillings."

Through the next two months Gus fought nine fights, mostly in clubs in the Whitechapel district. He knocked out nine men in a row. The eighth fellow didn't like it very much. So as Gus was coming out of the building after his ninth victory, the victim of the eighth knockout, having hidden behind a door, swung an iron pipe and fractured the skull of Gus Wilson.

LANDED JOB AS TRAINER.

It was months before Gus recovered. The skull knitted together, but the dent has remained through all the years. Gus thought that his fracture wouldn't be harmful and he went back to ring warfare. But after three fellows, having hit him on the head at the old fracture point, knocked him out, Gus decided to hang up his mittens.

He jaunted into Paris. Along about that time Bobby Dobbs, an American negro, was doing a bit of fighting in the Parisian capital. Gus hunted up Dobbs and sold him the idea of serving him as trainer. Gus made good with a hurrah and sometime later, when Dan McKetrick cast anchor in Paris with a string of fighters and browsed around for a trainer, he was told that Gus was the heaven-sent gift.

WORKED FOR JACK JOHNSON.

So Gus trained the McKetrick string, which included Joe Jeanette. He also trained Willie Lewis and Jack Johnson when Jack was in Paris and world's champion. He handled Frank Moran, Jake Ahearn and a score of lesser lights.

Then Francois Deschamps sent a hurry call for him and in 1919 Gus Wilson became the trainer for Georges Carpentier. He was conditioning pilot for the Frenchman nearly five years. But when Georges became inactive he quickly recommended Gus to Jack Dempsey. And so Gus is now the trainer for the second heavyweight champion of his career.

"What's the secret of your success," I asked Gus.

STUDY YOUR MAN.

"Study your man—and then it's easy," he answered. "No two men are alike. What's good for one man in training, is all wrong for another. You just can't train all men in the same way. Some must be driven, while others would be ruined if you tried to drive them. The only general rules that apply to all fighters is to restore them to a plain, simple way of living while they are in training.

Practically all fighters, out of training, are likely to live a bit artificially and have a bit of a fling. They may keep late hours, eat foods that are not strength building and do other little things like that. So when they go into training, the first thing is to give them homelike surroundings, keep 'em quiet, give them wholesome food and see to it that they get plenty of sleep. After that, your individual knowledge of the man must guide you as to how much work he should do each day—and what kind.

EASY TO HANDLE.

"Dempsey and Carpertier are the easiest men to handle that I've ever known—and yet both are hard to handle for the simple reason that they are inclined to overwork. Most fighters shirk But Georges and Jack throw everything they have into their efforts and if they aren't watched closely they'll overtrain and go stale. If any trainer tried to drive either of them, with their own zeal carrying them along, too, those fellows would work themselves into lightweights.

"Jack hasn't fought for more than two years. Part of the public has the idea he is out of condition, yet Dempsey has been in training almost through all that period of time and if he were called upon to go into the ring on 72 hours' notice he could go in and win his fight with any man in the world.

JACK IN FINE CONDITION.

"So much will I say, not because I owe allegiance to Dempsey but because it is the truth. And that is that I consider Jack Dempsey in better condition today and a far more finished fighter and harder hitter than he was in 1921 when I saw him whip Georges Carpentier. Could any more be said about a champion at the age of 30, after two years of fighting idleness?"

Will You SELL Your Business?

Many people think selling a business—especially when no one seems to want it—is a hard job.

It is—if you try to do it alone.

It isn't—if you take the method that is successfully used by people in all parts of Nebraska—to dispose of almost every known kind of business.

That method is—

Market Quotations

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 28.

WHEAT—Selling out to realize profits overburdened the wheat market today after an early new upturn in price. Sentiment among many traders had also apparently become less favorable to the buying side. This change of view was ascribed largely to the extreme rapidity of advances in the last few days. Wheat closed irregular 1¼c net lower to ⅝c gain, new style, December $1.84½ and May $1.73½@1.73⅝.

WHEAT—With a big trade in progress and general buying at the start all deliveries of wheat advanced here today to a fresh high price record for the season. Strength in foreign markets, especially Buenos Aires, was the chief factor. Heavy rains in central and southern Argentina, undesirable for harvest time, were reported. On the advance, however, previous buyers turned sellers and a sharp reaction ensued. Chicago opening prices, ½ to 3¼c higher, new style, were followed by moderate further gains and then by a setback that in some cases went below Saturday's finish.

CORN—Corn and oats sympathized with wheat. After opening ¼ to 1c higher, May 86@86¼c, the corn market scored an additional advance and then underwent a sag.

OATS—Oats started ¼c off to ⅜c up, May 46⅛@46⅜c, and later held near to initial figures.

—PROVISIONS—Higher quotations on hogs helped to lift provisions.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.

Speculators for the advance retained control of the price movements in the stock market after the triple Christmas holiday. Constructive market operations were aided by the optimistic tenor of the first 1926 business forecasts to make their appearance, the announcement of the proposed Pacific Oil-Standard Oil of California merger, and unusually favorable earnings statement of the Hudson Motor company and the fine showing made by the latest batch of November earnings reports. Bullish operations were particularly aggressive in the oils, motors and rails, S. S. Kresge soared 15 points above last week's close to 775 and General Cigar, Mack Truck and White Motor extended their early gains to 3 points or more before the end of the third hour. Among the many issues to mount to their highest levels in a year, or longer, were New York Central, Chicago & Northwestern, American Smelting and Postum Cereal. New York banks are reported to have called $25,000,000 in loans soon after the opening, sending the call money rate back to 6 per cent, but this rate was generally regarded as temporary, and apparently had little effect market-wise.

Rising prices marked the resumption of stock trading today after the Christmas recess. Encouraged by the forecast of business leaders that prosperity would continue throughout 1926, traders engaged in spirited bidding for popular stocks such as American Can General Motors, General Electric, U. S. Steel and American Smelting, lifting prices 1 to 2 points. Standard Oil of California and Pacific Oil soared 2 to 5 points in response to merger plans.

Under impetus of favorable trade and monetary conditions, including reports of extraordinary retail holiday business and an increase in reserves of the local banks, the upward movement of prices gained momentum as trading progressed. Rail shares were inclined to lag behind the rest of the list although New York Central attained a new peak price and Southern Pacific was in brisk demand. Accumulation of buying orders for Pacific Oil, following announcement of its consolidation with Standard of California, caused a split opening at 74-75, compared with the previous closing of 70½.

LIVESTOCK MARKET.

By the Associated Press.

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 28.

CATTLE—Receipts, 7,000. Monday's very moderate run of cattle was made up largely of beef steers that were only fair in point of quality and finish. Demand from packers and shippers did not seem to be particularly urgent and the general market was decidedly slow at about last week's closing levels. Fair to good beef steers brought $8.50@9.50, and a good share of the plainer stock sold around $8.00 and under. Cows and heifers, as well as stockers and feeders, were in limited supply, active demand and quotably strong.

Closing: Fed steers and yearlings slow; steady, bulk $8.25@9.60; few loads up to $10.00; some held higher; she stock generally steady; bulls, 10@15c higher; veals steady to strong; stockers and feeders scarce, strong; bulk butcher cows $4.25@6.00; heifers, $6.75@7.75; canners and cutters $3.75@4.50; bologna bulls, $5.00@5.25; beef bulls, $5.50@6.25; practical veal top $9.50; few to independents at $10.00; heavy calves $6.75@7.75; stockers and feeders, $7.00@8.10.

HOGS—Receipts, 10,000. Outlet to all quarters showed considerable breadth today, and the moderate supply at hand found no trouble clearing at seasonable hour of the forenoon at levels largely 25c higher than last Saturday; bulk of all sales, $11.00@11.40; top, $11.50.

Closing: Active, mostly 25@35c higher; desirable 140 to 200 pound weights $11.25@11.50; top $11.50; good and choice 200 to 300 pound butchers $11.15@11.25, mostly $11.25; packing sows $9.50@10.00; bulk of all sales, $11.10@11.25; average cost Saturday $10.80; weight 239, average cost for the week $10.77; weight 237.

STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—A bullish demonstration—generally described as an old fashioned Christmas market characterized the trade in stocks last week. Transactions were not as large as in the preceding week, but were large for the pre-holiday sessions, with the industrial shares resuming the leadership after the recent period of exceptional strength and activity on the part of the rails.

The average of twenty representative industrials made a gain of more than 2½ points in the 4-day week which ended Thursday, reaching a new high level for the year, while the rail average rose about half a point.

A wide variety of issues made substantial gains, in some cases ranging from 5 to 35 points. The recovery came after an early period of irregularity during which some substantial recessions took place in the motor and some of the high priced industrial specialties.

Much of the buying apparently represented short covering on the part of professional traders who had badly misjudged the strength of the speculative leaders, particularly American Can. In addition, bullish sentiment was created by the passing of the tax reduction bill by the house of representatives; by reports of heavy steel consumption; publication of constructive oil trade statistics; a series of favorable dividend developments, and the optimistic tenor of the first of the yearly reviews to make its appearance.

Big Rise in American Can.

American Can was easily the outstanding individual feature, soaring 36 points to a new high record for all time at 296, as compared with the year's low of 158½ established January 16. The buying was said to be based on reports that current earnings are running at the rate of $7 a share on the new stock, six shares of which were given for each one of the old through a stock spit-up and the declaration of a stock dividend.

While rails as a group did not display as much strength as in the preceding week, a number sold at the highest prices in a year or longer, including Atchison, New York central and Atlantic Coast line. Some unusually favorable November earnings reports, particularly by the western carrier, and a seasonal record in freight loadings accounted in part for the advances. Car loadings in the first two weeks of the month have been above a million, the month have been above a million, the largest of similar period in history.

A Big Oil Merger

Oil shares met an active demand, with buying stimulated by reports of mergers in the Mid-continent and California fields. Merger of the Pacific Oil company and Standard of California was announced after the close of the market Thursday. The stock of the Pacific company as well as Associated Oil and Barnsdall, all touched new high levels for the year. Pan-American issues derived special strength from the development of new wells in Mexico, greatly increasing the company's crude production in that country.

Await New Year With Interest.

At the close of the week Wall street was chiefly interested in figuring out what may happen in the money and stock markets during January—with sentiment generally cheerful

While the situation today is fundamentally different in some ways from that of a year ago, it is of interest to point out what happened last January and afterwards.

On January 2, the first business day of this year, the stock market, after two months of wild post-election speculation, was very excited, with nearly 2 million shares changing hands and with prices advancing sharply. Call money on January 2 of this year was 5 per cent. By January 8 it had dropped to 2½ per cent. In the meantime a violent break had occurred in the wheat market and widespread wage reductions were announced by New England textile mills. The stock market continued to advance, however, until January 15, when a severe reaction occurred as a result of the extended post-election speculation.

The reaction which occurred in the stock market around the middle of last January seemed to correct technical conditions, for on January 19 the upward price movement was resumed under the leadership of oil and steel shares. Before the close of January there were some signs of a slowing down in the volume of buying in steel products, but the steel mills continued to operate at 85 to 100 per cent of capacity.

If building plans are checked in the spring, it is believed, there will be a slowing down in general trade.

Whatever happens in building next year, one industry, the railroads, is likely to go along its way gaining ground through increased efficiency. In the ups and downs of the past few years it has become increasingly plain that the railroads have become a stabilizing factor in the general industrial situation.—Kansas City Star.

GRAIN MARKETS.

An unexpected reduction in the final estimate of the wheat crop and a bullish report on the fall sown acreage and condition, together with strong foreign markets and unfavorable advices from Argentina, sent futures soaring in impressive fashion last week, says the Kansas City Star. At times trade showed a tendency to quiet down, but generally there was not much hint of the holiday dullness which often prevails at this season. All deliveries and carlot quotations reached new high levels for the season.

December wheat closed Saturday with gains of about 14 to 15 cents for the week, May was up 14 to nearly 16 cents and July was 10 to 11 cents higher. The final quotations were a little under the top level of the week. Most of the advance occurred on Wednesday, following the issuance of the final crop figures for 1925, and Saturday when some pessimistic crop advices were received from Argentina.

Gains at Winnipeg were smaller, due to a holiday Friday, futures closing Thursday 7 to 10 cents higher for the week.

Liverpool futures advanced about 4 to 4½ pence for the week, while spot prices were inclined to lag.

The reduction in the crop estimate was decided surprise, as the trade generally expected little change or probably a small increase.

Total wheat yield was placed at 669 million bushels, 28 million bushels less than the preliminary estimate in October and 194 million less than in 1924 harvest. Compared with 1923 there was a decrease of 128 million bushels. This is the smallest crop since 1917, when it amounted to only 651 million bushels.

Final estimate of the winter wheat yield was 398 million bushels, 18 million less than the preliminary forecast and 192 million under last season's harvest. Spring wheat was reduced 11 million bushels to 271 million, or slightly less than last year's crop. In addition, the spring wheat figures for 1924 were revised and reduced 10 million bushels.

Smaller Winter Area.

The official estimate of the fall sown wheat acreage, issued Thursday afternoon, was about as looked for, but was regarded as moderately bullish. Total area was placed at 39,540,000 acres, 1 per cent less than the revised estimate of last year's plantings. This compared with 38,664,000 in the fall of 1923 and 46,103,000 in 1922. Conditions on December 1 was somewhat lower than expected, 82.7, a little less than 2 points higher than a year ago, 5.3 points lower than two years ago and a little more than 2 points under the 10-year December average.

Kansas acreage was placed at 11,492,000 acres, an increase of about 7 per cent over last year. Condition on the first of the month was 84, compared with 76 a year ago and a 10-year average of 79.

Oklahoma showed an increase of 6 per cent. Nebraska a decrease of 1 per cent, and Missouri a decrease of 28 per cent.

In September the department of agriculture's estimate of the intended plantings suggested an increase of nearly 10 per cent. Low temperatures at seeding time, drought and other adverse weather accounted for the fact that sowings were not as large as planned.

Adverse Weather in Argentina.

Argentina crop and weather advices on the whole were unfavorable, though several bearish estimates of the yield were issued. Rains delayed harvesting in the northern provinces and there were numerous reports of disappointing yields; the outlook was said to be less favorable in the southern sections than described several weeks ago, and there was frequent mention of rust. The Buenos Aires market maintained a strong tone.

Limited Export Buying.

Foreign demand for wheat was quiet and sales in all positions did not exceed 3 million bushels, most of which was reported in small scattered lots. England and several of the continental countries, including Germany, were in the market for limited amounts of Manitobas. Seasonal weather accounted in part for the dullness, in addition to which trade was restricted somewhat by the scarcity of spot offerings at the seaboard. The Canadian pool it was said, is about the only seller with any important quantities of wheat available for nearby loading.

Austrian wheat was offered more freely and Argentina offerings for late January and February loading were larger.

Exports of wheat and flour from the United States and Canada last week, as reported by Bradstreet's, were 8,963,000 bushels, an increase of about 1½ million over the preceding week.

Argentina exported a little more than 1 1-4 million bushels, a slight increase over the preceding week and about 3-4 million less than a year ago. Shipments from Australia and the Black Sea were unimportant.

Receipts Larger Than Last Year.

Receipts of wheat at the five principal markets last week (five days) totaled 4,012 cars, a decrease of 27 per cent from the preceding week and 43 per cent more than a year ago. Compared with two years ago, there was an increase of 33 per cent. Kansas City had 615 cars, 377 less than in the week before and 190 more than a year ago.

In the carlot market demand was fairly good at advancing prices. Compared with a week ago, hard and dark hard wheat Saturday were up 8 to 13 cents and red wheat wah 11 to 12 cents higher. Quotations for most grades ranged from $1.67 to $1.87.

Advance in Corn Prices.

Strength in wheat and a reduction in the crop estimate stimulated demand for corn futures. Closing prices Saturday were near the high level of the week, up 3 5-8 to 5 1-8 cents at both Kansas City and Chicago.

Final estimate of the corn crop was 2,901 million bushels, a reduction of 112 million bushels from the preliminary estimate and 588 million more than the 1924 harvest. Compared with two years ago, there was a decerase of 153 million bushels.

Earlier private estimates, based largely on reports of large yields in some of the states of big production, had suggested a substantial increase, probably as much as 100 million bushels.

An occasional export inquiry was reported and a few scattered sales were confirmed, but the total was not large enough to influence the market.

Receipts of corn at the four principal markets last week were 3,668 cars, a decrease of 11 per cent from the preceding week and 41 per cent more than a year ago. Compared with two years ago, there was a decrease of 8 per cent.

Demand for carlot offerings was good. Prices of all grades Saturday were 2½ to 4 cents higher than a week ago. Quotations ranged from 68 to 77½ cents.

Big Advance In Rye.

Rye futures in Chicago followed wheat, closing Saturday with gains of 10 to 13 cents for the week. Final estimate of the crop was 49 million bushels, 3 million less than the preliminary forecast and 15 million less than last year's.

TRAIN REDUCES AUTO TO JUNK

Is Hit By Union Pacific Engine and Entirely Demolished.

SALINA, Kas., Dec. 28.—(AP)—A large automobile owned, Union Pacific officials say, by George Dumas of Kansas City, Mo., was reduced to junk when struck by Union Pacific passenger train east of town during the night.

The car stalled on a crossing and the occupants, George Dumas, George Gopcis, Falls City, Neb., and William Anthony, Chicago, were unable to push it off the tracks. They fled as the train approached. Their belongings were scattered over a wide territory.

first and third of each month. The commission will hear five cases daily, instead of three or four, as hitherto, and will get through with as many each week as before. It will have one more day for looking up authorities and preparing findings to submit to the court.

Among the importantcivil cases on the call for argument before the supreme court the first wek in January is the rehearing of Attorney General Spillman's suit against the Brictson Manufacturing Co., brought in the interest of the Nebraska stockholders. It is set for Tuesday, the 5th.

On the same day the court will hear the appeal of the Richardson county board from the district court judgment allowing Deputy Sheriff Alvin Smith $250 as jailer's fees, additional to his regular salary.

On January 6 the high bench will listen to argument on the appeal of District Judge Willard E. Stewart from the jury's award of $26,000 for land in the Salt creek bottoms taken by the city of Lincoln for public purposes. A former judgment of $28,000 which Stewart obtained was appealed by him as unsatisfactory and set aside by the superior tribunal; but on retrial the second jury allowed him $2,000 less.

The only criminal cases on the call are both set for hearing January 7. In one of them, John H. Smith of Omaha asks that his conviction for larceny as bailee, involving the sale of a diamond ring and other property which had been purchased on the installment plan and not fully paid for, be set aside. The Grimm liquor case from Sioux county is also scheduled for that date.

By extensive lending, mortgages on farm lands and on homes, and through financing municipal improvements and public utilities they constructively apportioned vast resources. The 1925 statistics show that this practice is now more general than it has ever been and there is virtually no section of the country which does not benefit thereby.

Reduction and revision of taxation on sound and reasonable lines is a factor of large import and cannot but be stimulative of employment and encouraging to industry. If the economy program of the federal government is emulated by the state and municipal sub-divisions and commonly by individuals the result will be a considerable advance in the general welfare.

Unneeded Building.

An ominous sign is the extreme speculation, especially in real estate and the erection of buildings for which there is no economic demand.

There are indications that in 1926 there will be a better understanding that the prosperity of the country is bound up with the well-being of the railroads and that the railroads should be treated in a spirit of equity so that they can function efficiently and develop soundly.

While wholesale community prices of farm products, which, in view of what the farmer has gone through in recent years, is a matter of moment and of good augury to all.

The working out of Europe's problems cannot but redound to the advantage of the rest of the world and the progress recently made in this respect should give America satisfaction.

I believe the New Year dawns with much of promise for those who bring to bear on their problems knowledge, courage and imagination tempered with moderation, good judgment and a disposition to carry out the precepts of the golden rule.

MAKE A STUDY OF POTATO DISEASES

forage disease investigations in the U. S. department of agriculture in Washington, D. C., led the discussion in the afternoon, which dealt entirely with the results shown by the plants in the college green houses. "It is expected that the discussion will end in a much clearer understanding of what each of us is doing along the same line of potato disease control," Dr. Pelteir said.

Research Carried on Here.

Because Nebraska ranks as one of the leading potato producing states in the union and because five years of intensive research work has been carried on here, the Nebraska college invited the scientists of other states to the one-day meeting. Western Nebraska is now national known as a producer of certified potato seed, it is said, and disease control is the big problem of these producers. Wm. Morrow, in charge of certification of seed in Nebraska, and a few producers were down from Alliance to listen to the discussion.

North Co. to Print Capitol Booklets

A contract has been awarded by the capitol commission to Jacob North and Co., of Lincoln to print 10,000 copies of a souvenir booklet containing photographs, drawing designs and descriptive matter pertaining to the new edifice, for approximately $1,800. They will be delivered within the next month or so and will be sold to the public for 25 cents a copy. There will be 32 pages, 6x9 inches in size, on heavy white paper. About half the space will be taken up by illustrations.

NEARLY THIRTY DEAD AND FIRE DAMAGE LARGE

witnessed a $71,000 blaze, and a half million went up in flames in Ohio. Numerous smaller fires throughout the country helped swell the total loss.

While below zero temperatures sprinkled the entire weather map Saturday night and Sunday, the record for extreme drops was held by the northeast. The low point at Tupper Lake, N. Y., was 28, with Stewartstown, N. H., a close second with 27. The reading was 24 at Lake Saranac, N. Y. Marks of 10 to 14 below were common in the middlewest and Rocky mountain states.

19 Below at Ainsworth.

The mercury at Ainsworth, Neb., reacher 19 below, when such separated points as Miles City, Mont., and Sault Ste Marie, Mich., tied at 1 minus. The cold wave extended down into New Mexico, where readings of 15 to 20 degrees above were numerous. In Missouri Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas the mercury was at the lowest of the year. The Ohio river was choked with ice floes and water traffic was tied up.

The south did not escape. While no snow fell, chill winds brought a real taste of winter to the middle and south Atlantic states. At Asheville, N. C., the reading was 4 above last night while Roanoke, Va., reported 8. The average in the Carolinas was 20, in Georgia 25, while cold winds shot the mercury down to 40 at Jacksonville, Fla., and 42 at Tampa.

New England Recovering.

BOSTON, Dec. 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—New England was recovering today from the shock of a cold wave that swept in with a northwest gale late Saturday, caused three deaths from cold, brought severe suffering and resulted in innumerable fires in which four children perished.

Promise Relief Soon.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—(I. N. S.)—Some relief from the severe cold wave that has gripped the country from the Rocky mountains to the Atlantic was promised today by the United States weather bureau. Wintry weather also has extended as far south as Alabama.

The cold spell will reach its peak tonight and probably will be followed by rising temperatures generally througout the east and middlewest, according to the bureau.

Many Fires In Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Dec. 28.—I. N. S.)—Three deaths marked the toll today of Baltimore's near zero weather. Forty-three fires in the last twenty-four hours established a new record here.

Cold In Texas.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Dec. 28.—(I. N. S.)—With the mercury standing at the above zero mark—the coldest weather here since 1918, San Antonians woke today to find a carpet of snow, which in places reached a depth of four inches.

The actual snowfall was about an inch, but the fall was growing heavier at 9:30 a. m. From the 53 degree mark Sunday, the mercury descended steadily until 5 o'clock when the freezing point was passed.

16 Above at Fort Worth.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Dec. 28.—(I. N. S.)—With the forecast for freezing weather today and tonight with slowly rising temperature tomorrow afternoon, residents were finding it hard to keep their homes comfortable. The thermometer registered 16 above at 6 o'clock this morning—the coldest for the winter. The skies were clear and there was no prediction for snow.

Fire Claims Four.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Dec. 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—George Brown and three of his sons perished in a fire which destroyed his home nine miles west of Cabol, Texas county, early Sunday morning. The dead are:

No inquest will be held.

Southwest Shivers.

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 28.—(I. N. S.)—The southeast shivered today in the grip of the coldest wave of the year, with the mercury ranging from freezing in the extreme south to zero and below.

Records of years standing were shattered as the thermometer dropped.

Florida In Cold Grip.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 28.—(I. N. S.)—The severe cold wave that swept over the United States today held northern and central Florida in its grip. The mercury tumbled to 18 degrees above zero at Pensacola and to 24 degrees at Jacksonville. Smudge pots were being fired in the citrus belt by fruit growers to protect their crops.

Gold-bronze medals two inches in diameter have been made for distribution among the guests.

The birthday celebration, nearly two years after his death, marks the end of a year which he would have had every reason to regard as the happiest since the armistice, his admirers claim. They cite as primary evidences of the working out of the Wilson ideals, the signing of the Locarno pact and the prospect of American participation in the league armament conference and adherence to the World court.

Market Quotations

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 28.

WHEAT—Selling out to realize profits overburdened the wheat market today after an early new upturn in price. Sentiment among many traders had also apparently become less favorable to the buying side. This change of view was ascribed largely to the extreme rapidity of advances in the last few days. Wheat closed irregular 1½c net lower to ⅝c gain, new style, December $1.84½ and May $1.78½@1.78⅝.

WHEAT—With a big trade in progress and general buying at the start all deliveries of wheat advanced here today to a fresh high price record for the season. Strength in foreign markets, especially Buenos Aires, was the chief factor. Heavy rains in central and southern Argentina, undesirable for harvest time, were reported. On the advance, however, previous buyers turned sellers and a sharp reaction ensued. Chicago opening prices, ½ to 3¼c higher, new style, were followed by moderate further gains and then by a setback that in some cases went below Saturday's finish.

CORN—Corn and oats sympathized with wheat. After opening ¼ to 1c higher, May 86@86¼c, the corn market scored an additional advance and then underwent a sag.

OATS—Oats started ¼c off to ⅝c up, May 46½@46⅝c, and later held near to initial figures.

—PROVISIONS—Higher quotations on hogs helped to lift provisions.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Dec. 28.

Speculators for the advance retained control of the price movements in the stock market after the triple Christmas holiday. Constructive market operations were aided by the optimistic tenor of the first 1926 business forecasts to make their appearance, the announcement of the proposed Pacific Oil-Standard Oil of California merger, and unusually favorable earnings statement of the Hudson Motor company and the fine showing made by the latest batch of November earnings reports. Bullish operations were particularly aggressive in the oils, motors and rails, S. S. Kresge soared 15 points above last week's close to 775 and General Cigar, Mack Truck and White Motor extended their early gains to 3 points or more before the end of the third hour. Among the many issues to mount to their highest levels in a year, or longer, were New York Central, Chicago & Northwestern, American Smelting and Postum Cereal. New York banks are reported to have called $25,000,000 in loans soon after the opening, sending the call money rate back to 6 per cent, but this rate was generally regarded as temporary, and apparently had little effect market-wise.

Rising prices marked the resumption of stock trading today after the Christmas recess. Encouraged by the forecast of business leaders that prosperity would continue throughout 1926, traders engaged in spirited bidding for popular stocks such as American Can General Motors, General Electric, U. S. Steel and American Smelting, lifting prices 1 to 2 points. Standard Oil of California and Pacific Oil soared 2 to 5 points in response to merger plans.

Under impetus of favorable trade and monetary conditions, including reports of extraordinary retail holiday business and an increase in reserves of the local banks, the upward movement of prices gained momentum as trading progressed. Rail shares were inclined to lag behind the rest of the list although New York Central attained a new peak price and Southern Pacific was in brisk demand. Accumulation of buying orders for Pacific Oil, following announcement of its consolidation with Standard of California, caused a split opening at 74-75, compared with the previous closing of 70½.

LIVESTOCK MARKET.

By the Associated Press.
OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 28.

CATTLE—Receipts, 7,000. Monday's very moderate run of cattle was made up largely of beef steers that were only fair in point of quality and finish. Demand from packers and shippers did not seem to be particularly urgent and the general market was decidedly slow at about last week's closing levels. Fair to good beef steers brought $8.50@9.50, and a good share of the plainer stock sold around $8.00 and under. Cows and heifers, as well as stockers and feeders, were in limited supply, active demand and quotably strong.

Closing: Fed steers and yearlings slow; steady; bulk $8.25@9.60; few loads up to $10.00; some held higher; she stock generally steady; bulls, 10@15c higher; veals steady to strong; stockers and feeders scarce, strong; bulk butcher cows $4.25@6.00; heifers, $6.75@7.75; canners and cutters $3.75@4.50; bologna bulls, $5.00@5.25; beef bulls, $5.50@6.25; practical veal top $9.50; few to independents at $10.00; heavy calves $6.75@7.75; stockers and feeders, $7.00@8.10.

HOGS—Receipts, 10,000. Outlet to all quarters showed considerable breadth today, and the moderate supply at hand found no trouble clearing at seasonable hour of the forenoon at levels largely 25c higher than last Saturday; bulk of all sales, $11.00@11.40; top, $11.50.

Closing: Active, mostly 25@35c higher; desirable 140 to 200 pound weights $11.25@11.50; top $11.50; good and choice 200 to 300 pound butchers $11.15@11.25; mostly $11.25; packing sows $9.50@10.00; bulk of all sales, $11.10@11.25; average cost Saturday $10.80; weight 239; average cost for the week $10.77; weight 237.

STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Dec., 28.—A bullish demonstration—generally described as an old fashioned Christmas market characterized the trade in stocks last week. Transactions were not as large as in the preceding week, but were large for the preholiday sessions, with the industrial shares resuming the leadership after the recent period of exceptional strength and activity on the part of the rails.

The average of twenty representative industrials made a gain of more than 2½ points in the 4-day week which ended Thursday, reaching a new high level for the year, while the rail average rose about half a point.

A wide variety of issues made substantial gains, in some cases ranging from 5 to 35 points. The recovery came after an early period of irregularity during which some substantial recessions took place in the motor and some of the high priced industrial specialties.

Much of the buying apparently represented short covering on the part of professional traders who had badly misjudged the strength of the speculative leaders, particularly American Can. In addition, bullish sentiment was created by the passing of the tax reduction bill by the house of representatives; by reports of heavy steel consumption; publication of constructive oil trade statistics; a series of favorable dividend developments, and the optimistic tenor of the first of the yearly reviews to make its appearance.

Big Rise in American Can.

American Can was easily the outstanding individual feature, soaring 36 points to a new high record for all time at 296, as compared with the year's low of 158½ established January 16. The buying was said to be based on reports that current earnings are running at the rate of $7 a share on the new stock, six shares of which were given for each one of the old through a stock spit-up and the declaration of a stock dividend.

While rails as a group did not display as much strength as in the preceding week, a number sold at the highest prices in a year or longer, including Atchison, New York central and Atlantic Coast line. Some unusually favorable November earnings reports, particularly by the western carrier, and a seasonal record in freight loadings accounted in part for the advances. Car loadings in the first two weeks of the month have been above a million, the month have been above a million, the largest of similar period in history.

A Big Oil Merger

Oil shares met an active demand, with buying stimulated by reports of mergers in the Mid-continent and California fields. Merger of the Pacific Oil company and Standard of California was announced after the close of the market Thursday. The stock of the Pacific company as well as Associated Oil and Barnsdall, all touched new high levels for the year. Pan-American issues derived special strength from the development of new wells in Mexico, greatly increasing the company's crude production in that country.

Await New Year With Interest.

At the close of the week Wall street was chiefly interested in figuring out what may happen in the money and stock markets during January—with sentiment generally cheerful.

While the situation today is fundamentally different in some ways from that of a year ago, it is of interest to point out what happened last January and afterwards.

On January 2, the first business day of this year, the stock market, after two months of wild post-election speculation, was very excited, with nearly 2 million shares changing hands and with prices advancing sharply. Call money on January 2 of this year was 5 per cent. By January 8 it had dropped to 2½ per cent. In the meantime a violent break had occurred in the wheat market and widespread wage reductions were announced by New England textile mills. The stock market continued to advance, however, until January 15, when a severe reaction occurred as a result of the extended post-election speculation.

The reaction which occurred in the stock market around the middle of last January seemed to correct technical conditions, for on January 19 the upward price movement was resumed under the leadership of oil and steel shares. Before the close of January there were some signs of a slowing down in the volume of buying in steel products, but the steel mills continued to operate at 85 to 100 per cent of capacity.

If building plans are checked in the spring, it is believed, there will be a slowing down in general trade.

Whatever happens in building next year, one industry, the railroads, is likely to go along its way gaining ground through increased efficiency. In the ups and downs of the past few years it has become increasingly plain that the railroads have become a stabilizing factor in the general industrial situation.—Kansas City Star.

GRAIN MARKETS.

An unexpected reduction in the final estimate of the wheat crop and a bullish report on the fall sown acreage and condition, together with strong foreign markets and unfavorable advices from Argentina, sent futures soaring in impressive fashion last week, says the Kansas City Star. At times trade showed a tendency to quiet down, but generally there was not much hint of the holiday dullness which often prevails at this season. All deliveries and carlot quotations reached new high levels for the season.

December wheat closed Saturday with gains of about 14 to 15 cents for the week, May was up 14 to nearly 16 cents and July was 10 to 11 cents higher. The final quotations were a little under the top level of the week. Most of the advance occurred on Wednesday, following the issuance of the final crop figures for 1925, and Saturday when some pessimistic crop advices were received from Argentina.

Gains at Winnipeg were smaller, due to a holiday Friday, futures closing Thursday 7 to 10 cents higher for the week.

Liverpool futures advanced about 4 to 4½ pence for the week, while spot prices were inclined to lag.

The reduction in the crop estimate was decided surprise, as the trade generally expected little change or probably a small increase.

Total wheat yield was placed at 669 million bushels, 28 million bushels less than the preliminary estimate in October and 194 million less than in 1924 harvest. Compared with 1923 there was a decrease of 128 million bushels. This is the smallest crop since 1917, when it amounted to only 651 million bushels.

Final estimate of the winter wheat yield was 398 million bushels, 18 million less than the preliminary forecast and 192 million under last season's harvest. Spring wheat was reduced 11 million bushels to 271 million, or slightly less than last year's crop. In addition, the spring wheat figures for 1924 were revised and reduced 10 million bushels.

Smaller Winter Area.

The official estimate of the fall sown wheat acreage, issued Thursday afternoon, was about as looked for, but was regarded as moderately bullish. Total area was placed at 39,540,000 acres, 1 per cent less than the revised estimate of last year's plantings. This compared with 38,664,000 in the fall of 1923 and 46,103,000 in 1922. Conditions on December 1 was somewhat lower than expected, 82.7, a little less than 2 points higher than a year ago, 5.3 points lower than two years ago and a little more than 2 points under the 10-year December average.

Kansas acreage was placed at 11,492,000 acres, an increase of about 7 per cent over last year. Condition on the first of the month was 84, compared with 76 a year ago and a 10-year average of 79.

Oklahoma showed an increase of 6 per cent' Nebraska a decrease of 1 per cent, and Missouri a decrease of 28 per cent.

In September the department of agriculture's estimate of the intended plantings suggested an increase of nearly 10 per cent. Low temperatures at seeding time, drought and other adverse weather accounted for the fact that sowings were not as large as planned.

Adverse Weather in Argentina.

Argentina crop and weather advices on the whole were unfavorable, though several bearish estimates of the yield were issued. Rains delayed harvesting in the northern provinces and there were numerous reports of disappointing yields; the outlook was said to be less favorable in the southern sections than described several weeks ago, and there was frequent mention of rust. The Buenos Aires market maintained a strong tone.

Limited Export Buying.

Foreign demand for wheat was quiet and sales in all positions did not exceed 3 million bushels, most of which was reported in small scattered lots. England and several of the continental countries, including Germany, were in the market for limited amounts of Manitobas. Seasonal weather accounted in part for the dullness, in addition to which trade was restricted somewhat by the scarcity of spot offerings at the seaboard. The Canadian pool it was said, is about the only seller with any important quantities of wheat available for nearby loading.

Austrian wheat was offered more freely and Argentina offerings for late January and February loading were larger.

Exports of wheat and flour from the United States and Canada last week, as reported by Bradstreet's, were 8,963,000 bushels, an increase of about 1½ million over the preceding week.

Argentina exported a little more than 1 1-4 million bushels, a slight increase over the preceding week and about 3-4 million less than a year ago. Shipments from Australia and the Black Sea were unimportant.

Receipts Larger Than Last Year.

Receipts of wheat at the five principal markets last week (five days) totaled 4,012 cars, a decrease of 27 per cent from the preceding week and 43 per cent more than a year ago. Compared with two years ago, there was an increase of 33 per cent. Kansas City had 615 cars, 377 less than in the week before and 190 more than a year ago.

In the carlot market demand was fairly good at advancing prices. Compared with a week ago, hard and dark hard wheat Saturday were up 8 to 13 cents and red wheat wah 11 to 12 cents higher. Quotations for most grades ranged from $1.67 to $1.87.

Advance in Corn Prices.

Strength in wheat and a reduction in the crop estimate stimulated demand for corn futures. Closing prices Saturday were near the high level of the week, up 3 5-8 to 5 1-8 cents at both Kansas City and Chicago.

Final estimate of the corn crop was 2,901 million bushels, a reduction of 112 million bushels from the preliminary estimate and 588 million more than the 1924 harvest. Compared with two years ago, there was a decerase of 153 million bushels.

Earlier private estimates, based largely on reports of large yields in some of the states of big production, had suggested a substantial increase, probably as much as 100 million bushels.

An occasional export inquiry was reported and a few scattered sales were confirmed, but the total was not large enough to influence the market.

Receipts of corn at the four principal markets last week were 3,668 cars, a decrease of 11 per cent from the preceding week and 41 per cent more than a year ago. Compared with two years ago, there was a decrease of 8 per cent.

Demand for carlot offerings was good. Prices of all grades Saturday were 2½ to 4 cents higher than a week ago. Quotations ranged from 68 to 77½ cents.

Big Advance In Rye.

Rye futures in Chicago followed wheat, closing Saturday with gains of 10 to 13 cents for the week. Final estimate of the crop was 49 million bushels, 3 million less than the preliminary forecast and 15 million less than last year's.

TRAIN REDUCES AUTO TO JUNK

Is Hit By Union Pacific Engine and Entirely Demolished.

SALINA, Kas., Dec. 28.—(AP)—A large automobile owned, Union Pacific officials say, by George Dumas of Kansas City, Mo., was reduced to junk when struck by Union Pacific passenger train east of town during the night.

The car stalled on a crossing and the occupants, George Dumas, George Gopois, Falls City, Neb., and William Anthony, Chicago, were unable to push it off the tracks. They fled as the train approached. Their belongings were scattered over a wide territory.

first and third of each month. The commission will hear five cases daily, instead of three or four, as hitherto, and will get through with as many each week as before. It will have one more day for looking up authorities and preparing findings to submit to the court.

Among the importantcivil cases on the call for argument before the supreme court the first wek in January is the rehearing of Attorney General Spillman's suit against the Brictson Manufacturing Co., brought in the interest of the Nebraska stockholders. It is set for Tuesday, the 5th.

On the same day the court will hear the appeal of the Richardson county board from the district court judgment allowing Deputy Sheriff Alvin Smith $250 as jailer's fees, additional to his regular salary.

On January 6 the high bench will listen to argument on the appeal of District Judge Willard E. Stewart from the jury's award of $26,000 for land in the Salt creek bottoms taken by the city of Lincoln for public purposes. A former judgment of $28,000 which Stewart obtained was appealed by him as unsatisfactory and set aside by the superior tribunal; but on retrial the second jury allowed him $2,000 less.

The only criminal cases on the call are both set for hearing January 7. In one of them, John H. Smith of Omaha asks that his conviction for larceny as bailee, involving the sale of a diamond ring and other property which had been purchased on the installment plan and not fully paid for, be set aside. The Grimm liquor case from Sioux county is also scheduled for that date.

By extensive lending, mortgages on farm lands and on homes, and through financing municipal improvements and public utilities they constructively apportioned vast resources. The 1925 statistics show that this practice is now more general than it has ever been and there is virtually no section of the country which does not benefit thereby.

Reduction and revision of taxation on sound and reasonable lines is a factor of large import and cannot but be stimulative of employment and encouraging to industry. If the economy program of the federal government is emulated by the state and municipal sub-divisions and commonly by individuals the result will be a considerable advance in the general welfare.

Unneeded Building.

An ominous sign is the extreme speculation, especially in real estate and the erection of buildings for which there is no economic demand.

This is born in a measure of inordinate desire to get rich quick, and reckless, indiscriminate lending on mortgages on such enterprises

There are indications that in 1926 there will be a better understanding that the prosperity of the country is bound up with the well-being of the railroads and that the railroads should be treated in a spirit of equity so that they can function efficiently and develop soundly.

While wholesale community prices of farm products, which, in view of what the farmer has gone through in recent years, is a matter of moment and of good augury to all.

The working out of Europe's problems cannot but redound to the advantage of the rest of the world and the progress recently made in this respect should give America satisfaction.

I believe the New Year dawns with much of promise for those who bring to bear on their problems knowledge, courage and imagination tempered with moderation, good judgment and a disposition to carry out the precepts of the golden rule.

forage disease investigations in the U. S. department of agriculture in Washington, D. C., led the discussion in the afternoon, which dealt entirely with the results shown by the plants in the college green houses. "It is expected that the discussion will end in a much clearer understanding of what each of us is doing along the same line of potato disease control," Dr. Pelteir said.

Research Carried on Here.

Because Nebraska ranks as one of the leading potato producing states in the union and because five years of intensive research work has been carried on here, the Nebraska college invited the scientists of other states to the one-day meeting. Western Nebraska is now national known as a producer of certified potato seed, it is said, and disease control is the big problem of these producers. Wm. Morrow, in charge of certification of seed in Nebraska, and a few producers were down from Alliance to listen to the discussion.

North Co. to Print Capitol Booklets

A contract has been awarded by the capitol commission to Jacob North and Co., of Lincoln to print 10,000 copies of a souvenir booklet containing photographs, drawing designs and descriptive matter pertaining to the new edifice, for approximately $1,800. They will be delivered within the next month or so and will be sold to the public for 25 cents a copy. There will be 32 pages, 6x9 inches in size, on heavy white paper. About half the space will be taken up by illustrations.

NEARLY THIRTY DEAD AND FIRE DAMAGE LARGE

witnessed a $71,000 blaze, and a half million went up in flames in Ohio. Numerous smaller fires throughout the country helped swell the total loss.

While below zero temperatures sprinkled the entire weather map Saturday night and Sunday, the record for extreme drops was held by the northeast. The low point at Tupper Lake, N. Y., was 28, with Stewartstown, N. H., a close second with 27. The reading was 24 at Lake Saranac, N. Y. Marks of 10 to 14 below were common in the middlewest and Rocky mountain states.

19 Below at Ainsworth.

The mercury at Ainsworth, Neb., reacher 19 below, when such separated points as Miles City, Mont., and Sault Ste Marie, Mich., tied at 1 minus. The cold wave extended down into New Mexico, where readings of 15 to 20 degrees above were numerous. In Missouri Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas the mercury was at the lowest of the year. The Ohio river was choked with ice floes and water traffic was tied up.

The south did not escape. While no snow fell, chill winds brought a real taste of winter to the middle and south Atlantic states. At Asheville, N. C., the reading was 4 above last night while Roanoke, Va., reported 8. The average in the Carolinas was 20, in Georgia 25, while cold winds shot the mercury down to 40 at Jacksonville, Fla., and 42 at Tampa.

New England Recovering.

BOSTON, Dec. 23.—(By the Associated Press.)—New England was recovering today from the shock of a cold wave that swept in with a northwest gale late Saturday, caused three deaths from cold, brought severe suffering and resulted in innumerable fires in which four children perished.

Promise Relief Soon.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—(I. N. S.)—Some relief from the severe cold wave that has gripped the country from the Rocky mountains to the Atlantic was promised today by the United States weather bureau. Wintry weather also has extended as far south as Alabama.

The cold spell will reach its peak tonight and probably will be followed by rising temperatures generally througout the east and middlewest, according to the bureau.

Many Fires In Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Dec. 28.—I. N. S.)—Three deaths marked the toll today of Baltimore's near zero weather. Forty-three fires in the last twenty-four hours established a new record here.

Cold In Texas.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Dec. 28.—(I. N. S.)—With the mercury standing at the above zero mark—the coldest weather here since 1918, San Antonians woke today to find a carpet of snow, which in places reached a depth of four inches.

The actual snowfall was about an inch, but the fall was growing heavier at 9:30 a. m. From the 53 degree mark Sunday, the mercury descended steadily until 5 o'clock when the freezing point was passed.

16 Above at Fort Worth.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Dec. 28.—(I. N. S.)—With the forecast for freezing weather today and tonight with slowly rising temperature tomorrow afternoon, residents were finding it hard to keep their homes comfortable. The thermometer registered 16 above at 6 o'clock this morning—the coldest for the winter. The skies were clear and there was no prediction for snow.

Fire Claims Four.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Dec. 25.—(By the Assciated Press.)—George Brown and three of his sons perished in a fire which destroyed his home nine miles west of Cabol, Texas county, early Sunday morning. The dead are:

No inquest will be held.

Southwest Shivers.

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 28.—(I. N. S.)—The southeast shivered today in the grip of the coldest wave of the year, with the mercury ranging from freezing in the extreme south to zero and below.

Records of years standing were shattered as the thermometer dropped.

Florida In Cold Grip.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 28.—(I. N. S.)—The severe cold wave that swept over the United States today held northern and central Florida in its grip. The mercury tumbled to 18 degrees above zero at Pensacola and to 24 degrees at Jacksonville. Smudge pots were being fired in the citrus belt by fruit growers to protect their crops.

HAS NEW PLAN CHURCH FINANCE

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—By the Associated Press.—Establishment of an intensive system of alumni memberships and endowments as a means of insuring the future stability of churches is advocated by the Rev. Dr. George F. Atwater, rector of the Episcopal Church of Our Saviour, Akron O., in the January issue of the Diocese of Chicago published today.

Because of the shifting and changing population of the nation and the attitude of the public toward religion, Dr. Atwater says that such a plan must be developed to enable churches to carry on their work. The financial problem is the great menace to religion today, Dr. Atwater declared. After several years working on the plan, Dr. Atwater has inaugurated a system of cumulative endowments and alumni memberships in his parish.

"Under this plan every member of the parish is enrolled as a founder of a distinct individual endowment for the parish," he explains. "The original gift may be very modest, as well as succeeding gifts, but all are strictly voluntary and of any sum the member cares to give. These gifts are put into trust perpetually so that the principal sum may never be expended for any purpose whatsoever. The income from the fund goes to the parish for whatever purpose needed. The plan is the alumni system. If an endowment founder removes from the parish, he becomes an alumnus and as an alumnus he is asked to give once a year a small sum to his endowment in the parish. This feature is important as it encourages the parish to keep in touch with those who remove from it."

The success of the plan, according to Dr. Atwater is shown by the fact that within a short time more than 1,000 persons have been enrolled as founders of endowments. He predicts that the plan will develop into the most recognized form of church financing.

THE LINCOLN STAR Classified Advertising

The Lincoln Star is a member of the Association of Newspaper Classified Advertising Managers, which includes leading newspapers throughout the country and has for its aim the elimination of fraudulent and misleading classified advertising. The Lincoln Star, as well as every other member of the Association, endeavors to print only truthful Want Ads and will appreciate having its attention called to any advertisement not conforming to the highest standard of honesty.

Advertising ordered for irregular insertions takes the one time rate. No ad is taken for less than a basis of three lines.

Ads ordered for seven times and stopped before expiration will be charged for only the number of times the ad appeared and adjustment made at the rate earned.

Special rates for yearly advertising upon request.

Everything For Everybody

It's a sweeping phrase, but not too broad to be applied to the Star's A-B-C Classified Section.

Each day brings its assortment of offers to these classified columns. In the course of a year these offers swell in volume until they literally include everything for everybody.

There are offers for the butcher, the baker, the candlestick maker—and offers from the same men.

And what is equally important, these offers are all alphabetically indexed and numerically classified—thus converting this section into an annual Dictionary of Opportunity.

Everything for everybody!

Charges Fly Between Philly Mayor And Marine Police Chief He Fired

Charges are flying between W. Freeland Kendrick, "reform" mayor of Philadelphia, and (right) Smedley D. Butler, who appear here to be friends. Butler, who returns to active duty as brigadier general in marine corps as a result of his dismissal as police chief of Philadelphia, declares Kendrick tied his hands by making him "lay off the big places." The mayor in turn declares Butler did not have a "proper appreciation of his responsibility to a superior officer."

HAS NEW PLAN CHURCH FINANCE

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—By the Associated Press.)—Establishment of an extensive system of alumni memberships and endowments as a means of insuring the future stability of churches is advocated by the Rev. Dr. George F. Atwater, rector of the Episcopal Church of Our Saviour, Akron O., in the January issue of the Diocese of Chicago, published today.

Because of the shifting and changing population of the nation and the attitude of the public toward religion, Dr. Atwater says that such a plan must be developed to enable churches to carry on their work. The financial problem is the great menace to religion today, Dr. Atwater declared. After several years working on the plan, Dr. Atwater has inaugurated a system of cumulative endowments and alumni memberships in his parish.

"Under this plan, every member of the parish is enrolled as a founder of a distinct, individual endowment for the parish," he explains. The original gift may be very modest, as well as succeeding gifts, but all are strictly voluntary and of any sum the member cares to give. These gifts are put into trust perpetually so that the principal sum may never be expended for any purpose whatsoever. The income from the fund goes to the parish for whatever purpose needed. the plan is the alumni system. If an endowment founder removes from the parish, he becomes an alumnus, and as an alumnus he is asked to give once a year a small sum to his endowment in the parish. This feature is important as it encourages the parish to keep in touch with those who remove from it."

The success of the plan, according to Dr. Atwater, is shown by the fact that within a short time more than 1,000 persons have been enrolled as founders of endowments. He predicts that the plan will develop into one widely recognized for church financing.

THE WEATHER.

An immense area of very high pressure has descended from the Canadian northwest and overspread the Missouri and Mississippi valleys and the Great Plains, carrying zero temperatures as far south as southern Kansas and southern Missouri, and temperatures in the twenties to the Gulf coast and northern Florida. A sleet storm is in progress this morning in southern Texas. The cold area is extending eastward, and falling pressure and warmer weather appear west of the Rockies and in western Canada. It is snowing in Colorado and Wyoming.

Everything For Everybody

It's a sweeping phrase, yet not too broad to be applied to the Star's A-B-C Classified Section.

Each day brings its assortment of offers to these classified columns. In the course of a year these offers swell in volume until they literally include everything for everybody.

There are offers for the butcher, the baker, the candlestick maker—and offers from the same men.

And what is equally important, these offers are all alphabetically indexed and numerically classified—thus converting this section into an actual Dictionary of Opportunity.

Everything for everybody!

The A-B-C Classified Ads Always the Same—in Service Always Different—in Opportunity

Charges are flying between W. Freeland Kendrick, "reform" mayor of Philadelphia, and (right) Smedley D. Butler, who appear here to be friends. Butler, who returns to active duty as brigadier general in marine corps as a result of his dismissal as police chief of Philadelphia, declares Kendrick tied his hands by making him "lay off the big places." The mayor in turn declares Butler did not have a "proper appreciation of his responsibility to a superior officer."

Minerva's Mail

"Thou Shalt Not."

"It isn't where we came from that matters; it's where we are headed for," someone said patly during the evolution skirmish at Tennessee.

But still the interest remains unabated in the theories of evolution.

In the letter published below, the question of capital punishment is introduced. What is meant by the Biblical admonition, "Thou shalt not kill" is questioned.

In this regard I can't resist quoting from L. E. Laws, warden of Sing Sing, who has directed the execution of more than a hundred convicted murderers. This is what he said:

"In capital punishment we see the spectacle of a great commonwealth stopped to the ethics of a murderer, for legal execution is a cold, deliberate act. It is punishment for revenge, not for protection. It serves no purpose but to get rid of the murderer. I used to believe strongly in the social necessity of capital punishment, now I do not.

"There is no room for sentimentality, but death pales into insignificance compared with life imprisonment.

"We find fewer homicidal crimes in character, where it is retained. When England had 240 capital offenses crime was far more prevalent than today. Executions, like war, brutalize men, the more that take place, the greater the number there are to execute."

Dear Minerva: In the words of Artemus Ward, "It's some consid'ble of a time sence I hain't write no letters, and there's great changes hes took place in all political matters." It's fine we didn't start politics instead of evolution for discussion, but either one is good for a quick fight. I guess.

How many of the non-evoluters read the article the other day about the tribe of fishes that are evolution right now this very minute from water to land livers? They can't stay in water, they must get into the air or die. They are climbing up along a different branch from that taken by the first old fish evolutors; they will be many generations getting to their goal, but they are on their way. I wonder what sort of animal they will eventually work up to, probably something very different from anything we know now.

Well, evolution and religion have it—up and down; everybody's got mad and gathered up his doll rags and won't play in our yard any more.

But I'll tell you the question I meant to aim at your readers this mornings and that is how Bible-believing people get by with their belief is capital punishment. Take the commandment "Thou Shalt not Kill." It doesn't say thou shalt not a flea or an elephant. It says in plain language, "Thou shalt not kill." What about it, all of you? —INTERESTED.

From a Nurse.

Dear Minerva: I am a nurse and get in on the inside of home life and find from years of observation and contact with people of all classes, that most men are easily handled; the requirements are only love, cudeling and much praise, as mother did before their marriage. Many wives let their children come first. A wife's biggest baby is her husband. It behooves her to mother him first.

So many wives marry for anything but love; for instance, position, money, social standing and consider a wife's duty unbearable; only looking upon husband as a bank. I find most men who hunt happiness away from home, have a just cause.

Of course there are a few hopeless men.

Why should any woman deny sex or try to overrule it? It plays a most important part in human lives, and until men and women are properly mated divorce will continue and playing around will break many homes.

I have nursed many wealthy folks and only a few are happy. The mismated pairs in the world are appalling. Where couples are not mated discord abounds and happiness is sought elsewhere.

I pitty rather than condemn men who must seek their pleasures away from home as they would be true if their wives would abide by God's law. I know many wives who do not live by God's law, but cry "Wolf" loudly when their husbands go for pleasure which is denied them at home. This is my experience from being a nurse and closely observing all classes of people. A NURSE.

A. I wonder how the men enjoy being told that they must be babied to be kept happy. I'll bet the idea doesn't rhyme with their personal pictures of themselves as big, powerful "he-men," as they love to call themselves.

"Nurse" says that happiness is scarce among wealthy folks. Personally I doubt if the existence or absence of wealth makes much difference. Happiness, I think, is due to tolerance and kindliness and understanding, and money is merely a side issue.

High School Glee Clubs Give Vesper Concert on Sunday

Selections from the "Messiah," by Handel, were given at the vesper concert by the high school glee clubs at the high school auditorium Sunday afternoon. The program was directed by H. O. Ferguson and was presented before about 500 people. Assisting soloists were Herbert Gray, tenor; Lloyd Robinson, bass; Mrs. Eula Marshall Brewster, soprano; Miss Marian Sylvester, contralto. The high school orchestra of twenty pieces under the direction of C. B. Righter, jr., played the accompaniments. It also played the instrumental number of the oratorio, "The Pastoral Symphony."

As a prelude to the concert the audience sang "O Come All Ye Faithful," and "Silent Night." The concert was the twenty-second given by the glee clubs, and, according to Mr. Ferguson, several more are being planned for the winter.

The program:

Tenor solo—Comfort Ye My People, Herbert Gray.

Chorus—And the Glory of the Lord, high school glee club.

Selection — Pastoral Symphony, High school orchestra.

Soprano recitive—(a) There Were Shepherds. (b) And Lo, the Angel of the Lord. (c) And the Angel Said Unto Them. (d) And Suddenly There Was With the Angel. Mrs. Brewster.

Chorus—Glory to God, the glee club.

Contralto solo—He Shall Feed His Flock, Miss Sylvester.

Chorus—Surely He Hath Borne Our Griefs, the glee club.

COUNTY OFFICIALS ASK STATE ROUTE

Tell Cochran Would Give Better Communications With Omaha, Lincoln.

County officials and citizens of Otoe and Johnson counties were in Lincoln Monday to confer with State Engineer Cochran on a proposed new state highway to run south from Syracuse through Cook to Tecumseh, and thence to the southern boundary of Johnson county. The Johnson county people are particularly anxious to have this route improved by being put on a permanent grade and later graveled.

It would put Tecumseh and Johnson county, they suggest to the state engineer, in direct communication with Lincoln, Nebraska City and Omaha, with a highway that could be traveled in all kinds of weather. Farmers in that territory send a good many hogs by truck to the packing house at Nebraska City. There is already a state highway from that place to Lincoln, which is being graveled, and the road from Tecumseh and Cook connects with it at Syracuse in both directions.

Otoe county is doing a good deal of road improvement work on its own account. and its officials said the branch route south from Syracuse would be graded and graveled with county and local funds to the Johnson county line, a distance of 10 miles, if the project is not taken care of with state funds. It would then be up to Johnson county to improve the rest of it, except a few miles north and east of Tecumseh, where it joins the Goldenrod highway.

But the Tecumseh people are interested in getting a north and south main highway through their town, which would involve a greater outlay than Johnson county could afford at this time, with its local roads in other directions needing attention. So they are hoping to get the route opened up as an addition to the state highway system. Eventually, they hope, this highway will be continued from Tecumseh straight south through Pawnee county to the Kansas line.

Otoe county was represented in the Monday coufab by Fred Markel, chairman of the county board, Henry Heesch and J. E. Wallen, the other two commissioners, H. C. Schwaderer, highway commissioner, Oliver Stevensen, county clerk, and W. N. Hunter, Syracuse.

The party from Johnson county included G. G. Betzelberger, chairman of the county board; W. L. Wilson and Cleve Little, commissioners; F. C. Radke, county judge; Gene Bush and Carl Brock, Tecumseh; John Howarth, and Henry Schacht, Cook.

FILING MADE BY F. E. EDGERTON

Served as Assistant Attorney General; Active Republican Worker.

Frank E. Edgerton's candidacy for congress in the fourth district, for nomination in the republican primary next August, was formally launched Monday when his filing papers were received by Secretary of State Pool in the mail from Aurora, the candidate's home. His is the first entry in that district. Congressman M. O. McLaughlin will refile in January.

Mr. Edgerton is 50 years old, a graduate of Woodbine normal college at Woodbine, Ia., and of the University of Nebraska. He was president of the class of 1900 at the latter institution. For several years he was principal of the Fremont high school, and later entered newspaper work, becoming state capitol and political reporter on The Lincoln Star. From 1907 to 1910 he was secretary to United States Senator Norris Brown at Washington and while there completed his law education, previously commenced at Ann Arbor. He served four years as assistant attorney general of Nebraska under Grant G. Martin. Since 1915, he has made his home at Aurora and practiced law there. He was elected county attorney of Hamilton county, and has been active in republican politics as chairman of the republican county committee and otherwise.

The following in party government, I shall, if elected to congress from the fourth district, work with my republican associates as far as I can consistently do so, having in mind the best interests of my district and the state of Nebraska. I am a republican of the west, born in the west and there educated. I have been educated and trained by Nebraska and I shall always be of Nebraska and for Nebraska.

"If I am elected to congress I shall devote all my time and attention to the work. I shall study the questions before congress as carefully as a lawyer does his cases, as a physician does the ailments of his patients and as a business man does the desires and needs of his customers, seeking to secure legislation that will be most beneficial to the people of my district and my state."

CLOTHING STOCK DAMAGED BY FIRE

Blaze of Unknown Origin Causes $3,000 Loss at 141 North 12th.

A loss of nearly $3,000 was the result of fire of unknown origin at the Capitol Clothing company, 141 North Twelfth street, shortly after midnight Sunday. The fire, starting near the bottom of a partition between the clothing company and the American Kitchen, 137 North Twelfth street, damaged most of the stock, according to W. Wolf, proprietor. Much of the stock was damaged also by smoke and water.

Firemen were at a loss to attribute a cause to the blaze. The alarm was turned in at 12:30 o'clock.

The stock in Wolf's clothing store was insured for $3,000, he said, and the loss would probably total that much when completely checked up.

ROBBERS WORK AT EARLY HOUR

(Special to The Star.)

FAIRBURY, Neb., Dec. 28.—Two thieves held up Ed Ellsworth at the Dickenson filling station here before daylight Monday. One held the gun while another took $36 from Mr. Ellsworth's pockets, the money belonging to him personally.

"Don't tramp on our heels," they told Ellsworth when they left. Butcher Ross says that he saw two men leave the station and get into a Ford car parked across the street and drive away.

This is the second early morning attempt to rob the Dickenson station. The first made by three men a few weeks ago was frustrated. Ellsworth believes two of the same men held him up Monday.

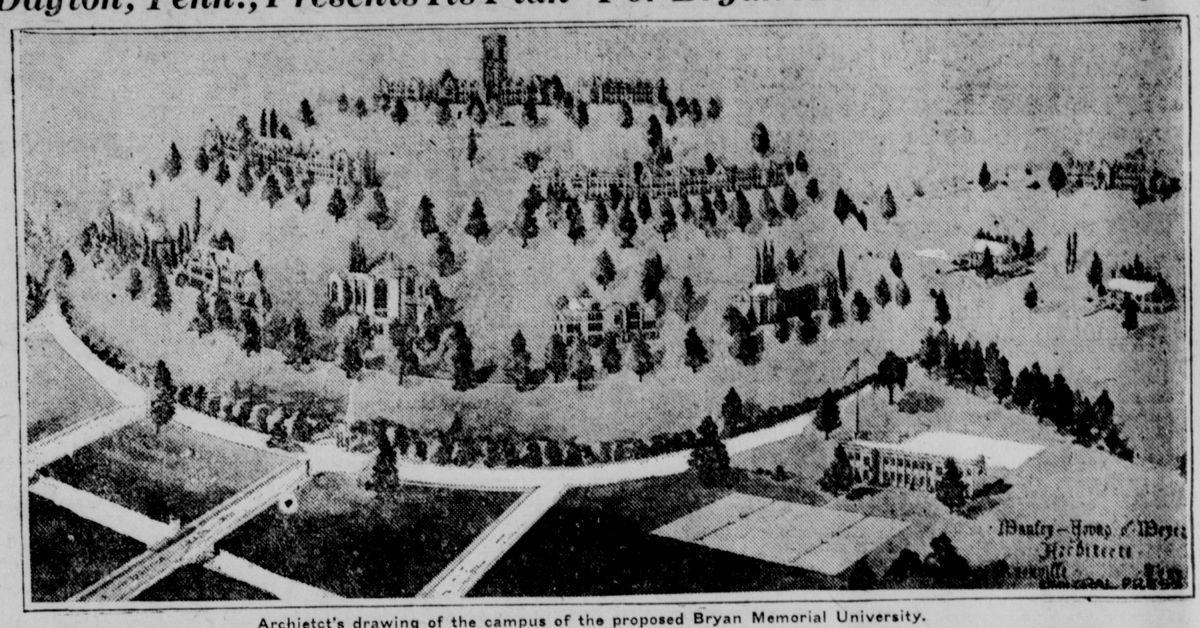

HONZA OUT FOR STATE AUDITOR

Deputy State Acditor Frank B. Honza of Omaha made his personal filing with the secretary of state, Monday forenoon, as a candidate for state auditor in the republican primary to succeed his present chief, George W. Marsh. Mr. Honza is the first man to take his official entry into the auditorship race, on either ticket. He has been deputy auditor the last three years. Previously, he was an acountant in the Douglas treasurer's office and the Omaha city comptroller's department.

Dayton, Tenn., Presents Its Plan For Bryan Memorial University

DAYTON, Tenn.,—The "monkey trial town" is looking for another and permanent boom if its plans for a William Jennings Bryan Memorial university carry.

Preparations now are being completed for a national drive for endowments. It is hoped to begin construction in 1926 and open some of the schools which will compose the institution in September, 1927.

Plans for the campus and buildings have been drawn by Manley, Young and Meyer of Knoxville, and submitted to the campaign committee.

The drawing accompanying this story shows how the buildings would be situated on a hill overlooking Dayton. The structures shown from left to right and from top to bottom are: Girls' gymnasium, library, girls' dormitory, chapel, science buildings, administration buildings, students activities building, another science building, boys' dormitory group, boys' gymnasium, stadium and athletic field, president's residence, Rena Clark Haggard Memorial hospital, faculty residence.

There is considerable speculation as to what varieties of science will be taught in the two buildings set aside for that purpose, since the institution is intended to be a monument to fundamentalism.

Tennessee already has three important universities—the state university, Vanderbilt and Sewanee.

Sees Greater Tornado Tolls In Middlewest

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 28.—(AP)—The death toll of tornadoes will increase in the middlewest as that section becomes more thickly settled, S. D. Flora, meteorlogist of the United States weather bureau, Topeka, Kas., forecast before the American meteorlogical society convention here today.

Such disasters as claimed 725 lives in southern Illinois a year ago will be repeated many times, Mrs. Flora said, and unless construction of homes and public buildings is improved, few large cities will escape the devastation of wind storms.

"The genius of man has always tricmped over obstacles and there is no reason to think that he will not ultimately strip the tornado of at least part of its terror." Mr. Flora said.

The meterologists are holding their meeting in connection with the annual convention of the American Association for the Advancement of Science and related organizations.

Several thousand delegates of the association and twenty allied societies were registered. The convention will continue through Saturday.

Home Economics Program Centers On Child-Training

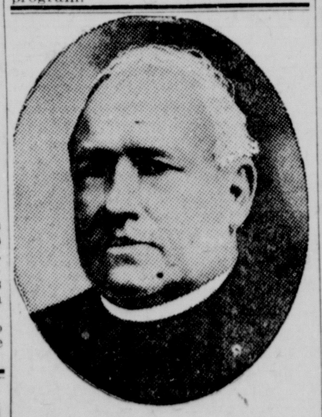

The 1926 program of the state Home Economics association, which convenes here during Organized Agriculture week, January 5 to 8, centers around the training and care of the small child in the home. Many of the members of the association are mothers with much the same problems in their homes.

Even mothers with small children may attend the meetings of the association this year, as a nursery will be provided in an adjoining room, with experienced caretakers in charge.

Mrs. May Pardee Youtz of the University of Iowa will give four of the leading addresses on the three-day program of the association, and will also hold private conferences with mothers. Mrs. Youtz is head of the child study and parent education division at the University of Iowa. Her topics will include "The Newer Understanding of Child Behavior," "The Small Child and Fear," "Why Children Lie," and "Learning to Live With the Group." One will be delivered at each session Wednesday and Thursday.

Woman's part in rural progress will be the topic of Mrs. Charles W. Sewell Wednesday morning. Mrs. Newell is a farm wife of Indiana and chairman of the women's committee of the Indiana Farm Bureau Federation.

Mrs. Sewell is also scheduled to speak before the meetings of the farm bureau federation here.

CLOSING COUNCIL SESSION BRIEF

The session of the city council Monday afternoon was probably the shortest of record for 1925. The council came down to the last meeting of the year with nothing on file save a few bills, an ordinance for third reading, a few reports and a small grist of resolutions, and the adjournment was reached in less than half an hour. City Treasurer Gillaspie presided in the absence of Mayor Zehrung who is confined to his home with a severe cold.

The council approved the purchase of 1,000 feet of 2½-inch fire hose by Commissioner Wright who submitted a resolution awarding Rudge & Guenzel company an order for 400 feet at its bid of $1.45 per foot; The American LaFrance company 300 feet at $1.50 and the Eureka Fire Hose company the same quantity at a similar price.

An ordinance on third reading provides for the establishing of grades in Wilberger's first addition. Plat for the addition already has been accepted.

Inspections fund, $542.08.
Interest and coupon fund, $999.32.
Sinking fund, $860.03.
City hospital fund, $19,231.03.

The report shows balances on hand in all funds totaling $530,178,-67, deposited in nine banks in Lincoln and New York City.

The council directed the city clerk to draw a warrant for $500 in favor of the board of education, on a resolution by Gillaspie. The amount is charged against the park fund, and is the first payment of $1,600 appropriated by the council towards an all-year recreational program.

'Rainy Daisies' Laugh At Drive To Shorten Skirts Of Flapper

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(By the Associated Press.)— The Rainy Daisies," who thirty years ago organized to shorten women's skirts, are now laughing at the efforts of Mrs. John B. Henderson, Washington's "grand old woman," to lengthen them again and to stop the flapper from smoking cigarets.

The "daisies" are members of the Rainy Day club. Its president, Mrs. Louis Halston, doubts Mrs. Henderson's appeal to club and society women of the world to war on short skirts and cigarets will eliminate them.

"We certainly builded better than we knew," Mrs. Ralston said. "We started the agitation for the short skirt and now they are too short. Our constitution decreed skirts should be at least six inches above the ground, but we never thought to place any limit in the other direction.

"I think Mrs. Henderson's plea for a short skirt to cover the ankles is entirely too drastic. I like a skirt ten inches from the ground and I would ask the flappers only that they wear them long enough to cover their knees when they sit down."

Nobody can do anything nowadays to change the fashions but the dressmakers, Mrs. Ralston thinks. "The modern feminine public cannot be driven," she says.

Pointing out that girls' schools and restaurants had lifted smoking bans, she said the cigaret drive would fail.

Miss Helen Verick Bowell, a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the National Federation of Women's Clubs and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, three organizations which Mrs. Henderson has mentioned as having enlisted in her campaign, thinks that the length of a skirt is a matter of taste.

"All women do not have pretty legs," she says. "Those that have not should wear long skirts. Cigaret smoking must be loked upon in the same manner as the dress question. Too much smoking is bad for a woman's health.

Legion To Hold First Meeting In New Rooms Monday

The American Legion will hold its first meeting in the new club rooms, 133 South Twelfth street, Monday evening. Plans for the housewarming New Year's party Thursday evening, to which all ex-service men and their families in the city are to be invited, will be discussed, and standing committees for the year will be appointed. The New Year's party will have a carnival atmosphere, said Secretary Max Johnson, with dancing and refeshments.

CHAPTER XVI

That servants gossip is such a well-known fact that it is remarkable employers so often forget it.

It is certain that Mrs. Richard Fitzgerald and her husband gave no thought to the possible comments of their employes on the happenings of the afternoon on which John Hay had stopped Alice Fitzgerald's horse.

But in the kitchen surmise and comment had been rife. Minnie, the parlor-maid, had heard her mistress talking excitedly to her husband of the danger that their child had been in. The master himself had informed Smith, the groom, that Dexter had bolted with Miss Alice, Mr. James Hay had brought her home in his car. Mr. John Hay arrived at the park gate and led had held the horse until the groom him away.

By bedtime the story, with embellishments, had been arranged to the satisfaction of the Fitzgerald household staff.

Miss Alice had insisted on riding alone in the park without Smith. Dexter, her horse—always too wild for a young lady to hide—had ran away. Mr. James Hay had been driving in a car with his brother. He had sprung from his car, had also sprung at the horse's head, had stopped the brute and then had caught the fainting girl before she fell, and had brought her home. Mr. John Hay took care of the horse. Mr. Fitzgerald had sent his own car to take Mr. John Hay home. But that young man had preffered to walk. The horse must have reared and plunged pretty badly, for Mr. John Hay's clothes "were a sight."

Of course, one conclusion was inevitable, Miss Alice would marry Mr. James. She ought to. He had risked his life to save her. Anyway, he was a handsome young man—not as easy and friendly as his brother—but much more fashionable.

Mr. Fitzgerald would probably sell Dexter. Certainly Mis Alice would not be allowed to ride him alone again. Well, if she was engaged, probably Mr. James would always ride with her—the only objection being that he had no horse Perhaps Mr. Hay would lend him his own mount. This would make it nice for Smith.

Anyway, Mr. James had saved Miss Alice's life. That was the main point in the interesting tale.

This tale, elaborated as suited the narrator's imagination, was repeated to the domestics in other homes, and by them to their employers. Twenty-four hours after the acident many persons knew that James Hay had rescued Alice Fitzgerald from a horrible death in the park.

As is often the case, the actors in the imaginary drama were not the first to hear the rumor.

James had lain abed late on the day after his evening at the Fitzgerald home. He preferred to linger upstairs until his brother had gone to the office. Then he sauntered into the breakfast room where his aunt was reading the morning paper.

"That was another of my silly remarks," Miss Hay apologized, "I seem to have a way of saying them to you. I am sorry."

"Oh, that's all right!" James returned easily, seating himself at the table.

As his aunt started to pour out his coffee, he picked up the paper and became absorbed in its contents.

Miss Hay did not suggest that she had been reading the morning news. She would have an abundance of time for reading after her nephew had left the house.

He did not linger long. An orange, a roll and a cup of coffee constituted his usual breakfast, a fact that Miss Hay commented on with frequency and regularity that irritated him.

This morning was no exception to the rule.

"Are you sure you don't want an egg and some bacon, Jim?" she asked. "I can have Norah prepare them in no time."

"Thanks, no." James forced himself to make his reply more polite than his former speech had been. "I have everything I want."

"You used to take a regular breakfast like the rest of us until you went abroad, didn't you?" Miss Hay ventured.

"Yes—I suppose I did," the man answered absent-mindedly.

Silence. As he emptied his cup, he asked the abrupt question:

"Jack all right this morning?"

"Why, yes," Miss Hay replied. "Or no, he isn't, either. He looked pale, so I asked him what was the matter. He said 'Nothing' at first. But I kept at him until he had to acknowledge that his back was a little lame."

"Lame? From what"

"Just lame, dear. I suppose he sat in a draught somewhere. I told him he must have done that. I have had lamb backs myself from sitting in draughts of cold air."

"Perhaps he may have strained it in some way." There was a note of anxiety in the suggestion.

Miss Hay smiled again and shook her head. "He did not say so. And how could he strain his back at his desk in the office? He told me he had walked home yesterday afternon and was warm and sat in the park for a few minutes. He probably checked a perspiration suddenly."

"He probably checked something suddenly!" James remarked sardonically to himself as he left the house. It was plain that John had not intimated that anything untoward had occurred. It was also plain that he had no intention of referring to yesterday's accident in his aunt's presence. James would try to arrange that he and his brother need not be alone together for the next day or two.
